LAST COUP FUTILE.

Gourdain Bank and Fortune Gone.

Lottery King of Chicago, at Last Reaches the End of Strange Career.

Officers Seize Imperial Institutes for Debts He Could Not Pay.

Man Who Would Build Jail, Demanding Punishment, Collapses, Ill.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Six constables seized the Imperial Bank at No. 175-177 Jackson boulevard this afternoon. At the same time they took possession of the First National Clearing-house and the Imperial Secret Service properties.

These three institutions are the last remnants of the once great fortune of Louis A. Gourdain, banker, erstwhile millionaire and lottery king.

The seizure was made at the instigation of David Mayer, owner of the building. The seizure, it is said, marks the beginning of the end of the career of the eccentric Southerner.

INTERIOR STRIPPED.

As a first move in dismantling the magnificent bank with which Gourdain had promised to make the financial world tremble, a firm of fixture-manufacturers, replevined, on a claim of $1500, much of the valuable material he had placed in the building.

Mayer's claim was for $5000, which he says is the amount of rent due and unpaid since May 1, 1906.

While the raid was under way Gourdain lay at the Auditorium annex, deperately ill and heartbroken.

Gourdain's failure to have himself sent to the penitentiary, to serve a sentence in connection with lottery charges, although he sought the aid of the United States Supreme Court, resulted in his declaration that he intended to build a private prison, opposite the one in Joliet. Ground was broken for the building, but the collapse of the promoter and his subsequent and prolonged illness at the Auditorium, stopped action.

PLANNED GREAT WEALTH.

Gourdain planned to secure great wealth through operations in southern oil lands, and for this purpose established banks in Chicago and an "exchange" in New Orleans.

Gourdain sold options on the alleged oil properties, and the profits of lucky investors were determined by the price bid on the "exchange" for certain lots.

For a time Gourdain's profits were enormous, but government officials declared the scheme a cleverly-disguised lottery and secured his conviction. In the long fight, Gourdain lost heavily and is now believed practically to be bankrupt.

Gourdain was at one time employed as a clerk in the old Louisiana State lottery.

BOMB FOR BAKERIES.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Massachusetts State Board of Health sprung a bombshell on the State today by the announcement that 480 dirty and unsanitary bakeries had been found so far, and threatening to publish the names of the offenders unless conditions were immediately remedied.

The most specific warnings are for the cities of Chicopee, Fall River, Lowell, New Bedford, Taunton and some other manufacturing centers. Personal letters of censure were sent local boards of health in these places and requesting that the bakeries be closed.

CHURCH PEOPLE RAP GARGOYLES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 3.—Like big birds of ill omen, four huge gargoyles peer wickedly from the corners of the tower of the new First Methodist Church as though waiting to swoop down on some fat member of the infant class. At least that is how the Griffin-like ornaments just put in place impress many members of the congregation and they are making vigorous complaints to the Building Committee. Some members declare that the gargoyles are more suited to a joss house than to a Christian church. The tempest of disapproval has reached such dimensions that it may result in a split in the church.

The architects of the church are indignant over the criticism.

CHOOSE ANOTHER WIFE.

Course Preferred by Chewing Gum King Whitehead After His First Had Divorced Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William J. White of Cleveland and New York City, the millionaire head of the chewing-gum, trust, who was divorced Tuesday from his wife, with whom he had risen from abject poverty to great wealth, was married, today, at his apartments in the Holland House, to Mrs. Helen Sheldon, recently Mrs. Maloney of Chicago, whose divorce from her wealthy husband gave her the right to use her maiden name.

Mrs. White was the wife a promient man of Chicago, who lived at Evanston. About a year ago she obtained a decree, and with it a sum of money said to have been nearly half a million dollars. Her former husband is now a patron of the Auditorium, in Chicago.

White, who rose from the position of a peddler to that of one of the wealthiest men of Cleveland, had been married for more than a quarter of a century. The Cleveland courts granted the wife the divorce on the technical grounds of desertion. He is the man who made chewing gum popular and after creating a demand for the product, bought up the greater part of the chicle supply of Mexico, which gave him the master-hand in the trade.

ARTIST WOULD PROVE SANITY.

CONNOISSEUR-SAVANT FIGHTS COMMITTAL TO ASYLUM.

Quotes Many Passages from Shakespeare in English and German. Claims to Have Copy of Rubens and Rembrandt—Believes Conspiracy Exists to Rob Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Herman Linde, art connoisseur, Shakespearean scholar, independently rich and, withal, mysterious, who claims that he has two paintings, one a Rembrandt and one a Rubens, in a vault in New York City, was declared insane in the County Court last night, after he had sought to prove his sanity and intellectual capacity by repeating to the jurors some of Shakespeare's plays in both English and German.

Today he employed Edward P. Costegan, a prominent attorney, and the case will be taken to the Supreme Court, if necessary, to effect his release.

Linde has lived in London, Paris and New York. He is perfectly rational except for his claim that a conspiracy exists to rob him of his priceless works of great masters. This hallucination may have some foundation, if he owns the paintings. He claims he will prove that he does.

Linde has been living in luxurious apartments here, and has a large sum in a local bank. He is finely educated and has lectured on Shakespeare and art in the larger cities of two continents. He is about 55 years of age. His case has attracted much attention and artists have become interested in the outcome.

FIRE DESTROYS LUMBER PILE.

OTTAWA LOSES $400,000 WORTH OF FINE LUMBER.

Full Insurance Covered Damage, but Owing to Nine Recent Fires, All Further Risks Will Be Refused Until Companies Give Further Orders.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fire breaking out at Fraser's big lumber yards at Aylmer, ten miles from here at 7 o'clock this morning, destroyed 20,000,000 feet of lumber, valued at $400,000, and was not under control until eight hours later.

It had been sold to local and several big American firms and the loss is covered by insurance. Several insurance companies are badly hit, more so as nine bad fires have occurred in the Ottawa Valley within a few weeks.

The piles, twenty feet high, of the finest red and white pine and very dry lumber, blazed fiercely, and with inadequate fire protection could not be checked.

This afternoon the big mills and several residences were threatened but the Aylmer brigade, assisted by Ottawa and Hull firemen, managed to save them. Several firemen fainted through the excessive heat but there are no fatalities.

On account of the heavy losses American and English insurance headquarters tonight wired their Ottawa agents to take no more risks on lumber piles until further orders.

DAVENPORT GOT THE SULTAN.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Homer Davenport, cartoonist, arrived today on the White Star liner Canopic, from Arabia, where he has been buying a troop of Arabian horses for breeding purposes on his farm. He brings seventeen stallions, ten mares, and had a personal interview with the Sultan of Turkey, and memorizing the Sultan's features, made a sketch of him afterward. He was forbidden to make any pictures of the Sultan, and in some way, spies, discovering he had made a sketch, attempted to recover it. They searched his baggage but he had it hidden away in a bale of hay.

Work is being rushed day and night on the receiving ship, the Hancock, at the navy yard, under orders to have her ready to sail as soon as possible. It is expected the Hancock will be ready in about one week. The Yankee is expected to replace the Hancock as receiving ship, if the latter is ordered to sail.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—It was announced at the White House, this afternoon, that, upon further consideration of the subject the President had decided to adhere to his plan, formed yesterday, and send Charles E. Magoon to Cuba to relieve Secretary Taft as provisional governor, allowing Gov. Winthrop to remain in Porto Rico, where his services are needed.

Judge Magoon late today was informed that Secretary Taft wanted him to come to Havana at the earliest moment, and will leave here Saturday, which will enable him to catch a steamer from Miami, Fla., due in Havana Tuesday. Gen. Bell, who has been ordered to Cuba, will accompany Magoon.

Tonight, Judge Magoon, Secretary and Mrs. Root and Rev. Dr. Peabody of Groton, Mass., were guests at dinner at the White House.

QUESADA TO REMAIN.

Secretary Root has sent to the Cuban Minister here Señor Quesada, a copy of a cablegram which he received from Secretary Taft at Havana, in which he says he hopes that Quesada will not think of resigning, as his services will be of the greatest value to Cuba in the present crisis.

Secretary Root adds for himself: "With hopeful courage and determination on the part of Cuba's real friends, all of this wretched business will soon be over."

The Minister is preparing a letter in reply, undertaking to remain at least temporarily.

At Paris, Dr. Ferrer, the Cuban representative, has withdrawn his resignation at the request of Gov. Taft.

GOING TO HAVANA.

BELL WILL OUTRANK FUNSTON.

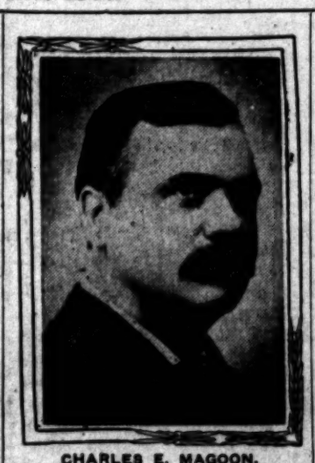
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—At the President's request, Gen. Franklin M. Bell, Chief of Staff, will proceed as soon as possible to Havana, to consult with Secretary Taft as to the disposition of American troops.

When Gen. Bell returned to the War Department after his personal conference with the President, at which he received his orders to go to Cuba, he found on his desk a direction by the President that Gen. Thomas H. Barry, Assistant Chief of Staff, should be designated as acting chief of staff in Gen. Bell's absence.

Gen. Bell said he knew practically nothing of the reasons for his being ordered to Cuba, except that the President had received from Secretary Taft a request that he be ordered there.

While in Cuba, Gen. Bell, by virtue of his rank, will be in command of the American troops on the island. Gen. Bell will probably leave for Havana the last of this week, as he will have to go from Tampa or Miami, Fla., on a merchant liner Sunday next.



CHARLES E. MAGOON, will succeed Secretary Taft as provisional governor of Cuba.

DISTRUST IN FRANCE.

"CLOSED DOOR' FEARED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Oct. 3.—A section of the French press persists in expressing distrust of the intentions of the United States in Cuba, insinuating that the declarations to the effect that the United States will not hold the island belong to the same category as Great Britain's relations to the occupation of Egypt.

THAW HAS MANY CALLERS.

Mother and Wife of Prisoner, Alienists and Lawyers, Visit the Tombs. No Trial Date.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. William Thaw, Mrs. George L. Carnegie and Mrs. Harry K. Thaw today visited the prisoner, and Dr. Charles G. Wagner and Dr. Britton D. Evans, alienists, also called on Thaw to continue their observations. They refused to allow Dr. McGuire, the Tombs physician, to be present.

John B. Keenan and David T. Watson, Pittsburgh lawyers; Clifford W. Hartridge and A. R. Peabody were with the prisoner for some time.

It is understood that Dist.-Atty. Jerome and Asst. Dist.-Atty. Garvin had a conference as to fixing a date for the Thaw trial, but came to no decision.

GORMAN'S WEALTH SHRINKS.

Discovery Made That the Senator's Estate Is Worth Little Over Six Hundred Thousand.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Great surprise has been felt by all except intimate personal friends of the late Senator Arthur Pue Gorman of Maryland that the inventory of his personal estate, filed yesterday in the Orphan's Court, in Ellicott City, Md., reached only $612,406.94.

The Senator's fortune had been variously estimated at from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000. His political enemies charged him with having amassed a large fortune through political deals. Others pictured him as affiliated financially and politically with the great trusts and as reaping a bountiful reward for protecting their interests in Congress.

DOOM OF DEATH IN CHIHUAHUA.

RICHARDSON, MASON AND HARLE FINALLY SENTENCED.

Supreme Tribunal Confirms Decision of the Lower Court Against the Three Americans—They Will Be Shot on a Date Yet to Be Set by the Authorities.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Supreme Court of the State of Chihuahua, Mex., has affirmed the decision in the case of Richardson, Mason and Harle, and the three Americans who were tried and convicted of murdering two men to obtain the insurance money on their lives, will pay the death penalty. The lower court had already pronounced the form of exegution, and the men will be shot. The date of execution has not been set.

The crime of which the men were convicted excited interest throughout the United States. Richardson and Mason were agents here for the New York Life Insurance Company, and went from here to Chihuahua. While here, they picked up a man named Devers in a park, and insured his life; also that of Mitchell, a brother of one of the condemned men. Both men were murdered. Dr. C. S. Harle, examiner for the insurance company, was an accomplice in the crime.

Richardson's real name is Leslie R. Hulburt, and he was an attorney of shady repute in Rochester, N. Y. Mason's real name is Mitchell, and he is a brother-in-law of Hulburt Richardson, the latter having married Mitchell's sister. Harle was at one time a practicing physician of El Paso.

The three men were arrested in El Paso after they had been shadowed by a detective who had lured them to the border. They had already collected the money on the lives of the murdered men, and Richardson Hulburt was preparing to join his wife in Dallas, Tex.

The three men were extradited and taken to Chihuahua for trial, after a long hearing in El Paso, in which they fought hard against extradition. One of the sensational features of the trial was the attempt to destroy certain documents introduced in the case. Somebody got hold of them and threw them into the sewer, but they were recovered.

HULL PIONEER DEAD.

HULL (Mass.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John C. Augustus, a descendant of the earliest settlers of this town and a relative of Charles Sumner, died here today, aged 62. He was a descendant, through the mother's side, of a cousin of Pope Pius IX and ex-Capt. Turner of the British army, stationed in Massachusetts during the Revolution. He was formerly a member of Humane Society and the volunteer life-saving corps of this town.

TAKES FLIGHT TOWARD SKY.

Gaping at Balloonist Man Tangles in Anchor Rope and Speeds Skyward.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

READING (Pa.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jacob Gehring, a Hummelstown farmer, will never forget his experience at the Reading fair today. While Larue, the aeronaut, was preparing for his ascension, Gehring stood gaping at the arrangements unaware that he was standing among a coil of rope.

When the word was given and the balloon shot skyward the spectators were horrified to see Gehring dangling head downward from the anchor rope. After several desperate attempts he managed to grasp the rope above his feet and drag himself to the balloon after it had reached a height of more than a thousand feet.

He sat beside Larue on the cannon while a mighty cheer went up from the crowd below, many of whom were engaged in prayer for the man's safety while many women fainted.

Larue dropped from the balloon by means of a parachute. The balloon relieved of his weight shot higher, but Gehring found the cord and opened the valve, when the balloon began to slowly descend. When he returned to the fair grounds a purse was made up for him to compensate for his fright.

PLATT IN COLLAPSE.

"Easy Boss" Seeks End of Care.

Consort Denies Herself to Callers; Boxes Ears of Photographer.

Son Frank Is Standing by His Father, Pending Legal Agitation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Thomas C. Platt did not leave Highland Mills today as she said she would, so that she might be by her husband's side. She declared her intention of surely coming tomorrow, and if she does, in all probability she will find the Senator gone.

The aged politician feels the need of rest, and he plans to leave the Hotel Gotham by 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. He has not announced his plans, but it is extremely unlikely that he will start for Tioga Lodge, where his wife is at present. He might be able to get a train at 9 o'clock bound for his country home, if he felt so disposed. It may be that he will go to Washington, but the belief is that he will seek some quieter spot, where he may find surcease of trouble for a time.

EXCITEMENT AFFECTS HIM.

All the exciting experiences of the last few days have told upon the constitution of the Senator. Although he has been in feeble health for years, he was so near the verge of physical collapse today that he was carried through the lobby of the hotel to his carriage by his son, Frank Platt, and one of the porters. His nerves seemed to give way under the strain, yet his mind is clear.

MRS. PLATT DENIES HERSELF.

Mrs. Platt remained at Tioga Lodge, where she denied herself to all inquirers who would have learned whether she has sued her husband for divorce or was contemplating so doing. She has given out several statements which were not consistent. She speaks of all misunderstandings having been adjusted, yet refers to trouble to come.

SMASHES PHOTOGRAPHY.

Mrs. Platt showed signs of displeasure today when she leaped lightly from a carriage and smashed the camera of a photographer and boxed his ears as punishment for his temerity in trying to take a snapshot of her.

Senator Platt, in spite of his enfeebled condition, insisted on going to his office at No. 49 Broadway, where he remained for several hours in the afternoon. His secretary, Albery Howe, who had been recalled from his vacation, was with him.

TO TAKE HIS DEPARTURE.

Several consultations were held with officers of the United States Express Company of which Platt is the president. Everything indicated that the Senator was about to take his departure for several days.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Frank Platt have always been opposed to the second wife of the Senator, and she has complained bitterly of them on several occasions. It is significant, at this time, that they are so close to the venerable politician.

The younger Platt is a lawyer, and in the event of any legal complications, he will represent the Senator. It has been an open secret for several years that the Senator has transferred some of his holdings to his sons, and it is not believed that he is now disposing of his millions for fear that his wife may profit by his retaining them under his control.

During the last three days, the Senator has steadfastly declined to meet Mrs. Platt or have any conversation with her. At an early hour this morning, a mutual friend sought to play the part of mediator. She communicated with Platt through one of his secretaries and importuned him to arrange a secret meeting in the afternoon with his wife, to the end that a course of action might be agreed upon. To this suggestion, Senator Platt and his son Frank returned a positive "no."

WOOLMEN ORGANIZE.

Hope to Offset Eastern Methods Which Have Cost Montana Flockmasters One Million Dollars.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HELENA (Mont.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Montana wool growers met here today and perfected a temporary organization in their effort to organize an association through which they hope to offset the methods adopted by the eastern buyers, whereby Montana flockmasters are alleged to have lost upwards of a million dollars this season.

Secretary Wilson and Gifford Pinchot, head of the Forestry Department, are expected to attend the sessions, which will continue three days.

Montana is the largest wool-producing State in the Union, and drastic measures are likely.

DARING ROBBERY OF SAN FRANCISCO BANK.

Two Armed Men at Noon Enter a Japanese Institute, Murder Manager, and Flee With Gold—Both Escape.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Two robbers entered the Kimmon Ginko, a Japanese bank, known also as the Golden Gate Bank at No. 1388 O'Farrell street, today at noon, and after fatally beating S. Urakata, manager of the bank seriously injuring A. Sasaki, a clerk, with a piece of gas pipe, escaped with $5000 in gold. Manager Urakata died two hours afterward from his injuries.

The robbers chose a time when there were but few people transacting business in the bank, and the sensational bold deed was so quickly executed that it was all over before the crowd of people passing the doors of the institution were aware of what had taken place. While one of the hold-up men engaged the paying teller of the bank, the other walked to the rear and going behind the counter, picked up a sack containing $5000.

The action of the thief who went to the rear of the bank was witnessed by one of the bank clerks, who immediately raised a cry of alarm.

STRUCK DOWN BY ROBBER.

The scream had scarcely left his lips before he was struck down by the man who was carrying out the gold. The thief who had been talking to the paying teller drew a piece of gas pipe from his pocket, and before the banker could reach for a revolver struck a blow that rendered him unconscious.

Both robbers stopped long enough to beat their victim, into unconsciousness and then walked leisurely from the bank and disappeared.

The crime was not discovered until a moment or two later, when several customers came into the bank to make their daily deposits. They were horrified to find the Japanese lying prone on the floor and rushed out and loudly called for help.

The bank was soon filled with a curious crowd. The police arrived on the scene shortly afterward. While one of the officers went out to call for an Emergency Hospital ambulance, others rushed to the nearest police boxes and telephoned to send riot calls into the police stations.

The surgeons at the hospital found that the two bankers had been so badly beaten that the death of the surviving clerk, Sasaki, may be a matter of but a short time. He is still unconscious.

NO TRACE OF CULPRITS.

It was about 12:30 o'clock when the robbery occurred. Despite the fact that the police in every portion of the city are now on the lookout for the culprits not the slightest trace has thus far been obtained of them.

After striking down their victims the thugs dragged them to a poorly-lighted room in the rear of the bank. There it was that the prostrate forms of the men were found by countrymen of the bank officials.

The unconscious men were lying in a pool of blood that streamed from their wounds, and near by was a piece of gas pipe over a foot in length.

Policeman C. J. Carroll, who was one of the first officers on the scene, and whose beat surrounds the vicinity of the bank, states that he had often warned the officials of the institution that just such a robbery might occur.

POLICE DETERMINED.

Chief of Police Dinan is determined to capture the bank robbers and has detailed every available detective and policeman on the case. He has advanced the theory that the men who committed the crime today are the murderers who struck down and killed Pfitzner and Friede, the local merchants, in their stores.

Acting Captain Wrenn is now at the Central Emergency Hospital, where Sasaki is lying at the point of death. He is hoping that the remaining victim will regain consciousness long enough to give a description of the assailants, or recount the attack that occurred while the other employes of the institution were at their luncheon.

This afternoon the doors of the bank were temporarily closed to shut out the throng of curious people that gathered to learn of the robbery.

S. Urakata, the manager of the Kimmon Ginko, died without regaining consciousness.

DINAN'S THEORY.

BELIEVE JAPANESE DID IT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chief of Police Dinan's theory is that Japanese robbed the bank and killed the two bankers, but this theory is not shared by men at work on the case. All clews show that it was the work of an experienced gang, and several officers believe the same men committed this crime who murdered a storekeeper last month, crushing his skull with some heavy weapon.

ARRESTING JAPANESE.

SAN JOSE AFTER THEM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Every Japanese who came into this city today by a northern train was pounced upon and taken to prison where they were subjected to a rigid search and closely questioned regarding their movements during the day.

In all about thirty arrests were made, but the officers believe that none were implicated in the San Francisco bank robbery.

Chief Dinan sent word to this city that four men had bought tickets in San Francisco for this city. It was in response to this telegram that officers brought out their detective force. Within the past few days there has been an unusually large influx of little brown men to this county.

MINERS ENTOMBED IN WEST VIRGINIA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BLUEFIELD (W. Va.) Oct. 3.—As the result of an explosion at the West Fork mines of the Pocohontas Collieries Company, where the explosion of 1902 occurred in which Superintendent O'Malley and sixteen others lost their lives, 75 men are supposed to be entombed. Two rescue parties have entered the mines, up to 11 o'clock tonight, two men, named Dolbert and Godash, have been rescued and revived. The mine is reported to be on fire, and the work of rescue is retarded. The cause of the explosion is not known.

Great excitement prevails in the neighborhood. Crowds of men, women and children remain about the mouth of the mine, anxiously awaiting news of relatives and friends among the missing.

OTHER ESTIMATES OF DEAD.

An explosion took place in what is known as the St. Paul entry to the mine. Reports of the number of entombed men vary from sixty to one hundred. The lack of brattice cloth help to retard the rescue work, and a carload of it is being hurried forward on a special train from Bluefield. The definite results of the explosion will not be known for perhaps twelve hours.

The force of the explosion was hardly noticeable at the mine's mouth, as the entry in which it occurred is two and a half miles in the mountains.

A number of men in the south mine were almost suffocated before they were rescued.

DETECT DIAMOND SMUGGLER.

New York Dealer Planned to Avoid Duty on Big Consignment of Sparklers.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—It is reported among customs officials yesterday that a New York diamond dealer who arrived a few days ago in Montreal intended to smuggle across the border diamonds to the value of $150,000. On request of E. H. Twohey, the United States customs representative in Montreal, three Secret Service men were sent there from New York. It is said they have been watching the suspected man.

The story states that the diamonds were cut and polished in Amsterdam and that an English broker took them to London where he handed them over to the New York dealer. The latter, on reaching Montreal, learned that the Secret Service men were watching him, and changed his plans. The jewels are said to be in Montreal.

A RECORD BREAKER.

The volume of advertising printed in The Times on Sunday, the 30th of September, was "high water mark" for The Times. As far as any available records show it was more columns of advertising than was ever before printed in a single issue of any American newspaper, either regular or special edition. It was more than double the amount printed by any other Los Angeles Sunday paper, and was four columns more than the highest previous record of The Times. It indicates a high tide of prosperity for Los Angeles, Southern California and the whole Pacific Southwest, which is the field covered by The Times.

The classified or "want" advertising alone amounted to the remarkable total of 192 columns, or more than 27 full pages. The Times "Liner" Department is the quick action trade center through which all the business interests, both large and small, in the whole Southwest, promote enterprises, develop industries, inaugurate new ventures, stimulate commerce, and develop trade, with mutual profit and satisfaction to all interests.

WASHINGTON.

PRESIDENT HAS MANY CALLERS.

TALKS BUSINESS WITH SENATOR JONES AND F. K. LANE.

Representative Gaines Introduces Bevy of Tennessee College Girls and Insurance Delegates Also See Him, but There Was no Speech-making—Root Confers Briefly.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—President Roosevelt's callers today included Pension Commissioner Warner, Commissioner of Corporations Garfield, Assistant Secretary Ryan of the Interior Department, former Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas, who had called to pay his respects and to talk over a business matter with the President, and Franklin K. Lane, Interstate Commerce Commissioner.

Secretary Root had a brief conference with the President.

The President received several large parties of visitors. Two hundred young ladies from Radnor College for Girls at Nashville, Tenn., were introduced by Representative John Wesley Gaines. One hundred delegates to the convention of State Insurance Commissioners, now in session here, were introduced by Superintendent Thomas H. Drake of this city. There were no speeches.

Chairman Payne of the Ways and Means Committee of the House saw the President this morning. There was a general talk over the political situation, particularly with reference to the House of Representatives. Payne expressed the opinion that the Republicans would secure control of the next House.

MAGOON PRAISES JAMAICANS.

SAYS THEY ARE GOOD WORKERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Former Governor Charles E. Magoon of the Panama Canal zone, who has spent a good deal of time on the isthmus, has confidence in the Jamaica negro as a laborer on the canal. He has organized a police force of these men and says they are very efficient. Much of the complaint that has been made against them as laborers, he thinks, is because they did not thoroughly understand American terms and the names of articles in common use. He says that upon the whole they are intelligent and can read and write, are prolific letter writers, as he can testify by the many communications received from them. They all begin their letters in the same way: "Your Excellency: I have the honor to inform you that I am a British subject," etc. Judge Magoon says that they are all proud of being subjects of Great Britain. He says the method to be ultimately adopted in handling labor on the canal will be similar to that adopted by Kitchener when he advanced on Khartoum. The British general utilized African labor but had it organized on a military basis. Judge Magoon says he does not mean that laborers on the canal should be under military discipline, but that they should be organized in companies under the charge of competent officers with men of their own race and kind in positions similar to non-commissioned officers in the army. He believes that a satisfactory system will result from this method.

SUGGESTS CONTRACT WORK.

TO BUILD PANAMA CANAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—A tentative decision has been reached by Chairman Shonts of the Isthmian Canal Commission that the Panama Canal be built by contract. An announcement of the final determination of the canal officials respecting the method of construction is expected in a few days.

Chairman Shonts had a long conference last night with President Roosevelt, at which this and other matter relating to the canal were considered fully. The President is anxious that a conclusion be reached on all questions of canal construction as soon as possible, so that the actual work of construction may be pressed vigorously.

Chairman Shonts and Chief Engineer Stevens have been working for many weeks on the subject of constructing the great waterway by contract. They have prepared specifications for the work which are now being considered before the issuance of invitations for proposals.

It is understood that the President has not abandoned his contemplated trip to Panama, and will not, unless the Cuban situation or some other question should become so acute as to require his presence in Washington. Chairman Shonts expects to be in Panama at the time of the President's visit, but it is likely that instead of accompanying the President he will go to Panama in advance to supervise arrangements for his reception.

CONSTITUTION AND CHICKENS.

The opening skirmish in what promises to be the most sensational legal fight of recent years took place today between the forces of the cold storage interests and the city. The cold-storage men claim that in raiding the plant of the North American Cold Storage Company and seizing 30,000 pounds of condemned poultry, the city health officials have violated the Constitution of the United States, and the Federal courts have been appealed to for protection. A temporary truce finally was arranged by the contending forces pending a hearing before a master in chancery.

CONSPIRACY AFFECTS PRIEST.

By the arrest of two of the alleged principals in the plot, there was revealed today what is said to be one of the most sensational blackmailing conspiracies in the history of Chicago. This conspiracy centers about Rev. Francis J. Lange, pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, a member of Archbishop Quigley's Council, who has been foremost in the Polish national movement. The men arrested, Daniel Dumbski and S. J. Rokosz, are alleged to be only tools of others who occupy higher stations in life. In a suit for $25,000 damages, Dumbski accuses Father Lange with improper relations with his wife. It is alleged that persistent attmepts were made to compel the priest to settle the case out of court.

"NEWSIES" ROAST HEARST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "William R. Hearst, having bought the nomination for Governor of New York and laboring under the delusion that the election can also be bought, has resorted to his old trick of compelling the newsboys to aid in paying his campaign expenses." This was the keynote of a meeting held by the Newspaper Carriers' Association of Chicago tonight for the purpose of organizing the carriers of Chicago into a strike against the Chicago American, on which the price had been raised from 50 to 60 cents. Hearst, it was asserted, raises the price of his papers every time he secures a new nomination. A committee was appointed to inform the management of the Chicago American of the result of the meeting and to visit the newspaper boys at their meeting tomorrow night, to encourage them to go on with the carriers in a strike.

PACIFIC SLOPE.

KIBBEY GETS A REMINDER.

Fair Play, Says Roosevelt to Arizona Governor.

He Says Statehood Elections Should Be Pure.

Advocates of Joint Admission to See Vote.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 3.—Gov. Kibbey received the following letter from President Roosevelt:

My Dear Gov. Kibbey:—I am sorry to say grave charges have been made to me that under the organization of which you are the active leader there will not be a fair count of the votes on the question of Statehood. If these charges are well founded, I need not say to you that it would be a national disaster. I have no doubt there is no truth in them; but some prominent people in the United States do believe them, and they are joined in this belief by some of the most prominent people of Arizona and New Mexico. Therefore, to avoid all criticism, I trust that if you can in any way arrange it, you have representatives of the Statehood people present at the witnessing of the votes on Statehood. I have sent a copy of this letter to Mr. Hagerman and directed him to make the same arrangement, that is, have representatives from both the Statehood and the anti-Statehood parties present to witness the count of the votes.

Kibbey immediately sent a copy of the letter to Thomas F. Wilson at Boston, president of the Joint Statehood League, saying he has filed the names of candidates with the Territorial Secretary. He requests Wilson to furnish names of Statehood advocates to serve on election day and witness the count in each precinct. Arizona has the Australian ballot, and never before, even in bitter contests between Republicans and Democrats, has the prediction of probable corruption been made.

It is suggested here by opponents of the Statehood-that the jointists seek only the removal of Gov. Kibbey, and intend, a basis for establishing charges of corruption when the small vote which they anticipate for jointure is returned.

EPISCOPAL CONVOCATION.

BISHOPS WANT SUNDAY LAW.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3.—At the session of the thirty-first annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese today the principal address was delivered by Right. Rev. W. P. Moreland.

He reviewed the work for the year in the large district supervised by him and said that notwithstanding the great disaster of earthquake and fire, he was glad to be able to report material progress. During the past year he had confirmed 220, including a larger number of men than ever before in one year. Not a parish nor a mission is vacant in his jurisdiction.

The bishop said that Nevada was growing rapidly in wealth and population and enough work was keeping pace with the changed conditions. Goldfield has a fine congregation and is going to build a $15,000 church.

The bishop devoted a considerable part of his address to an argument in favor of a Sunday law. He had no sympathy with the "blue laws," neither did he believe in acting like pagans on Sunday. Noisy rowdyism, horse racing, ball playing, rioting, carnivals of drinking, the increase of drunkenness and crime are the result of not observing Sunday. The demand for it is in the interest of humanity, not a religious condition. There should be a compulsory rest day, and that should be Sunday.

Blast from Furnace Kills Three Negroes and One White Man.

Accident a Mystery.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BALTIMORE (Md.) Oct. 3.—Four men were killed and eight others injured, perhaps fatally, in an accident at the works of the Maryland Steel Company at Sparrows Point today. Three of the dead are negroes.

The victims were overwhelmed by a rush of flaming gas and coke from a hole in one of the blast furnaces, caused by the forcing out of its socket of a casting which held the compressed air pipe.

The men had just put in a new pipe and the blast had been turned on about ten minutes when the accident occurred.

The officials of the company, after an investigation, declared that no unusual conditions caused the accident and they were at a loss to account for it. No confusion occurred and the furnace was not damaged.

GUGGENHEIMS AT KLONDIKE.

PAY $2,000,000 FOR LOWER PART OF HUNKER CREEK.

Are Building Big Dam on Upper Bonanza Which Will Form Reservoir Holding Twenty-six Billion Gallons of Water to Be Used in Sluicing Alaskan Placer.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A dispatch from Dawson says the Guggenheims have just bought the lower eight miles of Hunker Creek for $2,000,000. This is the greatest area involved in any Klondike purchase. Paradise Hill and other rich hills are included.

The Guggenheims are constructing on the upper Bonanza, a big dam forming a reservoir eight miles around and holding 26,000,000,000 gallons of water.

Every day next year a thousand inches of water will be available for mining at a small cost for maintenance. The dam will be seventy feet high above the bed of the creek. It has cost $100,000. The water will be used for sluicing numerous Klondike properties bought by Guggenheim and surplus water will be sold to other miners.

JURY INDICTS TWO NEGROES.

THIS ACTION QUIETS CLAMOROUS MOBILE MOB.

Although More Than Twenty-four Hours Elapse, Lynchers Again Search Jail for Black Man Wanted for Heinous Crime and Disperse Only When He Is Indicted.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MOBILE (Ala.) Oct. 3.—Mobile passed a day of great excitement after the incidents of last night, when a mob went to the county jail to get the negro, Dick alias Cornelius Robinson, charged with assault upon the little Sossaman girl and some persons unknown fired guns through the opening at the jail and killed Special Deputy Roy Hoyle.

There is another negro in jail in Birmingham, Will Thompson by name, who probably would have been lynched here about a month ago had the mob been able to get hold of him.

This evening a meeting was held near the jail and a committee investigated the jail and reported that the negro was not there. The crowd dispersed. About the same hour the grand jury in session brought in indictments against both negroes and set their trial, that of Thompson for next Wednesday and of Robinson for next Thursday. This, becoming known, had a calming effect upon the crowd.

A leading negro citizen, James T. Peterson, today published an address to the public stating that the best negroes repudiated in the strongest manner the awful crimes committed by members of their race, and that they will do all they can do to bring criminals to justice.

TO EXCHANGE BONDS.

National Starch Company Would Obtain Release of Mortgage on Many Plants.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Bondholders of the National Starch Company were requested yesterday by the management of the company to exchange their first mortgage bonds for debenture bonds of the Corn Products Refining Company, which, through the Corn Products Company, controls practically all of the stock of the National Starch Company.

It is set forth in the announcement of the bond holders that many of the plants of the National Starch Company are no longer in operation, and that the security bank of the bonds is rapidly deteriorating. The company under present conditions is unable to sell any of the plants pledged under the mortgage, whereas under the plan proposed by the management of the company, the Corn Products Refining Company, as owner of the National Starch bonds could consent to the release of the idle plants from the lien of the mortgage. This would enable the National Starch Company to sell the plants of which it is no longer making any use. There are $2,843,000 of the bonds outstanding.

DEMURRERS DISMISSED.

Judge Finds for Woman Plaintiff in Case Against Equitable Life Assurance Society.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BALLSTON (N. Y.) Oct. 3.—Justice Van Kirk today dismissed the demurrers of the defendants in the suit brought by Mrs. Mary S. Young, as policy holder and stock holder against the Equitable Life Assurance Society to compel a restitution of the funds of that society, which she alleges have been wasted.

Justice Van Kirk directed an interlocutory judgment that the allegations of the plaintiff constitute such cause of action and that the demurrer of none of the defendants is sufficient to entitle them to a judgment.

The court also ordered if the defendants do not within twenty days after service of a copy of the judgment answer the complaint and pay the costs, final judgment may be entered.

BUY BUTTE COALITION.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The London Exploration Company, and Rothschilds, have purchased at private sale a very large block of Butte Coalition stock, and have also bought largely in the open market since the price crossed thirty-five. The block was bought privately, made up from different large holdings, all insiders contributing. The directors have elected Philip L. Foster of New York to directorate as American representative of the London stockholders.

Band of Woodsmen Give Employers Warning.

General Fire Alarm Will Herald Arrivals.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

EUREKA, Oct. 3.—The Starbuck Tallant fish cannery at Port Kenyon agreed today to immediately deport twenty-seven Chinese from Humboldt county and not again attempt to bring Chinese labor into the county. Five hundred woodsmen convened at Fortuna this morning and demanded that a guarantee be given that by 5 o'clock the Chinese would be deported.

The directors of the cannery, seeing the determination of the public to eject the Chinese, declared that the cannery management would accede and an order was given to ship the Chinese at once.

Sheriff Lindsay, now at Port Kenyon, will escort the Chinese to Eureka at once. The Chinese will be housed on Woodley Island, Humboldt Bay, until the northbound steamer sails.

The citizens of Fortuna and woodsmen of the county are quite orderly.

All the saloons in Fortuna have been closed.

The committee of Eureka citizens has appointed a vigilance committee to turn in a general fire alarm when a vessel enters Humboldt Bay with Chinese passengers for this port. This action is to prevent any more attempts to bring Chinese or Japanese here.

DISARMS POLICEMAN.

MAYOR STOPS SHOOTING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTLAND, (Or.) Oct. 3.—To guard against shooting affairs such as came near costing the lives of Harbor Master Biglin and Engineer Lou Garner last night, no private detectives, guards or patrolmen will be permitted to carry arms during the grain handlers' strike.

An order was issued to Chief of Police Gritzmacher today, by Mayor Harry Lane, instructing him to have everybody except regularly-appointed peace officers promptly disarmed and prosecuted for carrying concealed weapons.

FIRE ON STRIKE-BREAKERS.

THEN GIVE UP STRUGGLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FORT WILLIAM (Ont.) Oct. 3.—A number of armed striking freight handlers, Greeks and Italians, attacked the Canadian Pacific Railway's boarding-house, in which were fifty strike breakers.

The boarding-house was defended by twenty company police. A number of shots were fired and a constable was wounded and several of the strikers were shot in the legs.

After the trouble a deputation of strikers interviewed the Mayor. Later the strike was called off unconditionally.

SOCIALISM DISRUPTS RANKS.

ENGLISH LABOR PARTY DIVIDES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The labor movement in Great Britain is at present passing through an interesting phase which is tending to decide the future dominance of one of two sections of the labor party in the House of Commons, the Liberal section, led by John Burns, or the Socialistic section, led by James Kier-Hardie.

The Federation of Miners at the meeting held this week at Swansea took a ballot which, although the official figures are not yet available, is understood to have decided against joining the Hardie section. On the other hand a conference of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, sitting simultaneously at Cardiff, passed a resolution after a long and bitter debate in favor of adhesion to the Hardie section in spite of the fact that their leader, Richard Bell, M.P., was strongly opposed to the railway men submitting to socialistic dictation.

RIVAL UNIONS FIGHT.

EMPLOYERS GET WORST OF IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—A fight between the Brotherhood of Carpenters and the Amalgamated Wood Workers' International Union with Chicago as the probable battleground threatens to close many mills in Chicago and throw more than 3000 workmen out of employment.

Each organization is determined to exterminate the other and the employers have found themselves caught between the two mill stones.

As a preliminary skirmish in the warfare, thirty wood workers were called out on strike yesterday at the plant of the Kinsey Manufacturing Company. Carpenters employed by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company have been ordered on strike, but the wood workers are endeavoring to fill their places.

CONDUCTORS ASK $30 MORE.

SAY CLERICAL WORK IS HEAVY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GALVESTON (Tex.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Advices have reached railway operators here that the conductors on the Harriman lines, notably the Southern Pacific, will soon demand an increase of $30 per month. They claim that the imposition of so much clerical work upon them makes the demand reasonable.

Just what shape the matter will take could not be learned, but J. B. Johnstone of the Southern Pacific is authority for the statement that steps will be taken this month to accomplish this purpose. The movement seems to be confined to the Harriman lines.

Hod Carriers Permit Building.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 3.—Building operations on five or six new office structures and repairs on a score of buildings injured by the earthquake were resumed today after having been tied up completely for six weeks by dissatisfaction between the two rival hod-carriers' unions of this city. A temporary peace has been brought about by the Building Trades Council.

Split on Socialism.

Revenue Collector Says Pabst Gave Children $1,000,000 Each Just to Experiment.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—A dispatch to the Inter-Ocean from Milwaukee, Wis., says: That Capt. Frederick Pabst gave each of his children $1,000,000 prior to his death because he wanted to be relieved of his business cares to a certain extent, and because he wanted to see what they would do with it, and how they would bear the responsibility, was the testimony of Henry W. Fink, Collector of Internal Revenue, before Judge Carpenter in the County Court yesterday. Proceedings were instituted to determine the amount of inheritance tax due to the State.

IRISH LEAGUE CONVENTION.

Many Attend National Meeting at Philadelphia to Hear T. P. O'Connor, M.P.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—In anticipation of hearing a speech by T. P. O'Connor, M.P., the Irish leader, the hall in which the national convention of the United Irish League of America is being held, was crowded early today. Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia presided.

Mr. O'Connor reviewed the work being done in the British Parliament, in the cause of Irish "Home Rule" and predicted that Ireland would soon emerge from British rule and have her own home government.

Col. John F. Finerty of Chicago, president of the league, has announced that he will not accept a re-nomination, but it is said, however, that he will probably be reelected without opposition.

Secretary O'Callaghan, in making a report as chairman of the ways and means committee, suggested that $50,000 be pledged by the league during the next two years to aid the cause of Ireland's freedom and that $10,000 be pledged within ten days to be sent by the national treasurer to the treasurer of the ways and means committee in Ireland.

POLITICAL.

LINDLEY SAYS HE WILL RUN.

Accepts Call to Enter the Mayoralty Race.

Petitioners Ask Him to Go Before the Voters.

Agrees to Seek Nomination by the Republicans.

In response to a numerously-signed petition, Dr. Walter Lindley has agreed to become a candidate for Mayor of Los Angeles.

The petitioners request him to allow his name to go before the voters of the city as a candidate for Mayor at the December election.

Dr. Lindley accepts by stating that he will stand for the nomination before the Republican City Convention.

The petition requesting Dr. Lindley to become a candidate has been in circulation several days. With its signers it is as follows:

"Dr. Walter Lindley:

"Dear Sir: We are nearing an important crisis in the history of Los Angeles.

"In the immediate future there will be various municipal improvements involving the expenditure of millions of dollars. The city's development should be carefully, intelligently and economically supervised in all directions with a broad and liberal view of her future.

"The bringing of the water from Owens River is an absolute necessity to the future growth and prosperity of Los Angeles. The sewer system, our streets, our parks, our public library and our educational system are all just now in a critical condition.

"The Mayor of Los Angeles should be an important factor in all things relating to the growth and advancement of our city. He should be acquainted with our needs; he should be a business man; he should be interested in sanitary science; he should have a deep interest in our schools, and should be fair and broadminded, giving equal justice to all interests and all people. We believe your natural qualifications, your wide knowledge of affairs, and your thirty years' residence in this city peculiarly equip you for this position, and we therefore unite in urging you to allow your name to go before the voters of Los Angeles as a candidate for Mayor at the municipal election to be held December 4, 1906. We promise you our earnest support and believe that if you accede to this request you will be elected by a decisive majority.

"Yours truly,

"To I. N. Van Nuys, W. Jarvis Barlow, Oscar Mueller, Henderson Hayward, Geo. I. Cochran, R. A. Rowan, W. A. Barker, R. J. Waters, and 139 others.

"Gentlemen:

"Replying to your letter, so numerously signed by my friends and neighbors, representing as the signatures do all political parties in which you request me to be a candidate for Mayor, I would say to you I fully appreciate the distinction you seek to confer upon me. I recognize that this is a crisis in the history of Los Angeles, and I fully agree with you in your statement as to the reason why the city should look carefully and move cautiously and intelligently in selecting the men who are to manage the affairs of this city for the coming three years, and I fully indorse your statement when you say: 'The bringing of the water from Owens River is an absolute necessity to the future growth and prosperity of Los Angeles.' Intelligently applied economy must be the watchword for the coming administration to the end that the people must have value received for every dollar expended.

"Believing that you have carefully considered your action in thus inviting me to be a candidate for Mayor of this city I accept your invitation and will stand for the nomination of Mayor before the Republican city convention, and if nominated and elected I shall be Mayor of no faction but will treat all interests fairly, with an eye single to the public good.

"Yours truly,

"WALTER LINDLEY."

SEEKING CANDIDATE.

FIFTH WARDERS MEET.

The matter of selecting a Republican candidate for the Council from the Fifth Ward was the purpose of a meeting last night at Twenty-third and Hoover streets. The incumbent, George A. Smith, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor. More than thirty were present from all parts of the ward. It was decided to make the organization permanent. Lyman Farwell, of the firm of Dennis & Farwell, was selected as chairman.

The names of A. B. Cass, Dr. S. H. Tolhurst and Samuel Young were mentioned as available candidates, and a committee was appointed to report the names and qualifications of these, and any others entitled to consideration, such report to be impartial. Those composing this committee are J. M. Elliott, T. C. Mennell, Geo. Williams, O. P. Conaway, George A. Knox and Lyman Farwell. Samuel Young made a brief speech setting forth his position.

The club will meet again tomorrow evening at the same place all Republicans of the Fifth Ward being invited. The Committee on Candidates will report at that time, and it is likely that a choice will be made.

IDAHO CAMPAIGN FULL OF VENOM.

DOMINATION OF MORMONS IN POLITICS MAKES TROUBLE.

Dubois Scores Both Parties and His Defeat for the Senate Appears a Foregone Conclusion—Republicans Gain from Newcomers and Dissatisfied Democrats.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOISE (Idaho) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Idaho is in the throes of one of the most spectacular campaigns that has ever been waged in the State or Territory, the issue being the alleged domination in politics of the Mormon church, not only of one, but both the leading parties.

Senator Dubois is a candidate for reelection, and his platform is the extermination of the Mormon church. He alleges that the Mormon church in the past has controlled not only his own but the Republican party as well, and at the recent State convention he succeeded, after a most determined fight, in securing the adoption of a resolution rending the church out of the party.

Incidentally, the Republican party was scored unmercifully for the alleged manner in which it permitted the church to dictate its platform, candidates and policies. The charge is vigorously denied by Republicans, but because of the bold stand taken by the opposition, not a few prominent Republicans have alighed themselves with the Democrats, for the time being, at least. On the other hand, the Republicans are believed to have gained great strength through accessions from the Democrats of those having church leanings.

The campaign is bound to have one result, however, and that is the weakening of the alleged church power in this State, which, with the exception of Utah, has more Mormons than any other State. The defeat of Dubois for the Senate seems a foregone conclusion, Idaho having returned an unusually heavy Republican majority two years ago, and its immigration is coming from the Middle Western States, a class regarded as wholly Republican.

"LITTLE RHODY'S" DEMOCRATS.

DENOUNCE "BOSS SYSTEM."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Oct. 3.—The State Democratic Convention for nomination of candidates for the various elective State offices was held here today.

The platform adopted denounces the "boss system," which, it declares, dominates national and State affairs.

"The government of the State," it asserts, "has passed to the boss, because Rhode Island has a Constitution which gives representation in its lawmaking body to its territory, rather than to its 'manhood,' has robbed Rhode Island of millions of dollars' worth of franchises and privileges and bestowed them on men who have contributed out of their ill-gotten wealth to the support of the system, not out of gratitude, but because that system exempted from taxation that wealth so corruptly given them. Under this system the people of the State have been deprived of a revenue from taxation of millions of dollars and a portion of this money so unjustly withheld from the State has been used to corrupt a controlling element in communities where the forces of civic honesty could be overcome by the forces of organized corruption."

The establishment of the eight-hour day for all State and municipal work is demanded, as are also the calling of a constitutional convention with representation based on population and the enactment of a corrupt practices law applicable to elections and primaries.

The platform also favors the election of United States Senators by direct vote.

HIGGINS ON BARTER.

James H. Higgins, Mayor of Providence, who was nominated for Governor by acclamation, in his speech declared that in Rhode Island "the money and rights of the people have been bargained away for individual profit and the good name of the State draged in the mire," and that "a brutal boss with a warped conception of public morality and hideous disregard of even the outer forms of political decency has sold our laws and offices from an auction block in the State House."

The ticket was completed as follows:

Lieutenant-Governor, Charles M. Sisson, Providence.

Secretary of State, William Palmer, East Providence.

Attorney-General, Edward M. Sullivan, Cranston.

State Treasurer, John K. Archambault, Warwick.

GILLETT AT CHICO.

DISCUSSES LABOR TOPIC.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The formal opening of the campaign by the Republicans in this county this evening was the greatest political demonstration which has been held in Chico for the past ten years and perhaps in any part of Northern California. Excursions from Oroville, Red Bluff, Gridley and Biggs were run, and the auditorium, which has a seating capacity of 1800, was crowded to the limit.

Judges Chipman, Burnett and Hart made short addresses, but left a discussion of the political problems to the gubernatorial candidate, Hon. J. N. Gillett, who was introduced after more than a hour's delay. He succeeded in arousing an enthusiasm which resulted in a continuous ovation. His speech was mainly occupied by the claim that he had opposed the labor interests. In reply, Gillett presented his record in Congress, and showed that he had always been consistently favorable to the advance of the interests of organized labor. He had been, he said, a friend of legitimate labor organization in every sense of the word, and of this his whole life as well as his Congressional record was witness.

Gillett said he had received the most practical possible education in labor needs, and no one who knew the details of his career would accuse him of a lack of sympathy with the proper aims and ambitions of workmen in every branch of the nation's industry.

The meeting was continued until a late hour, and the interest was sustained throughout.

IDEA IS DECENT GOVERNMENT.

Charles E. Hughes Espouses Reform Movement.

Will Fight Hearstism and the "Barrel" Issue.

Dolliver on "Golden Age." Gillett at Chico.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—With the declaration that the issue of interest in the forthcoming campaign in this State is not to be one of Republican principles or Democratic principles, or a partisan issue at all, but the vital issue of decent government, Charles E. Hughes of this city tonight formally accepted the nomination for Governor which was brought to him by a committee from the Republican State Convention, recently held at Saratoga.

The ceremonies of the notification of Hughes and other candidates was held at the Republican Club in West Fortieth street, and followed a dinner at which Hughes met the members of the new Republican State Central Committee who had been in session here today. Among the other guests at the dinner were former Gov. Odell and former Gov. Frank S. Black, and they were among the first to congratulate Hughes on the conclusion of his brief speech. Hughes spoke as follows:

"Highly appreciating the honor you conferred and realising keenly the responsibility to be assumed, I accept the nomination. As a lifelong Republican, as one loyal to the principles and best traditions of the party, I respond to the unanimous call of the convention.

INSPIRING EXAMPLE.

"We enter upon the campaign inspired by the example and fortified by the achievements of our great leader, Theodore Roosevelt. The national administration with its record of established reforms, has strengthened its hold upon the confidence of the people. The activities of Congress in the interest of all the people has been attested by the passage of the railroad rate act, the meat-inspection act, the pure-food act and the employers' liability act.

STATE ISSUES PARAMOUNT.

"In referring to this record of the Federal administration, I should not be understood to say that this is a campaign of national issues. The paramount issues in this campaign are State issues. But in the matters which I have mentioned we find a notable record of achievement, which presents a striking contrast to the noisy pretensions of the hour. Our State administration has also accomplished many genuine reforms."

Here Hughes enumerated the reforms, with special reference to life-insurance companies.

INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE.

"What do we find in opposition to us?" he asked. "A masquerade. An Independence League whose independence has bestrayed, and a so-called but spurious Democratic party, which has violated every principle of Democratic government.

"Vain is it for our opponents to parade in the livery of virtue. Empty are their professions and hollow their declarations and promises.

"If you know the sort of administration we should have in the event of their success, look at the Buffalo convention; for there you will find their motives and their methods mirrored; their motive, selfishness, and their method.

"We test the sincerity of their independence by their efforts to procure the Democratic nomination.

"We test the sincerity of their appeals to American ideals by their despotic proceedings.

THEIR USE OF MONEY.

"We test the sincerity of their attacks upon the question of money in politics by their use of money in politics. We test the sincerity of their devotion to the interests of the people by their efforts to foment disorder and exploit ignorance in the interests of self-ambition.

DECENT GOVERNMENT.

"What, then, is the supreme issue of this campaign? It is not an issue of the Republican record. It is not an issue of Republican principles or Democratic principles. It is not a partisan issue at all. It is the vital issue of decent government.

"The question is whether the unholy alliance that succeeded at Buffalo shall capture the State of New York. In my message to the convention, I stated that if elected it would be my ambition to give the State a sane, efficient and honest administration, free from taint of bossism or of servitude to any private interest. This is my position in a nutshell.

WILL BE UNBOSSED.

"It will be an unbossed administration. I believe in party organization—in clean, efficient organization. I promise all members of the party fair treatment and just consideration. No individual or group of individuals or private interest will be permitted to dictate my policy.

"I shall decide and act according to my conscience, and as I believe the public interest requires. I promise an honest administration. It will be my aim to make the administration of the government efficient and economical. I am not committed to specific measures. I promise an examination, careful and impartial, of all matters within the scope of my authority and such action as my honest judgment shall approve.

"Every practical measure for the real benefit of labor will have my cordial support.

MAKE REFORMS EFFECTIVE.

"I shall spare no effort to make effective the reforms in the business of life insurance, so essential to the interest of policy holders.

"I promise the enforcement of the law with equal severity and in equal justice to all, rich and poor, corporations and individuals.

"We make our appeal to the common sense of the American people, which has never failed to express itself decisively in a great crisis. We are pledged to achieve reforms in the American manner, in accordance with the genius of our institutions and with love of truth and even-handed justice.

"It is in this spirit and with these pledges alone that I accept the nomination."

RESIGNS AS CONGRESSMAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3.—Congressman Gillett today telephoned to Governor Pardee from Chico that he had written his resignation as Congressman of the First District and forwarded the same to this city. Gov. Pardee will issue a proclamation tomorrow, calling an election for the purpose of electing a Congressman for the unexpired term.

Nominations were made by the State Central Committees of the several parties and the names of nominees must be sent to the Secretary of State on or before next Saturday, or they will not get a place on the ballot.

DOLLIVER'S "GOLDEN AGE."

LAFOLLETTE HIS BANE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAOLA (Iowa) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator J. P. Dolliver created a sensation here, this afternoon, when before an immense audience he replied to the speeches which Senator R. M. LaFollette has been making in criticism of the attitude of his colleagues concerning certain amendments which the Wisconsin Senator offered to the rate regulation bill.

Senator Dolliver called no names, but when he referred to a certain "traveling politician," who had been featuring Iowa Chautauqua platforms, the audience knew that LaFollette was meant, and when the latter's name was shouted at the speaker, he made no effort to correct them.

Senator Dolliver declared that while he had been humiliated at the "graft" exposure which had been made, that the present is a "golden age" compared with the time of President Jackson. He pointed out the exposure of "graft" which had been made under the leadership of President Roosevelt and declared it unbecoming in any public official to go about the country impugning other men's motives unless having proofs at hand to substantiate his charges.

LABOR TO OPPOSE HEARST.

ALL BECAUSE OF CONNERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Organized labor in Buffalo will knife the Hearst ticket as a result of the elevation of William James Conners of this city to the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee.

Organized labor and Conners mix about as well as oil and water. The thousands of organized workers on the waterfront will never forget the fight they had against Conners and his padrone system in 1899. Conners was worsted in that fight, after 2000 grain shovelers had been on strike for weeks.

BRYAN'S CAMPAIGNING.

TOUR OF CENTRAL STATES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Oct. 3.—William J. Bryan started today on a tour of campaigning which, with few interruptions, will continue until nearly election day. After his speech tonight at St. Joseph, Mo., he will return to Nebraska, and will make addresses Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The week following, and possibly longer, will be spent in Kansas, and from there the Central States will be visited. Bryan is hopeful of fusion in Nebraska, and will make another tour of this State before the campaign closes.

MILLIONAIRE INDEPENDENT.

FOSS WOULD BE GOVERNOR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is learned from reliable authority that the millionaire reciprocity champion, Eugene N. Foss, has plans all ready to run as an independent candidate for Governor on the tariff-reform platform of his own. The regular Republican Committee on Resolutions of the State convention had just one tariff-revision man in the entire lot, and Foss construes the makeup as meaning that a "standpat" plank will be nailed into the platform.

BEVERIDGE'S OPENING.

TALKS TARIFF REVISION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS P.M.]

DES MOINES (Ia.) Oct. 3.—United States Senator Beveridge opened the Republican campaign in Des Moines tonight with a speech that was heard by a large audience. Senator Beveridge entered into a general defense of the Republican administration and Congress but also discussed the present Cuban situation. On the question of tariff revision, Beveridge declared that there must be some changes in schedules, not the general revision, but for the adjustment of certain schedules.

"Some of these should be revised," he said, "and they should be changed in the high tide of our prosperity when these can easily adjust itself to the changes."

GRAFT PARTY IS PARALYZED.

Pale Public Pie Politicians Painfully Peeled.

Union Slaves Rebel and Vote to Join Socialists.

Laborites' Action Against Public Ownership.

The labor unions have rebelled against the patent personal politics of the Public Ownership party.

This disgust found vent for the first time a few days ago when the Socialist party of this city, through its County Central Committee, composed of venturesome visionaries, sent an invitation to Local Union No. 158 of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, asking it to send delegates to the Socialist convention, which is to be held on November 3, next, to round up the Socialist vote.

A meeting of the union was called to consider the question and the pitiful politicians who seek to own everything in sight in a panic of fear tried to pack the meeting. They succeeded. The meeting was a big one for a Los Angeles labor organization.

In vain was an attempt made by the personal party politicians to stem the tide of free speech. The union men were resolved that in this case at least they would not be led to the slaughter like innocents.

At last the vote was taken and counted and the result made known to the packed meeting.

The vote was 594 to 6 against public ownership.

"Dead for a ducat." It was "ding-dong" for the public ownership party.

This union meeting—the biggest of the kind ever packed in Los Angeles—had turned down the public ownership grafters and passed judgment on the jawsmiths by an almost unanimous vote.

Only the jawsmiths themselves had voted to slap the Socialists in the face. The rank and file of the union decided to send delegates to the Socialist convention on November 3.

There was consternation in the public ownership camp when the news of what had been done reached headquarters.

HOW THEY DELIVER.

There was a hustling and scurrying of delegates and political pimps. All the Public Ownership labor leaders were rounded up and begged to do something. They promised to deliver the goods—as they always do.

A new meeting of the Carpenters' Union was called. Some one who had voted in the affirmative was brought up, persuaded or cajoled into making the motion to reconsider the action of the former meeting.

This called meeting was held last night in the Trouble Temple on San Pedro street. It was even more carefully packed than before.

Fiery speeches were made denouncing the cute Socialists' trick of asking for delegates. They were accused of being jealous of the great success of the Public Ownership party (funereal groans,) and of its fine party organization. (Grumbling grunts.) They were urged to turn down these Socialist disturbers.

Then the vote was taken.

Once again it was almost unanimous. The motion to reconsider the action of the former meeting was lost by an overwhelming vote.

The delegates of the union will sit in the Socialist convention.

And that is the way the Public Ownership party got its death-blow at the hands of its friends last night.

The Socialists are not saying much; they just smile as they twist the prod.

THEY WOULD BE KIND.

In a subtle, humorous way, the Socialist County Central Committee is also taking a fall out of Robert G. Loucks, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Seventh District.

As printed in The Times last Monday, Mr. Loucks, who is of Pomona, challenged Congressman James McLachlan, Republican nominee for reelection, to a debate. Naturally, Mr. McLachlan was not disposed to voice his sentiments in a joint debate, where one is always liable to say more than is at first intended.

The Socialists were sympathetic. They condoled with Mr. Loucks upon the hardship of missing a joint debate where he would have a chance of showing what a fine Democratic speaker he was. In fact, the committee felt so sorry for Mr. Loucks that they were willing to let him have a consolatory joint debate with Mr. Claude Riddle, their candidate for Congress. Mr. McLachlan was not the only Congressional candidate, they said, and Mr. Riddle was at his service.

But it is believed that Mr. Riddle is too much of a riddle for Mr. Loucks, the Democrat.

PRESIDENT IS PLEASED.

Showing Made by Gunners on Battleship Missouri Brings Out Several Characteristic Expressions.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Stories brought ashore by United States sailors at Provincetown, Mass., are to the effect that President Roosevelt was enthusiastic over the fine showing made by the gunners of the battleship Missouri in target practice. The showing made with the big guns was especially pleasing to him. Two 12-inch guns were fired at target No. 1, four shots each, and every shot scored a hit, the whole eight being fired in three and one-half minutes.

President Roosevelt was standing where he could plainly see the shots in their flight and see them hit the target. As the shells, one after another, struck the target, he would bring his right fist into the palm of the left, as though he were striking a blow, and exclaim:

"Bully! That's great! Wow, isn't that fine? Another right through."

When the eighth shot had punched its hole right under the bull's eye, the President cried out:

"Eight shots, and every one right through the target! It's wonderful! And 12-inch at that!"

Mr. Roosevelt learned that for more than a year every 12-inch shot fired on the Missouri has struck the target.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 3.—The court-martial at Cronstadt today began the trial of three ringleaders of the mutiny on board the torpedo gunboat Kazanetz August 2. Next week a court will begin trying 295 members of the crew of the battleship Alexander II who refused to obey Lieut. Petroff's orders to enter the launch's boats and assist in suppressing the mutiny at Cronstadt.

A court-martial at Libau has found twenty-three sailors of the transport Prut guilty of mutiny and has sentenced them to various terms of imprisonment at hard labor. The sentences of the August mutiny was reported at the courts-martial since held at Cronstadt, Helsingfors, Reval, Riga, Libau and practically every Baltic port, showing that the whole fleet was honeycombed with sedition.

The unreported mutiny of the Twenty-first East Siberian Regiment, which distinguished itself in several battles in Manchuria, has been disclosed by the verdict of a court-martial held in Vladivostok. Asiatic Russia, which has sentenced six of the ringleaders to death, three others to hard labor and nineteen to serve various terms in disciplinary battalions.

Yesterday's record of executions as a result of the sentences of drumhead courts-martial includes four anarchists put to death at Kiev and seven bandits executed at Pakhmut. The latter were shot owing to the inability of the authorities to procure a hangman.

FAIL TO ROB CASHIER.

POLICE HAD ADVANCE NOTICE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 3.—A bold attack made by a number of revolutionists this afternoon on the cashier of the branch custom-house here was frustrated by the quick action of the police, who captured several of the attacking party, after a fusillade, during which one man is reported to have been killed.

The firing occurred at the west end of the palace bridge, one of the most frequented thoroughfares of the city, situated hardly a hundred yards from the Winter Palace and the Admiralty. The affair caused great excitement among the operators on the bourse and the general public.

The cashier was returning in a carriage from the treasury with over $5000 for the payment of the salary of the customs employés, when two men armed with revolvers sprang at the horses head and seven others surrounded the vehicle and covered the cashier with their revolvers.

The police apparently had advance information of the plot for they immediately surrounded and opened fire on the revolutionists, who answered the fire and attempted to flee but ran into the arms of a squadron of plain clothes policemen. One of the revolutionists was killed and five were arrested, three of them being students in uniform. Three men escaped. The man killed was a mere youth.

BATOUM (Trans-Caucasia) Oct. 3.—Twenty-five men armed with rifles and revolvers, who boarded the Black Sea steamer Czarevitch George at various points beaween Sukukn-Kale, a seaport on the Black Sea, and Nevorossysk on the east coast of the Black Sea, succeeded in abstracting and getting away with $4000 from the mail and the ship's treasury during the night of October 1. Firing their weapons and shouting to the steerage passengers not to move, the robbers drove the crew into the steerage and occupied the approaches to that ship, threatening the passengers and with crew with death if they resisted. The first-class passengers fired some shots at the robbers who, however, compelled the captain of the steamer to order the immediate cessation of the firing, threatening to shoot the captain, the two mates and four officers, whom they had detained as hostages, if the firing was continued. After securing the money the robbers compelled their hostages to put them ashore in one of the ship's boats.

SIDETRACK MANIFESTO.

MODERATES DENOUNCE IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 3.—The declaration of the Viborg manifesto in its appeals for the non-payment of taxes and the refusal to perform military service, as a campaign document in the coming elections and the adoption of a more constitutional line of campaign appears to be the order of the day of the Congress of Constitutional Demands which will open at Helsingfors next Sunday. A majority of the Central Committee is convinced that it would be inexpedient to enter the battle under such an openly revolutionary standard.

The proposed platform, has a plank of which, it is understood, has been drafted by Prof. Milukoff, who declares that while the Viborg manifesto was a correct measure at the time of its adoption it would now be inopportune to press its recommendations. The belligerents, and among them is Dolgoroff of Moscow, are inclined to fight for a flat reaffirmation of the manifesto, but the conservatives are confident of carrying the day.

The convention will be held behind closed doors.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 3.—Acting upon information received, the police today searched the students library of the Engineering Institute, which is attached to the departments of Ways and Communications. Forty bombs and seventy pounds of dynamite left in the library by a student named Finck were discovered. Finck's living rooms were subsequently searched, and a further large quantity of explosives found.

The police also unearthed a store of arms in the room of the son of the janitor of the institute. Finck and a number of others were arrested.

It is reported that the Minister of War has been informed that the troops at Cronstadt intimate that they will not shoot the nineteen sailors sentenced to death in connection with the August mutiny.

CHARCOAL KILLS BAD BREATH

Bad Odor of Indigestion, Smoking, Drinking or Eating Can be Instantly Stopped.

Sample Package Mailed Free.

Other people notice your bad breath where you would not notice it at all. It is nauseating to other people to stand before them and while you are talking, give them a whiff or two of you bad breath. It usually comes from food fermenting on your stomach. Sometimes you have it in the morning—that awful sour, bilious, bad breath. You can stop that at once by swallowing one or two Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful gas and odor absorbers ever prepared.

Sometimes your meals will reveal themselves in your breath to those who talk with you. "You've had onions," or "You've been eating cabbage," and all of a sudden you belch in the face of your friend. Charcoal is a wonderful absorber of odors, as every one knows. That's why Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are so quick to stop all gases and odors of odorous foods, or gas from indigestion.

Don't use breath perfumes. They never conceal the odor, and never absorb the gas that causes the odor. Besides, the very fact of using them reveals the reason for their use. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges in the first place stop for good all sour brash and belching of gas, and make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, just after you've eaten. Then no one will turn his face away from you when you breathe or talk; your breath will be pure and fresh, and besides your food will taste so much better to you at your next meal. Just try it.

Charcoal does other wonderful things, too. It carries away from your stomach and intestines, all the impurities there massed together and which causes the bad breath. Charcoal is a purifier as well as an absorber.

Charcoal is now by far the best, most easy and mild laxative known. A whole boxful will do no harm; in fact, the more you take the better. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal and mixed with just a faint flavor of honey to make them palatable to you, but not too sweet. You just chew them like candy. They are absolutely harmless.

Get a new, pure, sweet breath, freshen your stomach for your next meal, and keep the intestines in good working order. These two things are the secret of good health and long life. A Perfect Godsend

Mrs. Bessie Spencer, completely used up, tried doctors and medicine without good results. She states that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey helped her from the start and restored her to the best of health in a short time.

MISS BESSIE SPENCER.

Mrs. Spencer, filled with gratitude, writes:

I have been using Duffy's Pure Malt for four months and I am so glad it has done me more good than all the doctors' medicines I have taken. I know that I worked very hard and was failing fast every day until I began to take this wonderful Pure Malt Whiskey, and I surely can praise it anywhere in the wide world, and am not ashamed to praise it amidst thousands of people. I know that it brought me out of hard suffering. I had to go up stairs one foot at a time, and when I got up in the morning I could not stand on my feet for some time, my limbs would tremble so under me, and when Duffy's was recommended to me I sent and got it as soon as I could, and before I had taken one bottle of Duffy's Malt I could walk and go upstairs very well. This medicine was a perfect Godsend to me, and I expect to praise it as long as I live, and I do hope that you may sell more of it all over the land and that it may reach many a sufferer, as it would prolong their life for many years. (Signed) MRS. BESSIE SPENCER, Easton, Talbot Co., Goldsborough St., Md., April 11, '06.

PROTEST OF POPE FAILS.

American Vanderbilt Cup Team Settled.

Italians Even Money Favorites Against Field.

Hundred to One on Two of American Quintette.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At a meeting of the Vanderbilt Cup Commission tonight at the Garden City Hotel, Garden City, L. I., the protest of the Pope-Toledo representatives against the Frayer-Miller car as a member of the American team, was not sustained.

As a result of this action on the part of the commission the make-up of the American team in the race on Saturday will be as follows: 90-horse-power Locomobile, 115-horse-power Thomas, 90-horse-power Haynes, 50-horse-power Christie and 110-horse-power Frayer-Miller.

Before the decision was announced it seemed to be the prevailing sentiment among the automobile enthusiasts that in case of the disqualification of the Frayer-Miller car a second Thomas machine should be substituted.

These enthusiasts made matters lively with betting on the race. Messrs. Mollander and Tangeman, New York representatives of the Fiat Company, wagered $100 even on the Fiat, against the entire French team. A wager of $100 even on the Italian cars against the whole field was also made. Odds offered on the outcome of the race follows:

Lancia (Fiat,) Nazzaro (Fiat,) and Duray (De Dietrich,) 2 to 1.

Heath (Panhard,) Wagner (Darracq,) and Clement (Clement-Bayard,) 3 to 1.

Jenatzy (Mercedes,) and Weilschott (Fiat,) 4 to 1.

Cagno (Italia,) Fabry (Italia,) and Le Blon (Thomas,) 8 to 1.

Tracy (Locomobile) and Luytgen (Mercedes,) 10 to 1.

Shepard (Hotchkiss,) 15 to 1.

Haynes car, 25 to 1.

Frayer-Miller and Christie cars, 100 to 1.

DRIVERS SIZED UP.

WAGNER-CLEMENT TO FORE.

Among the drivers who will on Saturday race for glory in the third vanderbilt cup race, the public has picked of the foreign men some three or four to whom to pay homage. Darling Lancia, premier driver of the Fiat cars, is always a favorite, because his presence means something sensational, and, with good luck on his side, he becomes, perhaps, the most formidable competitor. But his daring style needs good luck—he either runs a wonderful race that wins, or runs a wonderful race until something happens that puts him out.

Duray looms large because he won the Auvergne, and there seems to be a well-founded belief that the winner of that classic has a large claim on the Vanderbilt. The house of De Dietrich is well represented by Duray.

But slowly two others have climbed into the forefront of glory, and bid fair to become favorites among the foreigners before the day of the race. One is the handsome young driver of the Darracq, Louis Wagner, and the other is Albert Clement, impetuous driver for his millionaire father, who helps make the Clement-Bayard car.

Wagner has a greater claim to automobile glory than any other driver at present in the game. He has been in the racing field ever since it started, and a had a reputation as early as 1901. Wagner was and is a young man, and the Darracq company first entrusted to him only light and middleweight racers. In his class he had the unique record of breaking every existing record in the three years and more up to 1904. In this country not much was heard of him, because the heavyweight men occupied our eyes, but in his own country he has always been one of the best-known and popular drivers. His most noteworthy triumph in his day of light-car racing was winning the Ardennes in 1903 by a margin of more than half an hour over the second man. In the same fall he won the two great French hill climbs, the Chateau-Thiery and Gaillon races.

Handsome and dare-devil Louis Wagner, who has a larger string of victories in road and speed contests than attained by any other driver. He will pilot the Darracq racer, with which he won the Circuit des Ardennes at an average speed of 72 miles an hour.

In 1904 he served his allotted time in the French army, as every Frenchman does, but by a judicious use of furloughs he made such a good record that the Darracq company selected him as a heavyweight driver for 1905.

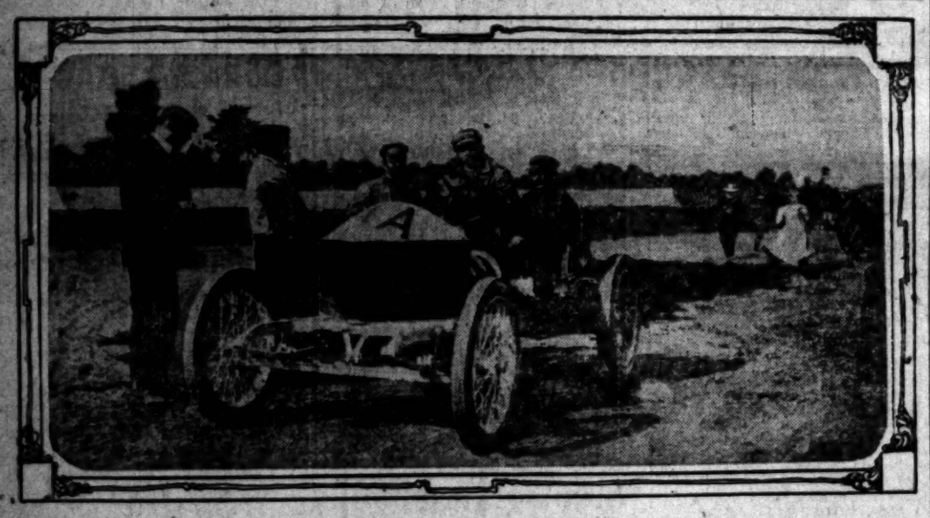
If that year he won in rapid succession first place in the meets at Ostend, Doullens, Schevenigue and Liege. These are all heavyweight races. Wagner also won lightweight first places in the Liege meet and in the Circuit des Ardennes. At the Ostend meet, over a dirt road, he won the ten-kilometer event at the rate of 90.44 miles an hour.

The French elimination trials made his name known still better in that year. After driving 310 miles in that race, he was more than a half-hour ahead of the eventual winner, the great Thery. Then he ran into broken glass that somehow got onto the course, and, in spite of an hour's delay, finished fourth in a wild drive, only thirteen minutes after the Thery. In the Ardennes circuit, which followed, he again won premier honors, driving at the rate of 67.3 miles per hour over country roads, breaking the former average record by ten miles an hour, and enabling the Darracq people to say that their car had done what no other car had ever done.

This year Wagner has not been so prominent, and has not appeared so often in public trials. He came to the front in the Ardennes race of August 13, and won the 100-kilometer course at the awful average of seventy-two miles an hour, fastest time ever made in a road race. One circuit he passed the stands in a continuous burst of over ninety miles an hour, and as the course is a winding and hazardous one, even the inured spectators went wild over his performance.

Always considered a veritable dare-devil, and a spectacular and awe-inspiring driver, Wagner has good judgment and a cool head, evidenced by his consistent winning. The Darracq people have every confidence in him, and have deposed Hemery, last year's winner of the Vanderbilt cup, in his favor. To what extent they regard him as the world's premier driver is evidenced by the fact that Demogeot, the man crowned speed king at Ormond for doing two miles faster than any human being ever rode, is mechanic to Wagner.

Albert Clement is another sort of driver—also dashing and debonair, but impetuous and headstrong. His driving in the Grand Prix, which he might have won if his father had allowed removable rims on the car, has brought him into public prominence, and though not the driver that Wagner is, he is a man to be reckoned with—a man with a natural genius for the game, who has not had the experience that Wagner has, but appears to make up for his lack of years at the track with a natural instinct for the speed craze. He is the leader of the amateur wing of the racing game, sharing with Tracy and Elliot Shepard the honor of driving for the glory and not for the coin.



100-horse-power Darracq racer entered for the Vanderbilt cup, the car which won the Ardennes race on August 13.

Albert Clement, dashing and impetuous driver for his father, the millionaire automobile manufacturer. He lost the first Vanderbilt cup race to George Heath by a margin of seconds only, and will make a second try for the trophy in the speedy Clement-Bayard racer, which he drove in the Grand Prix and the Ardennes.

WHITE WILL NOT PLAY.

Coach Holmes of U.S.C. Believes in Enforcing the Scholarship Restrictions.

Jack White, conceded to be the best half-back in Southern California last season, will not captain the U.S.C. team, this year, because of faculty restrictions. White has some class work to make up and will be busy half the term in attending to it. He may return to play the closing games of the season if the ban of the faculty can be lifted. Oliver Best will captain the team in his place.

As far as is known, White is the first crack player in Southern California to be denied an opportunity to take part in any championship contests. Last spring he was allowed to play in but two of the six championship baseball games.

"Scholarship is the solution of the amateur athletic problem in the universities and colleges," said Coach Holmes, last night. "No roustabout is going to stagger through a term's full quota of work just to take part in athletics. I am heartily in favor of requiring all students to be up in their classes to the full requirements. We are sorry to lose the services of White but it is the only thing to do, and I am making no kick. I want to see the rule enforced strictly."

U.S.C. is working hard for Saturday's game with the Los Angeles High School. The Methodists desire to win by as large a score as possible in order to infuse confidence into the new men for the hard contest with Occidental October 13. It is conceded that the High School will line up a pretty strong aggregation and will be hard to beat by any team in Southern California.

Traeger and Hamilton will act as chief officials in the game, and others will be selected later. The contest was arranged in order to give the university boys a chance to line up against a regular team before meeting Occidental.

The probable line-up will be:

U.S.C.		High School.
Miller	left guard	Walker
Bickford	center	Silent
Carmichael	right guard	Corcoran
Haigler	right tackle	Wallbridge
Fletcher	right end	Brant
Best	quarter-back	Berryman
Shute, Cooper, Bosbyshell	right half	Montgomery

SILIKO WINS GREAT RACE.

Kentucky Futurity Feature of Grand Circuit.

Bad Accident Causes Injury to Noted Driver.

Sweet Marie Will Go After World's Record.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LEXINGTON, Oct. 3.—Siliko, the bay son of Moko and Silicon, won the $14,000 Kentucky futurity, this afternoon, at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association track from the best field of three-year-olds that ever has faced the starter this year. In winning this, the blue-ribbon event of the season for three-year-olds, Siliko defeated Gov. Francis, winner of the Clark Horse Review futurity; The Tbbe, winner of the Kentucky Stock Farm Purse, and Ed Custer.

No victory in the futurity in years was more popular than that of the stout-hearted son of Moko, yet the race was marked by an accident that resulted in serious injury to W. H. (Knapsack) McCarthy, who drove Siliko. In the third heat Ben White, who drove The Abbe, made an attempt to get the rail near the quarter pole, and The Abbe stepped into the wheel of the sulky of Siliko.

In an instant Siliko tripped, throwing McCarthy headlong on the track beneath the hoofs of The Abbe and in front of nine other horses in the race. A murmur of pity went up from the thousands of spectators who witnessed the accident, but this was changed to shouts of applause when they saw McCarthy rise apparently unhurt.

FINISHES DRIVERLESS.

Siliko ran driverless around the track into a harrow, but was caught before he was injured. McCarthy staggered back to the stand to claim a foul against The Abbe. Neither Siliko nor The Abbe finished the heat. It was discovered that The Abbe had stepped on McCarthy's head, inflicting a painful wound, and serious injury. The Abbe was disqualified for fouling Siliko, and the heat went to Lightsome in a driving finish with Ed Custer.

The judges allowed Siliko to start in the next heat, when he won with Myron McHenry in the sulky, from Ed Custer by a neck, and was awarded the race. He is owned by J. E. Madden, the winner of three futurities, two Sheepshead Bay futurities, with Ballaho Bey and Yankee, and the trotting futurity, this afternoon, with Siliko.

In the pool selling The Abbe became a pronounced favorite over the field. Many thousands of dollars went into the pool box on this race at 2 to 1 on The Abbe. The Tennessee Stakes for 2:06 class pacers, was splendid for speculation, Ecstatic being an overwhelming favorite. Rudy Kip and Argaboy were played heavily. Grattis was played well at short prices.

SWEET MARIE WILL TROT.

If the weather is favorable, Sweet Marie, 2:02, will go for the world's record for trotters tomorrow afternoon. Results:

Tennessee Stake $3000, 2:06 class, pacing, three in five: Ecstatic won three straight heats and the race, in 2:04, 2:04¼ and 2:04.

The Kentucky futurity, $14,000, three-year-olds, three in five: Siliko won the first, second and fourth heats, and the race in 2:11½, 2:11¾ and 2:13¼. Lightsome won the third heat in 2:14½.

Pacing, 2:08 class, purse $1000, three in five: Lady May won three straight heats in 2:06½, 2:07, 2:06¾.

Dr. Gardner for $15,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—At Brighton Beach, today, after B. Schreiber's 3-year-old, Dr. Gardner, by Bannockburn-Uarda, won the third race, at a mile, in the fast time of 1:39 1-5, with 126 pounds up, he was sold to Frank J. Farrell for $15,000. Results:

AFTER STATE HONORS.

High School Track Team Makes Preparations to Go to Stanford Next Spring.

The Los Angeles High School track team hopes to win State honors at the spring meet in interscholastic field athletics to be held under the auspices of Stanford University. Last year Harvard School of Los Angeles took second place in a similar meet, and the High School covets honors this year.

Some of the best men will be absent from the tem next spring, but it is hoped to develop good material from those who failed to make the team last year. In no school do athletes develop so quickly as in a high school, and the crop of youngsters at Los Angeles High is large. Bristol is one of the new men and works in the 440. Several others will enter for the events. Feltzenthal is coming back and will help out considerably. Then there is Harry Seward, the captain, who will be a tower of strength in himself.

Very little work will be done this fall but some of the boys are indulging in cross country runs which they will keep up during the winter unless conditioning in some other game. A preliminary meet with some school in the city will be held about March 1.

Don Goodwin, manager of the track team, and a quarter and half miler, will not compete, this year, owing to parental objections; Grover Youngs, the hurdler and relay man, enters U.S.C.; Donnell, the sprinter, has gone to Berkeley; Holmes, the miler and half miler, goes to Polytechnic; Ward Smith, the hurdler and high jumper and Roy Smith, the weight thrower and hurdler, will not return to school. The loss of these men is a pretty severe one to the High School.

In order to raise funds to help defray the expenses of the track team in making the trip to Stanford, Harry Seward, Louis Bristol and Don Goodwin have taken it upon themselves, as a committee, to give a dance Saturday night, Oct. 13, at Kramers hall. This will be the only social event, outside of the four provided for the various classes, to take place during the year, and especial permission had had to be secured from the Board of Education.

Sonderklasse Racing.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Maj. Charles Hayden of the Governor-General's staff, has decided to give seven cups for Sonderklasse racing here in 1907, to be contested for under the control of the Eastern Yacht Club. In view of the fact that many Sonder boats will be built this coming winter by New Yorkers, he has decided to give three elimination cups to be raced for on Long Island Sound, winners entitled to race in final off Marblehead.

Tennis Matches.

A club class tournament to last one day, will be played at the Central courts in South Pasadena next Saturday. It is merely to serve as a means of handicapping the local players in future tournaments. While the ability of the various players is known it is desired that it be "officially" known to each player.

NAGLE GETS HIS AGAIN.

Champions Trounce Him for Sixteen Swats.

Fans See All They Want of Bombardments.

Henderson Holds the Locals to Six Hits.

Portland, 12; Los Angeles, 6.

It may be stated that Nagle will probably not pitch today.

One may also rise to remark that if you should ask the long boy to go in and twirl 'em again, he would spit in your eye.

Two fearful beatings in two days are about enough to satisfy the cravings of any pitcher, and after the Champs had finished handing him a few hot packages Tuesday, they gathered up the remains that night, wrapped up another big load, and slipped the whole bunch to the "jedge" yesterday.

And he fell for it, and they fell on him, and the fans had to shut their eyes to keep from thinking they had been to a political meeting the night before. They had to keep them shut the greater part of the game, too, and every time they took a look they would see some Portland swat trying to knock the fence down. The whole story of the game is told by the sixteen hits for Portland, four of which were doubles. A number of these were all luck, and very scratchy, but were just as good as clean swipes when it came to getting runs.

Nagle started off like a real pitcher, for he allowed but one scratch hit in the first and none in the second. Then they went at him for eight hits and seven runs in the next three innings, took a rest in the sixth, and then came back for seven swats and five runs in the last three.

The Looloos were shot to pieces again before they started, for Brashear was out of the game on account of sickness, and Nagle had to pitch again. Bernard was brought in from center field to play third base and was "there" all the time, but was caught napping once or twice on bunts. Nagle, while badly beaten, made the only sensational fielding stunt of the game in a long, running left-handed catch of a fly bunt hit over the foul line to the right of the plate by Schimpff in the first half of the ninth round. Smith, Lister and McCreedie did the star hitting, and aside from the hard hitting by the Champs, the pitching was excellent. Both Nagle and Henderson were wild, and yet they struck out fourteen men between them.

There is no use telling how the runs were made, for the Los Angeles end of it wouldn't do you any good and the Portland history would be long enough to make you tired.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

M. A. Farmer was found on South Spring street yesterday afternoon representing himself as an officer, according to the police. Patrolmen arrested him and booked him on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Boy Burglar Confesses.

C. Tucker, a boy burglar arrested yesterday, confessed last evening that he had stolen $15 from a Washington-street barber shop. He entered the place during the absence of the proprietor early in the day, and took the money from the cash drawer; then slipped out before any one had seen him.

Woman Found Wandering.

Mrs. G. A. Blackman of Santa Ana was found on East Twenty-eighth street last night after she had wandered over much of the eastern portion of the city apparently in a demented condition. The woman told the police that her husband works in an iron foundry.

Suspicious Blaze

Suspicious circumstances attended a fire at the Merlo & Boulanger Automobile Company's plant, No. 619 North Main street, last evening. The blaze, which did slight damage, started between the ceiling and the roof in a place where there were no electric wires nor flues. The spot was accessible.

Senior B Election.

Harry Rogers has been elected president of the Senior B class of the Los Angeles High School. Marian McClure is vice-president; Marguerite Wagner, secretary, and Vernon Rogers, treasurer. A spirited contest resulted during the election for president, Archie Reeve and Richard Shinn running close in the ballots to Rogers.

Summers Trying to Kill?

C. Summers was trying to kill his stepfather with a razor, and had driven his mother into a corner of their rooms in the Hotel Roosevelt, on West Second street, according to the police. A patrolman had to fight the young man when called by neighbors. Summers was held at the City Jail last night, and this morning a charge is expected to be filed against him in Police Court. It seems he has been having trouble with his mother and stepfather for some time.

Like Thief With Aliases.

With as many aliases as a bank robber, Frank Naski, a bicycle thief, was arrested by Detective Walsh yesterday pawning a wheel in a South Main-street store. Frank Manato and S. Yokohama are the man's other names. He was convicted last summer of the same offense and was released on probation. Naski is known to have stolen several bicycles from various parts of Los Angeles in recent months. He will be arraigned on a grand larceny charge in police court today.

With Knife Chases Man.

Knife in hand, T. P. Conozoga pursued a man up Spring street into the entrance of the Orpheum last evening. A special officer on duty at the door disarmed and subdued him after a desperate struggle. Conozoga was crazed with liquor. The name of his intended victim was not learned by the police. If he can be found the prisoner will be prosecuted today on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon, otherwise for disorderly conduct.

Nurse Attempts Suicide.

Miss L. Mann, a trained nurse, attempted suicide in a rooming-house at California street and Grand avenue yesterday afternoon. She took poison, it is thought, because she could not overcome the drug habit. A year ago the young woman was in the County Hospital under treatment for that habit. She was discharged and went to her work, happy and satisfied. Of late despondency has afflicted her. She was treated yesterday at the Emergency and General Hospital, and will probably recover.

Refugees' Benefit.

For the benefit of their relief fund, the San Francisco Refugee Association last night gave a vaudeville entertainment and later danced. The piece de resistance of the programme was a farce called "An American Harem," given by amateur talent, but the acts that caught the fancy of the audience were by three little girls. Reine Ross sang and danced some clever steps, Helena Lymer sang two songs, and Louise Lutzmen concluded the programme by singing a song about San Francisco. Dressed entirely in red, with a mourning badge of crepe on her shoulder, she caught the fancy of the audience as a portrayal of stricken San Francisco.

BREVITIES.

SUFFRAGISTS NAME LEADERS.

MRS. LULU PILE LITTLE HEAD OF COUNTY LEAGUE.

Women Who Urge the Ballot for Their Sex Hold an All-Day Convention and Discuss Cause, Which Is Supported by Thomas Fitch in Talk on Purity in Politics.

Mrs. Lulu Pile Little was yesterday chosen president of the Los Angeles County Equal Suffrage League for the coming year and with her the following officers will serve: Vice-president, Mrs. D. Z. Gardener; recording secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Smith Bacon; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. A. Moody; treasurer, Miss Fannie L. Wilis.

The meeting, which was held in the Woman's Club House, opened with an invocation by Mrs. Mary A. Kenney and greetings from the president, Mrs. Florence C. Porter. The reports of committees were heard and auxiliaries and presidents of wards were also heard from. The election of officers closed the morning session.

In the afternoon, following a basket luncheon, the following were heard in brief remarks concerning the growth and development of the suffrage movement: Mmes. Mary H. Kincaid, M. M. Fetta, E. J. D. Chapman of San Francisco, State vice-president at large, who represented the president; Mrs. Sperry, C. M. S. Severance, and Messrs. Blum of San Francisco and J. H. Braly of Los Angeles.

Following these speakers a symposium was given on the subject: "What advantage has the agitation of woman's suffrage been to the world at large?" This was contributed to in the following divisions: "It's Early History," Dr. Sarah Howe Morris; "In Education," Mrs. Kate Reynolds Lobingier; "In Professional Life," Mrs. Eliza Tupper Wilkes; "In Business," Bertha Hirsch Baruch; "The Opportunities of Civic Clubs," Mrs. Willoughby Rodman.

The report of the Committee on Resolutions and the introduction of the new officers followed.

The evening meeting was called in Blanchard Hall, where Judge Curtis Wilbur presided. Thomas Fitch was the first speaker. Former Judge J. S. Noyes also spoke. Mr. Fitch's topic was "Purity in Politics." He said, in part:

"In this government of men, by men, for men, you are classed as the political equals of toddling infants, of howling lunatics, and of the thieves who press their noses against iron bars, and regret not their crimes, but regret that in consequence of their crimes they have forfeited their manly right to sell their votes.

"If you depend upon the unsolicited action of men to do you justice your wait may be long and lonesome. For enfranchisement you must rely upon such organized effort as this Equal Suffrage League is making. If you make your contest intelligently, fearlessly, actively, and persistently, you will win it, for some men are just, and other men are wise, and many men are intelligently selfish.

"One of the stock arguments against woman suffrage is that a man should vote because he pays taxes. Well, two-thirds of the improved residence property in Los Angeles is owned by women. If the right to vote should be based upon the taxation of property, then should not the assessment of property be based upon the right to vote? And ought not women property-holders who possess all the requisite qualifications of voters except sex, either have their names placed upon the registry list, or else have them stricken from the assessment roll? The objection to the latter course would be that the gentlemen who avoid their creditors by hiding behind the skirts of their wives, would be reinforced by male tax-dodgers who would seek the same shelter.

"But the argument is without force, for there is no property qualification for voters in this State, and the names of a majority of the voters do not appear on the assessment roll.

'Female suffrage is no longer an experiment. In Great Britain and in the Scandinavian countries the women have municipal suffrage, and may vote at all the elections except for members of Parliament. In the English Antipodean colonies the women vote on an equality with men. As a result, we owe the secret and guarded ballot to Australia, and we owe the doctrine of public ownership of public utilities and of equal taxation to New Zealand. It is only in the Latin countries and in the Netherlands that women have no voice whatever in the government, and are sometimes hitched to the plow. Woman suffrage has been tried in four of our States and it has everywhere proved an advantage.

"I do not mean to say that woman suffrage would immediately remedy all these evils. You would have to pour a good deal of cologne water into a sewer to sweeten it. But I do say that the woman vote would be a powerful moral force, a cleansing force, an uplifting force in our politics, and God knows they need cleansing and uplifting.

"If you would drive out of power the traffickers in men's votes and legislators' honor then give the ballot to woman. She will prove a new and efficient janitress of our House of State. She will wield the broom with a purpose of perfect cleanliness, and she will not sweep the dirt out of sight under the sofa. She will cause laws to be enacted that will keep autos off of crowded thoroughfares. She will lower the death rate of the trolley cars. She will not sell your gateway to the sea to private corporations. She will not gridiron your beautiful avenues with tracks on which freight cars shall obstruct the crossings. She will not make of your legislative halls shambles where men are bought and honor is butchered. She will not throw wide open the doors of the deadfalls and repeal the curfew law. She will not smite our fair Goddess of Liberty in the face, until with cheeks bedewed with the salt tears of shame she cries piteously to her children to rescue her. But she will help in public, as she now helps in private, to bring us nearer to the simple life, to the true life, to the life that will fit us best for the life that is to come."

Which?

Caution is sometimes wise. Faint heart never got mixed up yet in a breach of promise case. He who don't feel sure about what he shall wear and asks the advice of our special fabric and fashion experts is usually a better dressed man than he who thinks he knows it all.

We never try to persuade a man against his will to take a certain fabric or a certain style. But inasmuch as it is just as much to our interest as it is to yours, that you are becomingly dressed, we are always ready to give you the benefit of our expert's suggestions. That's part of the Brauer-Krohn tailoring service. New Fall fabrics have arrived in all the latest colors. Suits made-to-measure, $25.00 to $50.00.

Famous Artists are Proud to Perform for the Victor

Everybody knows Sousa's Band, but not one-twentieth of the people of the United States have actually heard it. Richard Jose's marvelously high tenor, Wolf Hopper, with his inimitable "Casey at the Bat," Len Spencer's funny stories, Arthur Pryor and his band, all have a national fame; but how many of them have you ever heard?

You can hear any one and every one of these great singers, great bands, great entertainers—and a hundred more—with the Victor. They sing for you, play for you, or bring a good laugh, whenever "you feel in the mood."

Think what an inspiration to an artist—to be heard by enthusiastic millions today and in years to come.

Countryman Is in Jail for Part in Swindle.

This is the sad story of how Natali Scaramozzini buya de golda brick.

Giovanni Crevolini, he sella de brick; he's in jail. If he ever gets out, he can look for Signor Scaramozzini's stiletto in his gizzard. There was another man in th conspiracy. Where he is—other than in the conspiracy—is not known to the police.

Scaramozzini had $600 on deposit in the International Savings Bank, and it made the mouths of Crivolini and the unknown missing man water every time they thought of it.

Crivolini decided to let Scaramozzini into a great investment. Scaramozzini hadn't been long enough in the country to run and yell for the police at an offer to be let in on the ground floor. When they told him they could give him a return of $30 for each one of his precious $600, he fairly champed at the bit in his eagerness to be bunco-ed.

They arranged a meeting with him down in the dark part of Central avenue, telling him to be sure to bring his money. In the words of Mayor McAleer, he "done so."

They took him up into a dark, mysterious room, and there unfuried the great schemee. They confessed to him.

GREENBACKS DIRT CHEAP.

They said they had on hand some stolen greenbacks. The police were on their trail and they must get rid of the long green muy pronto. Although it was self-robbery to do it, they said they would exchange the greenbacks at the rate of $20 worth of greenbacks for $1 of Scaramozzini's cold cash.

Then Scaramozzini almost wept because he had not brought the whole $600, but only $200. Well, they said they would let him have $200 worth, although they didn't know what on earth they would do with the rest if the police pursued them any fiercer.

One of the men got out a strange-looking, mystic box affair and revealed to Scaramozzini's bewildered eyes enough green paper money to sink a ship. Scaramozzini almost shrieked in excitement.

Before they gave him the money they told him he would have to agree to leave town immediately before the police could find him. Scaramozzini promised. Heavens! He would promise anything. He was getting $4000 for $200. He would go to the North Pole if desirable.

They gave the money not into his eager hands. Just at the last they decided it would be safer for all concerned if it was packed away in a little green box. To this Scaramozzini agreed.

At last he got the box and fled post haste for the railroad station.

OUT WITH SECRET.

He couldn't keep the secret any further than Burbank on the train. When he got that far he leaned over, confidentially, to a man in the smoker and said: "What you thinka I gotta in de box?"

"Eggs or horned toads," said the amused traveler.

Scaramozzini's eyes glittered triumphantly and he threw the box down dramatically on the seat beside him and proclaimed, in a hoarse, stage whisper:

"Fulla da mon. I gotta de four thousand dollars."

He told the whole story. When he had finished the American asked, casually, if he had looked in the box.

No, he had not.

Scaramozzini looked cautiously around the smoker—like a cat. He tried the door and peeped through the glass; then tip-toed back to the box and stripped off its fastenings with quick, lithe hands.

"O-o-o!"

A howl like a coyote went up as he lifted the cover off; the box was filled with waste paper and an old shoe.

The Dago danced up and down through the aisles, howling and bawling and calling on all the saints and trying to jerk the bell cord, and tearing his hair. He got off at the first stop and put back to Los Angeles, where he told his story with tears and wailings to the police.

Result: Crivolini is in jail, staring moodily through the bars. Signor Scaramozzini nurses his vengeance, but that doesn't bring back his lost $300.

GIOVANNI CRIVOLINI, accused of getting two hundred dollars from Natali Scaramozzini for a box containing a few old shoes and dornicks.

NAME GATES FOR MAYOR.

Non-Partisan City Committee Chooses Him to Head Ticket.

Lee C. Gates will be the candidate of the Non-Partisan City Central Committee for Mayor of Los Angeles. The Executive Committee of that body will recommend his nomination to the Committee of One Hundred, which will meet within two or three days and undoubtedly will ratify the selection. Mr. Gates already has agreed to accept the nomination and has pledged himself to exert himself to the utmost to lead the Non-Partisans to victory in the coming municipal contest.

In a statement issued last night by Russ Avery, chairman, and M. Lissner, secretary of the Central Committee, it is announced that W. J. Washburn, who has been urged as a candidate, was largely instrumental in inducing Mr. Gates to make the race.

LASSO PEAKS BY TROLLEY.

Huntington's Reported Plan Unique and Daring.

Line from Mount Lowe to Mount Wilson?

Espee Taking no Chances on the Colorado.

To lasso the towering twin peaks of Mount Lowe and Mount Wilson in one wide-flung noose of trolley wire is said to be the latest ambitious and uniquely daring project of H. E. Huntington, the electric railway wizard of the West.

Another mind conceived the incomparably scenic route from the valley to the summit of Mt. Lowe, and other promoters first suggested to Mr. Huntington the idea of a line to the top of Mount Wilson, but it lay with Mr. Huntington himself to hit upon the scheme of making the proposed line a magnificent aerial balloon route through the medium of a line hung upon and hacked out of the mountain sides to connect the two adjacent peaks.

As the proposition is said to be outlined in the mind of the veteran railroad builder, the mountain railway to connect the two canine-like molars of the Sierra would leave the Mt. Lowe line of the Pacific Electric and wind about through an infinitely tortuous route until it arrived finally at the summit of Mount Wilson itself. From thence it would drop into the valley, probably by way of the present new toll road, to connect again with one of the foothill lines of the Pacific Electric.

FEASIBLE, SAY ENGINEERS.

It is said that expert engineers who have been sent over the ground have pronounced the project feasible in every way. The line between the peaks of Wilson and Lowe, they say, would be no more difficult or expensive of construction than is the present line of the Pacific Electric from Echo Mountain to Alpine Tavern.

Such a comparatively easy grade has been discovered for the descent of Mount Wilson, they say, that there will be no necessity of an incline, which to some timidly disposed is a drawback to the ascent of Mount Lowe.

Less than a week ago Mr. Huntington himself made a trip to Mount Wilson, immediately following a trip of inspection to Mount Lowe. On both occasions he studied the ground closely being especially interested in tracing the course across the high ridges and the "hog backs," which a connecting line would have to follow.

Soul-inspiring and thrilling as is the trip over the present line from Echo Mountain to the summit, a line flung out over the backbone of the mountains to connect thetwo peaks would give the traveler an additional six or eight miles of scenic mountain trip which for indescribable beauty and grandeur probably cannot be found on any other railroad in the country.

POPULARITY DOES IT.

The serious consideration of such a line, not only to scale Mount Wilson from the valley, but to connect the two mountains and complete the loop, is due to the great and growing popularity of both of these cloud-capped heights as places of summer and winter resort, not alone for the visitor to Southern California, but to the Angeleno as well, who feels the necessity frequently of rising above the sea level to expand his lungs and quicken his pulse in the rarified atmosphere.

Mount Lowe is already a favorite resort, especially for those who prefer to make their outing jaunts by trolley. Wilson, on the other hand, is full as popular, but its clientele is confined to those for whom the prospect of a voyage a la burro has no terrors. There are hundreds of Angeleños and thousands of visitors who would be glad to scale Mount Wilson if they could undertake the daring feet from the promenade deck of a trolley car. Wilson also furnishes facilities for camping, and the making of permanent summer homes, in many ways far superior to those offered by Mount Lowe. A railway, it is said, would build up a thriving mountain summer city of hundreds of inhabitants about the shady side of Wilson Peak, and would be a source of certain and considerable revenue to its promoters.

WOMAN'S KINDNESS BRINGS HER RICHES.

MRS. FRANK J. SPARE,
Los Angeles woman whose kindness to an old prospector at Searchlight is rewarded with a large sum of money.

BEING KIND to a friendless old prospector, Tom Marsh, who had been wandering around Nevada for years, has made Mrs. Frank J. Spare, formerly of Los Angeles, a rich woman.

Her husband is general manager of the Pompeii mine at Searchlight. To be with him Mrs. Spare left her life of card clubs, society and fashion in Los Angeles and went to the lonely desert.

This poor man attracted her sympathy. Old Tom Marsh was a sort of a derelict drigting about Riverside until he finally got out on the desert. Suffering great privations and want, he tramped wearily over the mountains and valleys year after year looking for gold; never finding any.

Mr. Spare gave him employment on the Pompeii and took an interest in the old fellow. Mrs Spare took charge of his small affairs and did for him the little kindnesses that any good, kind woman might. She took care of his money and listened to his troubles.

Meanwhile the old fellow kept on prospecting, going over the Searchlight district with a fine-tooth comb. At last he struck it. His claims were staked near the spot where the Colorado Mining and Milling Company is sinking into a supposedly rich vein.

After staking out his property, he went straight to Mrs. Spare and offered her a half interest in his claims. She smilingly refused at first but the old man was so distressed and disappointed that she relented at last and was made a half partner. She didn't take it very seriously at the time, but old Tom Marsh knew he had struck it at last.

A Los Angeles syndicate headed by Dr. H. E. Hall, recently purchased the claims Marsh staked out for a very large sum of money, half of which the old prospector has delightedly turned over to Mrs. Spare.

A portion of her share will be turned over to some worthy charity.

WAS WOMAN LEPER DROPPED INTO SEA?

THE fate of a woman leper secretly smuggled out of this city by order of the Board of Supervisors is giving great uneasiness to the various county officials who were in the conspiracy.

If she reached her Hawaiian home in safety the woman was to have notified the officials here.

Since thrusting her—heavily veiled—on a large Pacific steamer whose officers were in ignorance of her condition, she has not been heard of.

It is feared that she may have met foul play on the steamer when it was discovered that this half-rotted leper had been sneaked among the passengers. It seems very much more probable that she broke her promise to send word. Nevertheless she lies heavily on the conscience of many officials of Los Angeles county.

She was a half-caste Hawaiian woman married to an American named Chamberlain. What has become of him no one knows.

TERRIBLE LONELINESS.

The woman was arrested here and was confined in a tent for many months. Her lot was terrible. She used to beg to be delivered in any earthly way from that terrible loneliness. At sunset she could often be seen standing in front of her tent, a pitiful figure getting what little pleasure could come to her from that daily spectacle.

Sometimes the medical students used to be taken out to her tent to have the medical features of her case explained; even that was a relief. She was rather a good looking and rather a pleasant woman. She was not educated enough, however, to get much pleasure out of reading; all she could find to do was her little housework about the tent.

Her case grew worse and worse and more repulsive. They finally decided to take a great chance and send her back to the Hawaiian home for which she pleaded.

What followed next is alleged to have been undertaken and carried out on the express order of the Board of Supervisors. They gave out the news that she had "escaped."

They got her up in good clothes and supplied her with a very heavy veil. The disease was plainly to be seen in her face, but no one could have dreamed of her condition in the way they dressed her. She looked like an interesting and rather mysterious veiled lady.

One of the internes at the County Hospital was detailed to be her escort on this peculiar and dangerous mission.

IN SAN FRANCISCO CROWDS.

On the way to San Francisco she traveled on one of the less frequented trains and was hastily put to bed and kept out of sight. On the night trains there is no real occasion to be seen by your fellow passengers throughout the whole trip.

She was put on the cars and taken up Market street as big as life.

The cars were crowded. It is interesting to imagine what would have happened had it suddenly become known that this little woman in black was a far-gone leper.

Imagine if some one had appeared on the platform of the car and sung out, "One of the passengers on this car has leprosy."

However, they didn't. Instead, some of the sportive youths on the back platforms cast very tender glances in her direction.

Oh, if she had but raised her veil and returned that tender look!

They took her down to the steamer just before it sailed, with her ticket all paid for. She was hurried up the gang plank and her escort ducked down again.

ON SHIP—SEEN NO MORE.

Although half the passengers would undoubtedly have jumped overboard had they known the truth, the woman figure was lost in the crowd of people who pressed against the rail, waving good-by, and she was seen no more.

The county authorities reluctantly admit that this trick was played on the transportation companies. They will not tell the name of the steamer, however, for fear of a damage suit.

"I admit being worried about that woman's fate," said one of the men who arranged the curious trip. "She promised to write to us as soon as she landed; she was a woman of high principle, and her word was as good as gold; I am sure she would have replied. Maybe she got there safe and sound; but I wish we could be assured on this point. I shouldn't be surprised if the mysteriously 'got lost' on that steamer when it was discovered that she had leprosy—she may have been thrown overboard."

ONLY "AFRICAN" WILL DO.

Negroes Object to Being Called "Darky," "Coon," or Even "Negro."

The wrongs of the negro race were forcibly presented last night at a reception tendered the visiting members of the California and Oregon conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church at Pico and Paloma streets, where that body opened its thirty-eighth annual session yesterday morning. Two hundred or more gathered at the church to attend the reception. An oration delivered during the course of the evening by Dr. M. E. Sykes of Los Angeles stirred great enthusiasm and hit the keynote of the meeting. Sykes referred with pathos to the degradations he declared are daily heaped upon the heads of his people.

A second speech, with greater logic though less fervor, was made by Paul M. Nash, a colored lawyer. Nash took exception to the treatment that the race question has received at the hands of the press, especially to the use of the terms "darky," "nigger," "negro," and "coon," which he said the papers commonly and indiscriminately use in referring to "Africans." According to his statements, the treatment of the Jews in Russia is mild in comparison to the treatment of the people of his race in the United States.

The conference opened yesterday with Bishop J. S. Caldwell of Philadelphia as presiding officer, and will continue in session the remainder of the week.

YOUNG GIRL VANISHES.

Laura Morganstern Goes to School as Usual and Fails to Return to Her Home.

Laura Morgenstern, daughter of Alfred J. Morgenstern, a lawyer, vanished from her home at No. 914 West Ninth street yesterday under strange circumstances. The girl went to school as usual in the morning. She did not return to the house at noon. Nothing was thought by the family of this. But when she failed to appear in the evening, her parents were worried.

Last night the matter was reported to the police. The girl has never done anything before, according to the parents, to lead to a belief that she would leave home of her own volition. It is feared that some harm may have come to her. Her description was given out at the University sub-station, and officers were instructed to look for her.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

ESPEE AND THE COLORADO.

Taking no chances on the outcome of the work of shutting off the Colorado River from its inundation of the country about the Salton Sea, the Southern Pacific is making every preparation for the record-breaking construction of fifty miles of new main line from Imperial Junction to Mecca.

It is between these two points that the rising waters from the Colorado River threaten the southern main line of the system. Should the work under way prove successful in stemming the flow of the river and turn the water back into its old channel, well and good. The lease of life of the present threatened stretch of track will be indefinitely extended. But should these efforts prove unsuccessful, then all of the men and all of the gangs which the Southern Pacific can assemble cannot too quickly construct a new main line behind the chain of foothills, and safe from the water which must inevitably rise and engulf the present right of way.

In anticipation of such a contingency, trainload after trainload of ties and rails have been rushed to Mecca and Imperial Junction, until there are now stacked up at those two places more than 150,000 ties, which can be used immediately in the construction of a new line.

Southern Pacific officials, however, are fairly confident of the successful outcome of the work under way, and are of the opinion that they will never be called upon to build the new line for which they have been preparing.

STONE QUESTION HELD UP.

A report comes from the supervising architect's office in Washington, that the whole question of stone for the new Los Angeles Federal building is held up. It was first determined to make the few lower courses of the structure of granite, but the Treasury Department was undecided whether sandstone or limestone would be used in the upper part of the building. The contractor was ordered to submit samples from which it was proposed to determine what to use. The samples reached th esupervising architests some time ago, but no action has yet been taken, and it was said yesterday that nothing will be done regarding the superstructure of the building until the base is decided upon also.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL.

Little Frances Powers, Horribly Burned While Playing With Matches, Dies at Hospital.

Little Frances Powers, the seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mary Powers of No. 622 East Twelfth street, who was horribly burned Tuesday, died at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after more than twenty-four hours of agony.

Suspicious circumstances surround the burning of the child, and the police believe some one was guilty of criminal negligence. The refusal of members of the Powers family to give information aroused the suspicions of Police Captain Brodhead, and officers were detailed on the case.

The investigatibn showed that the little girl, with her brother, had been left in the house while the mother was absent. Frances climbed to a shelf and secured a box of matches, with which she ignited her clothing. Her brother was slightly burned in trying to stamp out the flames.

There will be no arrests made, as it was found impossible to bring a specific charge against those guilty of leaving the young children alone.

The body was taken to Pierce Bros.' undertaking parlors.

FOR CERTIFICATES.

Examinations for candidates for High School teachers' certificates will be held in this city on November 1, 2 and 3, under the direction of Jesse F. Millspaugh, president of the State Normal School. Applicants for examination must register with the Superintendent of Public Instruction at Sacramento, not later than October 23, and each must have had at least twenty months of successful experience in teaching. Those desiring information as to the requirements, etc., can obtain it from Dr. Millspaugh.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Reports compiled yesterday by the City Health Office show a lower death rate for the month of September than for many preceding months.

The project for opening Seventeenth street to public traffic was again revived, yesterday, by the filing of a petition for this improvement.

The Water Commission yesterday filed with the City Clerk its request that the City Council approve its new schedule for rates on water meters.

The Civil Service Commission has provided for examination of candidates for many positions in the city's service, to be held October 13.

Citizens of Compton have awakened to the fact that they are residents of a city of the sixth class, and have been for a number of years, though unaware of it. A decision of the Supreme Court determines this point.

Mrs. Eva Nourse is called upon to answer in damages for having taken summary measures with a rival real estate trader, who, she claims, was trying to get the better of her by unfair methods.

Harry Magee, Charles Weinert and Edward Epperly, youths accused of burglary, were arraigned in the Police Court yesterday. Magee and Weinert were bound over to the Superior Court, and Epperly's case was continued.

AT THE CITY HALL.

SEVENTEENTH STREET AGAIN.

PROJECT TO OPEN IT THROUGH IS NOW REVIVED.

Council Petitioned to Make Thoroughfare from Figueroa to Vermont Avenue—Civil Service Commission to Hold Examinations of Applicants for Many Places.

Another attempt is to be made to open up Seventeenth street from Figueroa street to Vermont avenue to public traffic. A petition has been filed with the City Clerk, asking the City Council to open a new street, fifty feet in width, and starting at a point on Vermont avenue between the Vermont-avenue tract and Reed's addition and running along the south side of the Millard avenue tract and the Sherman tract to Hoover street, thereby opening Millard and Pacific avenues on the south and Pacific (formerly Vargas) avenue and New England street on the north; also opening and extending Seventeenth street between Burlington avenue and Bonnie Brae street.

FOR MANY POSITIONS.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

The Civil Service Commission will hold competitive examinations on Saturday, October 13, for candidates for a large array of positions, ranging through many departments of the municipal service.

Examinations for candidates for positions in the fire department will be held at Turner's Gymnasium, and all other examinations are to take place at the Grand-avenue school, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning.

The list issued by the Civil Service Commission for which examinations will be made includes a care-taker for the playgrounds department; one stenographer and one file clerk for the water department; a school nurse, a sergeant-at-arms and a clerk of the City Council; hose men for the fire department; a telephone operator for the same department; a blacksmith and a painter and decorator for this department; chainmen, instrument men, draughtsmen, surveyor, assistant engineer, night foreman for the outfall sewer, assistant superintendent for the outfall sewer, an inspector and a messenger, all for the city's engineer department; a tool sharpener, a fuel inspector, a building inspector, an assistant book-keeper, a superintendent's clerk, a carpenter, all for the school department; general attendants at the Public Library and a page for this institution; an assistant assessment clerk for the opening and widening of streets; a machinist for the street department; an engineer for a pneumatic sweeper; a fire inspector; a building inspector; a clerk for the electrical department.

At the same time there will be held examinations for candidates for the positions of principals and assistant principals in the Public Library and for general attendants for the Library.

Those intending to take any of these examinations are required to appear before the Civil Service Commissioners not less than eight days before the date fixed for the examination, and file their applications.

Street Sprinklers Busy.

Street Superintendent Hanley has all his street sprinkling force at work again with the exception of ten wagons. These are held up because of the shortage of laborers for this department. Hanley stated yesterday that he believed the sprinkling service could be continued without further reductions this fall, because of shortage of water.

Protests on Sixth Street.

The Board of Public Works has set October 8, at 3 o'clock p.m., as the time for hearing protests on the proposed widening of Sixth street from Los Angeles street to San Pedro street. The protest of the Church of the Nazarene is the one specifically mentioned in the notice, but other protests will be heard at that time, if presented.

Many Children Vaccinated.

Yesterday the City Health Office broke all records for the vaccination of children. Eleven hundred children were treated, and the crowds of youngsters and their mothers filled the health office, the City Hall Park paths, and extended out to the street. Drs. L. M. Powers and H. Garcelon and City Bacteriologist Leonard had ten assistants in this enormous work, and the lines passed in review before the assistants who prepared the little arms for the reception of the virus, and then passed them on to the physicians who applied the vaccine points. Last Saturday there were 700 children vaccinated, and this was supposed to break all former records, but the result of yesterday make Los Angeles the best vaccinated city in the United States. A large percentage of these children give their former residence as San Francisco.

City Hall Notes.

The Board of Public Works has extended the time for the completion of the third section of the city's storm drain system until November 15.

The Water Commissioners have completed an inspection of the city's reservoirs, and find that, despite the hot weather of the past few days, the conditions are fairly satisfactory. A chemical analysis of water taken from the West Jefferson street wells, the Vernon reservoir and the Buena Vista reservoir has been made by City Chemist E. H. Miller, and he reports the quality good from all these sources of supply.

The City Council has passed the demand of Charles W. Eberlein for $500 for pawment of lands desired by the city in the Owens River Valley in the carrying forward of the Los Angeles aqueduct project.

The report of the gas inspector for the month of September shows the collection of one inspection fee—amounting to 50 cents. The salary of the gas inspector is $150 per month.

Final ordinances have been passed by the City Council for the sewering of Avenue 57, Avenue 53, Avenue 55, the opening of Darwin avenue, between Main and Doullard streets, and the confirming the assessment district formed for this improvement.

Property owners have petitioned for the privilege of improving by private contract Twelfth street, between Harvard boulevard and Cahuenga street.

A petition has been filed for the improvement of Boylston street between Court street and Colton street, and there has also been presented an agreement of E. S. Todd to fill in the block adjoining this street on the west side, or, in case of failure to do so, to pump out any accumulations of storm water at his own expense, in consideration of benefits derived by him through the city's omission of a pipe culvert.

A petition has been presented from property owners on Wallace street asking that that street, between Helen and Carillo streets, be improved under the bond provisions of the Vrooman act.

New street improvements ordered by the City Council, which has passed the final ordinances therefor, includes Western avenue, portions of Griffin avenue, Santa Monica avenue, Abbott Place, Ninth street, between Olive and Figueroa streets; Wilshire boulevard and Wilshire Terrace.

Want Convention Held Here.

Fielding J. Stilson, a member of the Executive Committee of the American Civic Association, which holds its annual convention in Milwaukee, October 24-25, has requested the City Council to extend this body an invitation to hold its annual session next year in Los Angeles.

New Meter Rates.

The Board of Water Commissioners has filed with the City Clerk, for presentation to the City Council, a request that the Council approve its proposed new schedule for rates for water through meters. This change provides the following schedule: Seven cents per 100 cubic feet, provided that if the amount of any bill shall not be an exact multiple of 5 cents such bill shall be reduced or increased to the next nearest multiple of 5 cents, and that the monthly minimum rate for water consumers through meters shall be: For 5-8-inch and ¾-inch meters, 75 cents per month; for 1-inch meters, $1 per month; for 1¼-inch meters, $1.50 per month; for 2-inch meters, $2 per month; for 3-inch meters, $3 per month, and for 4-inch meters, $4 per month.

Vital Statistics.

The city health department reports the total number of deaths during the month of September as 250. Of these, 154 were males and 96 were females; and 236 were whites, 10 were negroes and 4 were Mongolians. The total number of births reported during the month were 336; 179 males and 157 females. Of these 333 were white and 3 were negroes. The death rate for September was fifteen to the thousand of population, which is considerably below the average rate.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

CURIOUS CASE IS COMPTON'S.

BLOSSOMS AS A MUNICIPALITY WITH TERRITORY.

Incorporated During Boom Times and Then Cut Down to Infinitesimal Limits With Only Five Voters and the City Died—Supreme Court Now Resurrects It.

Incorporation is in the air and every little town wants to assume the dignity of municipal honors. But it is not often that a town is only incorporated and entitled to such dignities as belong to a city of the sixth class without knowing it, and yet that is just the position that Compton has been in.

As far back as May 4, 1888, Compton incorporated as a city of the sixth class, but two years was long enough to work disenchantment. The "boom" ceased to boom and such residents as there were in and about Compton were just as eager to disincorporate as they had been before to incorporate. But they found themselves with a white elephant on their hands, for there was no way by which they might shed their undesired honors.

Seeking for advice they were advised that though no laws existed allowing them to disincorporate, they might legally commit municipal harikari by cutting themselves to pieces—the municipality not individually—and hold an election for the exclusion of territory not desired by the municipality. On September 22, 1890, an election was held and it was carried almost unanimously that half of the municipal territory be dropped off, and it was so ordered. With this dropping of half the territory went nearly three-fourths of the population. Afterward, on January 5, 1891, a second election was held to shed off another big chunk of the incorporated city, and when this was done only eighty acres remained of the pretentious city of Compton that originally had about 600 acres within its boundaries.

But in this eighty-acre city there were only five voters, not enough to furnish city officials and the emasculated municipality just laid down and died from inanition. Such nominal city officials as there were have mostly died. It was a trying position to fill, for the burden of having nothing to do and not receiving any pay for doing it bore heavily upon the office-holder's mind. It didn't seem in the eternal fitness of things that a city official should work for no pay.

Since those old days things have changed and again Compton got the incorporation fever. A year ago the citizens desired to incorporate, but were advised that the old incorporation proceedings had complicated the situation. The lawyers found that there was an incorporation—the old eighty-acre tract—but it had relapsed into acreage and a new town had sprung into existence about the middle of the first incorporation as it stood before the slicing process began.

Attorneys Emmett Wilson and E. T. Sherer studied the situation and filed with the Governor a petition, signed by 75 per cent. of the electors of what claimed to be the old original incorporation, asking that he appoint three persons as a Board of Election Commissioners to call and hold an election.

Gov. Pardee referred the matter to the Attorney-General, and he advised that the petition be denied inasmuch as the municipality, though apparently dead, might affect in some way vested interests, and without a court decision it would be wise not to commit the commissioners. The petition was turned down.

Then E. E. Elliott, representing the petitioners, filed a petition in the Supreme Court asking that a writ of mandate issue against the Governor directing him to appoint the commission asked for. The Supreme Court granted the writ and incidentally held that a municipality cannot be disincorporated by exclusion of territory when such exclusion leaves an insufficient number of citizens to form a city government.

Both of the old-time elections held for slicing purposes are held to be void, and consequently the city of Compton stands as a municipality of the sixth class, and has about 600 acres of ground to play with. The point where the electric car stops is about the center of the municipality, and from now on the resurrected city will move fast to be worthy of its age as an incorporated one.

A DOUBLE STORY.

WILLIAM M'AULLEY GOES HOME.

In the early morning hours yesterday Williams McAulley was arrested on the complaint of his wife that he had snapped his pistol at her, and that her life was in danger. The man was taken to the County Jail, but as his wife failed to lodge any formal complaint against her spouse he was allowed to go free later in the day.

The McAulleys live at the corner of Barrel and Dayton streets, just west of the Temple-street line, and the husband for a while was doing clerical service with the Fifth Street Department Store. He claimed that the shooting story was a figment of his wife's imagination, and that at certain critical times she becomes mentally unbalanced and sometimes inclined to violence, though at other times a loving and faithful wife. On account of his wife's variable temperment he has refused to keep a pistol in the house, and had not had the slightest trouble at the time she claimed he was threatening her life.

Ex-Mayor Snyder interested himself in the case yesterday morning, and as the husband was turned loose nothing developed to actually show whose version of the early morning transaction was correct.

WIFE WAS DELIBERATE.

SHE PRACTICED POLYANDRY.

A Frenchman named Casimir Disdier fell deeply in love with the woman he afterwards made his wife, and she responded in such orthodox manner that he felt sure that he was mated for life, and was going to be happy ever after. On April 19, last, the marriage took place and for a short time the husband lived in a fool's paradise. There were some goings and comings of his brand new wife that he didn't quite understand, but he ultimately solved the mystery.

Disdier discovered that his wife had since last January been living with one James Ferguson as his wife at No. 716 Lamar street and later at No. 117 South Avenue 20, and that his own marriage to the woman had been merely an added bow to her string even though made along legal lines by a marriage license. Yesterday Disdier said that he thought if it was all the same to the court he would like to have a divorce from the wife whose affections had been preempted. Judge Trask was sympathetic, the law acquiscent, and the decree was ordered.

ROMANCE AND WHISKY.

UNFROCKED PRIEST INDULGES.

With a graceful if somewhat scornful toss of her head, Mrs. Amelia B. Doyle yesterday stated hesitatingly that her husband had been a priest in the Roman Catholic church.

Mrs. Doyle is of foreign extraction, and of a striking rather than a beautiful type. She stated that she was manager of the dressmaking department in a large department store at Boise City, when she married, in April of last year.

Though not stated in so many words the inference was conveyed that for love of her, Father Doyle faced the censure of his church, and sought in her arms a compensation. But within two months he was disillusioned—and so was she. Plain George D. Doyle discovered that his education for the priesthood had not equipped him with such mental capital as would carry him ahead in the business world. He took to drink.

Then his secret knowledge of naughty words found outward expression, and he cursed like a trooper. Then this ex-priest took to beating his wife, and so violently that he laid her up in bed. On one occasion he lifted her up and threw her out of the window. Not being able to earn any money the wife had to be the bread winner, and in order to have a broader field the Doyles came to this city. They lived at No. 834 South Hope street until Doyle had the idea that he would go to Searchlight and take up mining.

But he could not make mining a success as he kept on drinking to excess. One night he hit his wife on the spine with one of his miner's boots and she was then confined to her bed and had to be tended by the neighbors. After that experience she returned to Los Angeles and began the suit for divorce, which was granted by Judge James.

THREW HIM OUT.

MRS. NOURSE WON THE VICTORY

Floyd Lewis, a young man who has dabbled in real estate, wants Mrs. Eva M. Nourse, who also is a dabbler in real estate, to pay over $2500 as damages. Because he wouldn't get off the tract of land for which she was agent quick enough, Mrs. Nourse hired men and threw his real estate shack onto the street. And Mr. Lewis was very much grieved as he claimed his fair opponent in the real estate business had hurt some of his office furniture as well as his feelings.

The suit to determine the damage claim went to trial before Judge Wilbur yesterday. It appeared that Mrs. Nourse was acting as the agent for the Arlington Heights tract last year, and on September 28 Lewis appeared on the scene for the purpose of dickering with her on a joint partnership proposition. The woman real estate trader had a shack office on the tract with telephones and all the accessories of an ordinary real estate office, and after some conversation it appeared as if a basis of agreement had been arrived at.

Mrs. Nourse drafted a contract which she submitted to Lewis to sign, but he held it up while he established himself on the tract by erecting a little shack office. That done he sent a contract of his devising to Mrs. Nourse to sign, retaining the one she had drafted and saying nothing about it. But the two contracts were dissimilar in the terms, and Mrs. Nourse refused to sign the one drawn by Lewis and when he refused to sign the one she had drawn he was given three days within which to remove his brand new real estate tract off the place. But possession is (sometimes) nine points of the law and Lewis stood pat.

On the fourth day two husky laborers hired by telephone from an employment bureau loomed up and made short work of Lewis's office. As the sun went down a pile of broken and disjointed lumber was stacked neatly on the street, and Mrs. Eva Nourse was again undisputed agent for the Arlington Heights tract.

Then Lewis began to feel sore and claimed that his office furniture had been batted about, and that on several counts he had been damaged to the extent of $2500. When concluded the court will take the case under submission.

CHARTER CHANGES TO BE VOTED ON.

A GAME of checkmate was that played by Mayor McAleer with the City Council yesterday in regard to the proposed amendments to the city's charter. As a result the whole project had a narrow escape from death.

McAleer was opposed to the proposition to extend the life of street-railway franchises, and early yesterday morning declared that he would never sign the ordinance which combined this proposed amendment with the others.

The Mayor was willing to place his signature on the sections providing for increasing the powers of the Board of Public Works, so that it might more satisfactorily handle the business for the Owens River project; and during the forenoon he held a consultation with City Attorney Matthews and Councilmen Blanchard and Kern, and an agreement was reached whereby the Council was to split the ordinance, placing the Owens River provisions in one and the franchise provisions in the other. The Mayor intimated that he would then sign the first, but that he would veto the one providing for the longer life of franchises.

It was the understanding among the Councilmen that the last-named ordinance would be passed over the Mayor's veto, and both ordinances would be rushed to press so that they could appear this morning. A special session was called for 8 o'clock.

But, in the make-up of the amendment propositions the one in which Councilman Ford of the First Ward was particularly interested—that providing for the creation of new city wards—was left out. Ford insisted that this must be included in the list if the ordinances were to have his support. This caused a scurrying about, and finally City Attorney Mathews prepared the new provisions.

Then another difficulty arose. It requires seven votes in some cases to pass an ordinance over the veto of the Mayor, and after the vote of the day before, Councilman Smith had started away on his vacation, thinking the troubles over the proposed charter amendments were all settled. Councilman Howton was avowedly opposed to the passage of the franchise-extension ordinance, and Councilman Summerland had been away for several weeks on leave of absence.

The time slipped by until a second call was issued for a special session at 10 o'clock. Meanwhile telephone, messenger boys and police were set to work to try and find Summerland, in order to get seven votes. Finally a third call was issued, for 11:30 o'clock, and at 11 came the word that the much-wanted Councilman had been located and was bound for the City Hall. It was a false alarm, and Summerland did not appear.

At 11:45 o'clock a fourth call for a special session was drawn up, and the Council got down to business.

The Mayor was requested to return unsigned the ordinance passed the day before, and the Council then reconsidered its action, and placed the amendments in four ordinances. The proposition to lengthen the life of franchises so that all would expire in 1940 was placed in one; and the street railway freight-carrying provisions were placed in another.

The Mayor promptly sent these ordinances back with a short veto message, and they were then passed over his veto, the City Attorney ruling that six votes were sufficient.

The ordinances providing for an increase of power for the Board of Public Works, inorder to handle the Owens River project, was passed.

The ordinance providing or the creation of new wards was not taken up until 12:15 o'clock this morning, and was discussed for a long period before it was passed. It received the Mayor's signature and will appear in the official paper this morning.

The amendment dealing with the creation of new city wards adds to the description of the present nine wards the following:

"And the Council herein provided shall have power by ordinance to establish and change the boundaries of said wards whenever it may deem the same to be necessary; but until changed by the Council the said wards shall remain as above described and established; and any of said wards may be divided and new wards created therefrom in the following manner, and the number of wards shall not be greater than fifteen.

"Whenever the population of any of the said wards is so increased as to render, in the opinion of said Council, a division of such wards into two or more wards necessary, such division may be done by ordinance, passed by two-thirds vote of the whole Council; provided, however, that no such ordinance shall go into effect before thirty days from the time of its final passage and its approval by the Mayor; and such ordinance shall be subject to the provisions of Section 199b of this charter.

"That whenever a new ward is created a Councilman for such additional word thus created shall be elected at a special election to be ordered by the Council within three months from the time said ward is created, unless a general city election shall occur within three months from said time.

"All wards which may be hereafter created shall be composed of adjacent and compact territory, and whenever a ward is divided into two or more wards, as hereinbefore provided, such wards shall contain as nearly an equal number of inhabitants as may be practicable.

"Whenever any new ward is created all the wards of the city, including such new ward, shall be numbered by the City Council consecutively from one to the highest number, thus created, and in the numbering thereof said City Council shall have power to change the number of any existing ward, if it shall deem the same to be expedient.

"If the number of members of the City Council is increased by the creation of new wards at any time as hereinprovided, two-thirds of the whole number of members as thus increased, whatever the same may be, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business by the said City Council."

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

THE MINOR CHARGE. Chris Wright, who was arrested on a charge to murder, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Smith to an assault with a deadly weapon, and was sent to the County aJil for six months. Wright is a deep sea cook but was discharged by Capt. Fry, with whom he had sailed. Wright was just closing with another ship captain when Fry came along and spoke in such a derogatory way of his late cook that Wright lost the place. Then words were exchanged and a row followed during which the sailor man hit the captain over the head with a piece of iron pipe.

THREATENS SUICIDE. Addie Dunn was committed to the State Hospital at Patton by Judge Gibbs yesterday. Three times the woman has been under restraint in asylums and recently she again became a mental wreck. At times she becomes so violent that she has to be constantly watched as she threatens to commit suicide.

THE HOWARD DIVORCE. Sylvia Howard was divorced from Sanborn Howard, on the ground of desertion. The parties were married in this city in August, 1890, and on July 1 of last year the husband went away.

GOT APPENDICITIS. Mary J. Hyans is suing the Los Angeles Railway Company to recover $5571 as damages for injuries sustained in an accident. Mrs. Hyans was on a car going from Evergreen avenue to Spring and First streets, but at Anderson and East First street the car collided with a Salt Lake Depot car switching from one track to the other, and the car in which the plaintiff was seated was upset. Mrs. Hyans avers that she was badly bruised and shaken up, her injuries resulting in acute appendicitis and paralysis of the bowels.

PROMISED TO PAY. The Horseshoe Pier Amusement Company at Ocean Park is suing Sarah Kirvin for $450, being the amount of the contribution she is alleged to have promised toward the fund to build a pier near the foot of Marine street, and the amusement devices in connection with it. The local bank received these promises of contributions and when $40,000 had been promised the plaintiff corporation was formed and the pier was built. But the defendant never has paid up on her subscription and refuses to pay, hence the present action to recover.

PICO DIVORCE. Anna C. Pico was granted a divorce from Wesley Pico, on the ground of failure to provide. The parties were married in this city in November, 1903.

TEN DAYS HONEY. Mary Burnham was divorced yesterday from George Burnham, on the ground of failure to provide. The parties married at Pueblo, on June 18, 1900, and on June 28 of the same year there was a separation.

COMMINGS DIVORCE. May H. Commings obtained a decree divorcing her from Everett S. Cummings Tuesday. The parties married in May, 1880, in Wisconsin, but six years ago the husband left his wife and two boys.

ADULTERY CHARGED. Roscoe H. Folsom of San Gabriel, has been divorced from Florence R. Folsom, on the ground of adultery. The marriage took place in Missouri on November 13, 1892, there being three children of the marriage. Mrs. Folsom's name was associated with that of John Heflin.

BIT HIS EAR. Harry Whitfield, a colored man, was Tuesday found guilty before Judge Smith and a jury, of having committed mayhem in biting the ear of Fritz Gustafson, on July 19. The men became involved in a fight and the colored man seized the left ear of his opponent and chewed it. Whitfield will be sentenced on Friday.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

BOY BURGLARS BEFORE COURT.

YOUNG CRIMINALS ARRAIGNED ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

Young Weinert, Who Gives His Name as Smith, Appears to Enjoy Proceedings and Only Grins When Bound Over to Higher Court—Epperly Case Continued.

Harry Magee, Charles Smith and Edward Epperly appeared before Justice Austin yesterday afternoon to answer to a charge of burglary. The preliminary examination of the three boy burglars, none of whom is of age, attracted a crowd, and was the chief feature of interest in the police courts yesterday.

Smith and Magee are jointly charged with burglary, and were bound over to the Superior Court. Bail is fixed at $2000 each. Epperly's case was continued until Friday of next week.

During the proceedings yesterday, Smith, whose correct name is said to be Charles Weinert, seemed to take the whole matter as a joke. He laughed and chatted with his companions, and appeared to regard himself as a hero. He grinned saucily at the justice, and stared around the courtroom, evidently enjoying the notoriety he has jumped into.

When asked if he had any testimony to offer in his own behalf, he muttered something inaudible to any one except the court, and merely grunted when his case was referred to the higher court.

Smith, or Weinert, is known to the police, and they say he is one of the worst youthful criminals in the city. He appears to be the leader of the three lads, and yesterday engaged in repeated whispered conversations with the other two, and it was necessary to remove him to another part of the courtroom during the trial.

Relatives of young Epperly were in court in an endeavor to secure his release on bail. An endeavor to reduce the amount to $1500 failed. Epperly is said to have been drawn into the difficulty by the other lads. He is aged 15 years.

Jumps His Bail.

C. C. Rogers, whose trial on a battery charge was set in Justice Chambers' court Tuesday afternoon, failed to appear, and his bail, fixed at $50, was forfeited. A bench warrant was issued for the runaway, who is supposed to have left town.

HANDSOME TRIBUTE TO TROLLEY KING.

Pasadena Board of Trade and the Citizens of Southern California Do Honor to Henry E. Huntington at Brilliant Banquet.

HENRY E. HUNTINGTON.

SUPERB in its appointments, delightful in its cuisine, and brilliant in the character of the company assembled around Mr. Linnard's hospitable tables, the banquet tendered last evening to H. E. Huntington at Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, was one of the most notable tributes ever paid to a citizen of Southern California.

It was a heartfelt expression, on the part of Southern California citizens, and the Board of Trade of Pasadena in particular, of the debt of gratitude the people of these valleys owe to Mr. Huntington for their great progress, and of their good wishes for his future. Mr. Huntington has been a resident of Los Angeles for about eight years. In that time he has been the means of investing hereabouts $40,000,000.

It is a fact that when he first turned his attention to Los Angeles he did so because he realized that the street railway system of the city, which was languished for lack of strong management, could be made a great investment. He gained control of it as a speculation, still intending to devote his time to his enormous interests in the city of Newport News.

Now Mr. Huntington intends to spend the rest of his days here, and make Southern California his master interest. His enterprise, which was the cause of last night's tribute by his friends, has been the means of the construction of more than seven hundred miles of street and inter-urban railway lines. His companies employ over four thousand men, and the monthly payroll amounts to more than a quarter of a million dollars. These are the facts which caused leading citizens of Southern California last night to storm Mr. Huntington and his works with enthusiastic approbation.

FAIRYLAND SCENE.

The very scene of fairyland into which the assemblage marched to resonant strains of music was a tribute to Mr. Huntington that it seemed could hardly be added to. Flowers carry words that men cannot speak, and the great dining-room was abundantly graced with flowers, and of no color but Mr. Huntington's favorite, pink. Pink and green, that was the color scheme carried out to the minutest detail, even to the miniature trolley cars formed in ice cream and to the delicate pink rose petals in the finger bowls. The tables formed a great monogram of "H.E.H.," the initials faultlessly interwoven. In the middle of the crossbar of the "H" a remarkable floral piece representing a trolley car reated in a bank of ferns and roses. The car had its little chairs filled with smiling passengers, its motorman and conductor, and seemed ready to start, but its trolley was off—for there was no wire.

Over all was draped the great canopy of smilax, strung closely, more closely and drooping toward the corners and side walls from the center that enough to make an immense umbrella. Palms and potted plants transformed the broad walk at the entrance to the hotel into a lane, softly lighted by the name "Huntington" done in incandescent lights.

AT THE BOARD.

At the banquet board things appeared in front of the guests so quietly that they seemed to come by magic, and for two hours the royal feast held sway. When the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" floated into the room, men were upon their feet instantly and the song rang joyously from 150 throats. A splendid quartette of well-rendered numbers met with favor. Sections of the monogram vied with each other in hilarity, and when Mr. Huntington laughed the whole room laughed with him. There was no man present who enjoyed the event more than he, and there are few men who laugh with such jovial wholeheartedness. Dr. Robert J. Burdette, toastmaster, sat upon his right, and where Burdette is laughter bubbles and roars.

As the long file of white-robed bearers of the feast left the room for the last time, the toastmaster leaned forward in his chair, placed his finger on his lips, and looked serious for the first time during the evening. At a glance he saw that the time had come: he felt the pulse of the room, and knew that all were sumptuously filled, which, it is said, means happiness; he arose and rapped for order.

SAYS BURDETTE.

"Turn the headlight on me," he said. "Smoking on the rear seats only." Like the very rap of his knuckles on the table his wit snapped forth sharp and clear until men wiped their beaded brow with their napkins, held their sides, and all but cried for help. "Pasadena has honored me with the position of toastmaster until each year I am placed higher and higher upon a pedestal of honor," continued Mr. Burdette. "I will need an air ship soon, for I claim this position as a life office unthreatened by civil service ruling.

"P. T. Barnum appeared before a Lyceum audience on a certain occasion, and the chairman of the Lecture Committee was introducing him to an audience that had known him for forty years. As the chairman closed his biographical anthem with the usual doxology of 'being privileged to present to this refined and cultured audience the man who ——' a man in the audience whispered to his neighbor, 'That's Barnum, all right; I 've known him since I was a boy; but who is that little fellow introducin' of him?'

"Everybody knows the name of the mighty liner, the ocean greyhound ready to be unleashed for the long six-day race across the Atlantic, but nobody knows or cares for the name of the puffing little tug that is leading the great three-decker out of the slip into the course. Then finally when the great ship swings clear and a glance is taken at the painted characters on the little fellow, there at the place where the speaker ought to be (Interruption of violent laughing.) Pardon my naughti-cal terms. (Greater applause.) My father was a whaler. (Spasms of applause.) It is finally seen that there is not even a name there. It is number 23."

"I am grateful to my neighbors this evening therefore, for the pleasant notoriety afforded me, of being silhouetted in the noon-tide glare of the trolley headlight, while I stand at the station switch, and signal a man whose modesty veils his greatness, to come out of the main-line and let us see how he makes the wheels go round. Some of them.

"It has taken thousands of years to drive the brute out of man. Time was, when the barbarian element of destruction was the animating spirit of even the great builders. When no man built, save on the ruins of another man's work. When the conqueror first tore down then builded up, until today, the ages of yesterday have little to show the world of today, save ruin. Even in our own day, there have been and there are men, some of them falsely called 'captains of industry'—a term of doubtful honor, derived from the old "Chevalier of Industry," which means a polished thief, a black-leg who robbed his friends and was a most accomplished liar and pick-pocket, who moved in good society—even today are there 'captains of industry' who are merely wreckers, and thrive on the misfortunes of their neighbors.

"To the man whom we meet to honor at this board, has been given the work of a man. Not to scatter, but to increase. To build, not on wreckage but to hew the foundation on stones of his great enterprises from the common quarries accessible to the hands of any man with equal faith in the destiny of the work he does and the land in which he builds. To build, not on tears, and bitter disappointment and human despair, but on jeweled cubes of hope. Not amid the dust of crashing towers and crumbling walls of other men's endeavors and failures, but along the open ways which other men, with souls of distrust, had blazed with the warning 'impossible!' Amid the songs that lighten labor and the laughter that sweetens toil he builded. He found the wild, and he civilized it. He found the bad and he made it good. The good that lay in his way, he made better. And the better he promises to make the best. He took nothing away from other toilers. He took what they did not want. He said to meh, 'Do you want this old sheep trail for a highway?' and they scorned it with an emphatic 'no.' Then he sent his cars hurrying along the despised way in shuttle trains. It was the privilege of any man to have builded there, who knew how to build on Faith. He found the scattered towns hours apart. He drew them close together by the minutes of steel and Edison. He took away the old whip and put a controller handle in the hands of the street car driver of the bob-tail car, and gave him a new name, graver responsibilities and a higher dignity. He doped the patient mule with electricity and changed him into a streak of lightning. He found a narrow gauge right of way, and said, 'what is this?' We said, 'that is a trolley line.' He stooped, and pulled the rails a few inches apart, and said, 'now what is it?' We said, 'a system.' And it was the finest, most perfect, in all ways of excellence, the best system of urban and inter-urban trolley system in the world, bar none.

"His only patent on his work, his only copyright, is the one open to all men who will use it—Faith in the country he lives in. Belief in his town and every town around it. He runs a line out across a sheep ranch, forsaken ever by the despairing shepherd and the starving sheep, and lo, a broad avenue of dustless driveway, fringed with palms and peppers, selvedged with curbed sidewalks, and here and there and all along the pleasant homes springing up like the pictures of a mirage; the roses blossoming over the doorway where the wife sits awaiting the coming of the bread-winner where the laughter and singing of the playing children makes the emerald lawn seem like the gate of heaven to the tired worker, escaping from desk or work bench, shop or office, in the crowded, noisy, dusty city.

"He reached an arm of steel out into a desolate sand patch shunned even by the sea gulls and sand pipers, and lo, at the magic of the ringing gong, Venice arose without its beggare, Naples without its stinks. He wrought with a pay roll as long as his lines. Greek, Mexican, Chinese, Japanese, his timekeepers kept the roll of the tribes of Babel, but his money talked a simple 'Esperanto' known to every ear. He was not the advance agent of Prosperity! He was her escort. Arm in arm they walked together through this pleasant land of Southern California, and she whispered in his heart the promise of abundant reaping to the man who sows abundantly. His faith in this country, inspired faith in doubting hearts. Columbus had left him no new country to discover—he did the next thing—he created a new country. Let us rise and greet the guest of honor, H. E. Huntington—long life; long lines; long leases!"

WORDS THAT STAND OUT.

Minutes of applause brought Mr. Huntington to his feet, and for minutes he stood there while the words of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" held him smiling and even singing himself.

"Gentlemen, I thank you."

It was all that he said, but somehow he said it in a way that made the simple, brief words stand out strongly in the record of the evening.

W. E. Dunn was joked over by the toastmasters, just as Mr. Burdette joked over all the speakers until for sheer exhaustion from laughing it was a relief to hear the quiet, forceful "Billy" respond for Mr. Huntington and point out the traits of Mr. Huntington's character which have enabled him to accomplish things in Southern California.

"Of course, I can't speak for Mr. Huntington," said "Billy." "If I did I would lose my job. But I can tell you of Mr. Huntington's fondness for this land of sunshine and flowers. I can tell you that he thinks that President Roosevelt is the greatest President of the greatest nation in the world, and that California is the greatest State in that nation.

"Mr. Huntington's ruling characteristic is his love of work, and I cannot but think how some of us have grown gray-headed trying to follow him. He believes in his railroad system and believes in asking for and using what is right, and I want to tell you that his fond hope is that that railroad system will benefit the people in the same way that it will benefit him, and that it shall become popular with the people. I want to tell you that Southern California has become his home, and that he wants to go down the shady side of the incline of life with you gentlemen. This is how he feels toward you. It is needless to say that he appreciates your honor and for him I thank you."

Lee C. Gates in strong and eloquent terms expressed the sentiment. "Los Angeles—the Center of the Huntington System." He pointed out the wonderful development of Los Angeles and forecasted a Los Angeles of the future which shall reach from the mountains to the sea. His tribute to Mr. Huntington's part in the development of Los Angeles was forceful.

Stephen Townsend of Long Beach spoke for "The Southern Extensions," and Seward A. Simons pictured "Pasadena and Her Environs."

The menu cards were sumptuous souvenirs. They contained a handsome crabon photograph of Mr. Huntington and a hand-painted map of his railroads.

CATALINA ISLAND BRIEFS.

AVALON, Oct. 3.—H. E. Fletcher, the popular manager of Hotel Metropole, has handed in his resignation and will retire from the position he has ably filled for nearly three years, on Friday next. He will be succeeded by T. C. King of San Francisco, but later of Hotel Hughes of Fresno.

The wire fence on the sea wall in front of Hotel Metropole was removed, today, the management deeming the fence unnecessary as the invaders, should they come again, can be repulsed by other means.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. George Gemelere, Miss Christine Lindkowsky, Peter Reyes and John Kassar started on a ten days' camping expedition around the island.

Piano Selling On A Large Scale

The Wiley B. Allen Co. Open Their Large, New Store to the Public

A Big Stir in Music Circles; Rare Offerings in Famous Makes of Pianos

A FEW days ago the Wiley B. Allen Co. announced the opening of their immense Music House at 416-418 So. Broadway, the building formerly occupied by the Broadway Van Nuys Hotel Company (Van Nuys Annex.) This is an extraordinary event.

It means the permanent establishment in Los Angeles of the largest and wealthiest music firm in this section of the country. A formal opening has been planned to take place as soon as the large shipment of pianos, now enroute, reaches here.

In the meantime, while the carpenters and painters are very much in evidence, and the finishing of the building is going on, the firm has hurriedly moved in all the stock from the old store and the large warehouse, including nearly two hundred pianos in all, and is conducting a gigantic removal or opening sale.

This action was cumpulsory. It was agreed to vacate the old store at a certain time, and the workmen promised to be out of the way--but it's the old story—caught between the two. There was but one way out of the dilemma—sell the present stock on short notice.

The first floor of the big building presents a queer picture—a busy scene. A regular wilderness of pianos, worth from $100 to $1500 each. Grand pianos, upright pianos, big pianos, little pianos—pianos of every size and description.

There is no doubt about the success of the present undertaking. This has already been assured by the large number of representative business men who have paid visits to the new establishment and purchased pianos.

A large force of salesmen is kept busy from morning until night. The firm has been greatly surprised by the large number of the highest priced pianos being bought.

The Knabe, Fischer, Ludwig and Packard pianos have the lead, as the general public is most familiar with these makes.

Many a home will be made glad during the next few days by the opportunity to secure a piano, as prices on the highest grades have been lowered within the reach of every pocket book, most of them being sold on payments of $8 and $10 per month.

PART II: EDITORIAL, LOCAL AND BUSINESS SECTION

Pen Points

After awhile the beef packers will find out that the only way is the right way.

Secretary Root is now interesting himself in the Cuban situation, which will also help some.

It is not a question of the annexation of Cuba, unless Cuba, by her own devilment, forces it.

A great many of the Cubans are half-breeds, and it must be admitted that they act that way.

Walter Parker cannot return any too soon. He never had a better chance in his life to earn his salary.

The "machine" will do well to bear in mind that the men who are behind Dr. Lamb are no mutton heads.

In pursuit of his favorite sport of golf, Mr. Rockefeller doubtless, also, often thinks of the men he has put in holes.

The Cuban rebels are to be sufficiently punished. They will be compelled to return to their homes and go to work.

Some publisher might make a great hit in this country by printing a magazine without pictures of actors and actresses in it.

Judge Parker might have spared himself the trouble of making William R. Hearst out a liar. The country was already well aware of it.

The Latin-American has a great many of the characteristics of a child. We must be patient with him, and teach him his responsibilities as best we may.

The Prohibition platform declares in favor of the Owens River project. The day has not yet come when a Prohibitionist can be found in opposition to cold water.

In his old age, Grover Cleveland evinces a pathetic desire to go down into history along with the Ananias crowd. He has just published a book of fish stories.

Miss Mae Wood says she is Tom Platt's real wife and that she "can prove it." Then, for heaven's sake, why doesn't she do so and give the public a rest?

Sometimes we think it is really a pity that the Cuban rebels laid down their arms so easily. Our marines might at last have had an opportunity to distinguish themselves.

Upton Sinclair pronounces unqualifiedly for Socialism, but it is noticed that in starting his colony on the Palisades of the Hudson he picks college professors and not stock yards employés to be his neighbors.

According to Mae Wood, Senator Platt may have been a great politician, but his private career has been such as to have totally disqualified him from acting as the leader of a Bible class in a Sunday-school.

Somebody ought to write a book on "The Automobile as an Aid to Anarchy." The buss wagon has done more than its share toward killing off millionaires and plutocrats, and is keeping the work up with deadly regularity.

One of the local candidates for office on the Prohibition ticket says "he is sure he will get there, if he gets votes enough." But it is not always so, brother. Sometimes it depends largely on the humor of the election boards.

We regret to note that Mrs. T. C. Platt regards her husband as her enemy. Husbands and wives should be the best of friends, although it is neither customary nor fashionable for them to be so, as society is now constituted.

Now that the packers have begun to sell us real chicken, we seem to fare worse than when the imitation article was being handed out to us. It is still not a question of what to eat, but what not to eat, that faces the great American public.

Mr. Rockefeller appears to be worried over the court trials he is scheduled to face in the near future. He is probably becoming aware of the fact that there are lawyers in this country whose greatest ambition is to land a billionaire in jail.

The town of Askabad, Russia, appears to be making a strong effort to live up to its name. The anarchists there have shot up the Courthouse, killing a couple of the judges, and in other gentle ways have made the place look good as a non-residential quarter.

So it was not young Teddy, but his friend, Shaun Kelly, who beat up that Boston policeman. That accounts for Kelly, all right, but where were Burke and Shea?

"Here's to the Maine,
And to h——l with Spain,
Said Kelly and Burke and Shea."

Jim Hill has arranged to sell his Great Northern ore lands to the steel trust, of which Jim is also a considerable part. It must take a good deal of the fun out of the thing for men like Jim Hill, just shuffling around that way, buying from themselves and then selling to themselves again.

POLITICAL HANGERS-ON.

Certain persons with self-interest to serve are sedulously cultivating the notion that the Republican party of the State of California is composed of Walter Parker and W. F. Herrin.

The intimation is industriously circulated that the two hundred thousand or more active Republicans in the State, who have some interest in the affairs of the party, are without visual, aural or vocal powers.

Mr. Parker and Mr. Herrin are not averse to the growth and spread of such an idea and of course make no effort to counteract its propagation. Nothing would give them greater pleasure or satisfaction than to have it generally understood that they are the cosmogony.

But what are the facts? The Republican party of California is made up of some 250,000 thinking, self-respecting citizens, of as good intellectual timber as can be found in the manhood of the Union. It is a senseless reflection upon them to assert that they are dummies, puppets, no-accounts, with no will of their own, but nose-ringed and led about by two political adventurers in the service of a great corporation.

As to Parker and Herrin, they know their game—and their game is to keep up the appearance of domination. They generally find out how things are likely to go in the State and then they jump aboard. They forsaw the defeat of Pardee and they forsook him. They earn their money by pretending to shape the policy of a great party which has always had a way of carrying out its own ideals—and these the highest ideals which any political party ever had in the history of party government.

No, the Republican party of California is not made up exclusively of Walter Parker and Herrin. There is no better nor more independent material in the Republican organization throughout the United States of America. These two so-called "bosses" are really but hangers-on. They may claim to be the big elephant in its entirety; but if the elephant is once aroused such are shaken off like flies.

It is ridiculous and conducive to mischief, to foster an impression that the great, strong Republican party of California is not capable of running its own affairs but is utterly dependent for guidance upon a couple of hangers-on who make all the capital they can out of an assumption that fails to pieces the moment it is put to the test.

It was the Republican party of California which demanded the nomination of Gillett for Governor and which will elect him. If the so-called "bosses" are shrewd enough to jump into the State band-wagon as it is going by, that does not indicate that they are the procession.

FREE TRADE VS. PROTECTION.

The Times of London congratulates the United Kingdom on the fact that its foreign commerce for August makes the following showing:

Imports	$245,000,000
Domestic exports	165,000,000
British loss for the month	$ 80,000,000

American foreign commerce for the same month was:

Exports	$129,500,000
Imports	105,500,000
American gain for month	$ 24,000,000

As between the two countries the net result of the month's work is:

British loss	$ 80,000,000
American gain	24,000,000
American gain over Great Britain	$104,000,000

On that showing of the value of protection over free trade, where does the Times of London find cause for rejoicing?

THE MEAN FLOW OF MENDACITY.

The mean flow of water in the canals and streams of Owens Valley owned by the City of Los Angeles, as shown by the official reports of United States engineers, is 27,000 miner's inches. In the face of official measurements, the organ of the power corporations persists in the stupid falsehood that "5000 inches is the limit of the city's ownership."

The estimated cost of bringing the water of Owens River to Los Angeles is $22,000,000, and yet that same miserable little rag chatters ceaselessly about "the proposal to build a fifty-million-dollar conduit."

The Narrows gallery supplies to the city's present system more than 4,000,000 gallons of water daily, and the corporation organ makes the foolish assertion that there never has been a drop of water in the gallery.

Those are only a few of "Sincere Sammy's" daily "mean flow" of mendacity.

HOW IT WORKS.

In his speech at Memphis, Tenn., on September 15, Secretary Shaw made some telling points against the Bryanistic-socialistic scheme of Federal ownership and operation of interstate railroads. Mr. Shaw pointed out that in the Treasury Department, over which he presides, more than twenty thousand public servants, exclusive of Presidential appointees, are employed. These government employés, he declared, constitute "a painstaking, conscientious body of men and women, as Federal officials go." But he said that if the same work that is performed by employés of the Treasury Department were transacted by a private corporation, it would be accomplished with one-third as many employés, and at one-third the cost. Inferentially, if the government owned and operated the railroads of the country, as Mr. Bryan advocates, the cost of operation and the number of employés would have to be increased by 200 per cent. This increased cost would necessitate a corresponding increase in the cost of transportation, and the people would "pay the freight."

Speaking of the relative promptness with which work is performed by the government and by private agencies, Mr. Shaw cited some suggestive facts. The appropriation for the Federal building in Chicago was signed by President Cleveland, yet the draft for the final payment for its construction was signed by the Secretary of the Treasury about the middle of July. Again, the Federal government spent seventeen years in dredging the Harlem River to a depth of fifteen feet for a distance of eight miles, while a private contractor excavated the subways of the borough of Manhattan and had nine miles of railway, with stations and four tracks, in operation within four years and seven months from the time of beginning work. The Pennsylvania Railroad will complete its fifteen miles of nineteen-foot waterproof tunnel under the East River to Long Island and under the city of New York within the contract period of four years.

Instances of this kind might have been multiplied indefinitely to show that almost any kind of work costs more and requires a longer time when performed by the Federal government than when it is done by private contract. This fact is well established.

Last year the railroads of the country paid $54,000,000 in State, county, municipal and township taxes. All this money would be lost to the public under government ownership, and local taxation would be correspondingly increased.

The more Mr. Bryan's scheme of public ownership is dissected, the more defective it appears. It is little wonder that Bryan himself is inclined to break down as the storm of protest, derision and indignation increases.

INSPECTION THAT INSPECTS.

A bill is to be introduced in the Illinois Legislature, at its next session, providing for the creation of a State board of competent bank examiners, whose inspection of an institution will be a guaranty of its financial stability. Representative John P. McGorty, who is to introduce the measure, holds that the present system is worse than none at all, and he declares that if his bill becomes a law it will be "a final blow to the perfunctory examination of banks by State officials."

Of principal importance among the provisions of Representative McGorty's bill are the following: (1) Abolition of the fee system and the substitution of a salary sufficient to secure men of ability for bank examiners. (2) Bank examiners to be retained permanently under civil service rules, and to be certified public accountants. (3) Assistants to be provided in sufficient number, and to be experts on the value of listed and unlisted securities, mercantile collateral and real estate; also experts on handwriting. (4) Auditing must be thorough, and must include a valuation of all securities held as collateral. (5) Loans made to stockholders must be itemized as part of the report. (6.) The State Auditor to have power to close all suspicious banks immediately, and discretionary power in the granting of charters. (7) Boards of directors must be live men, not "dummies," and will be required to certify in writing to the genuineness of notes and other securities.

If this programme can be carried out—and there is apparently no good reason why it cannot be carried out—it will go very far toward correcting some of the evils which are a source of injury and loss to legitimate banking interests. If a system of rigid inspection, such as this measure proposes, had been in force while Stensland was president of the Milwaukee Avenue Savings Bank of Chicago, it would have been practically impossible for him and his co-conspirators to loot the bank and conceal their crimes for any length of time.

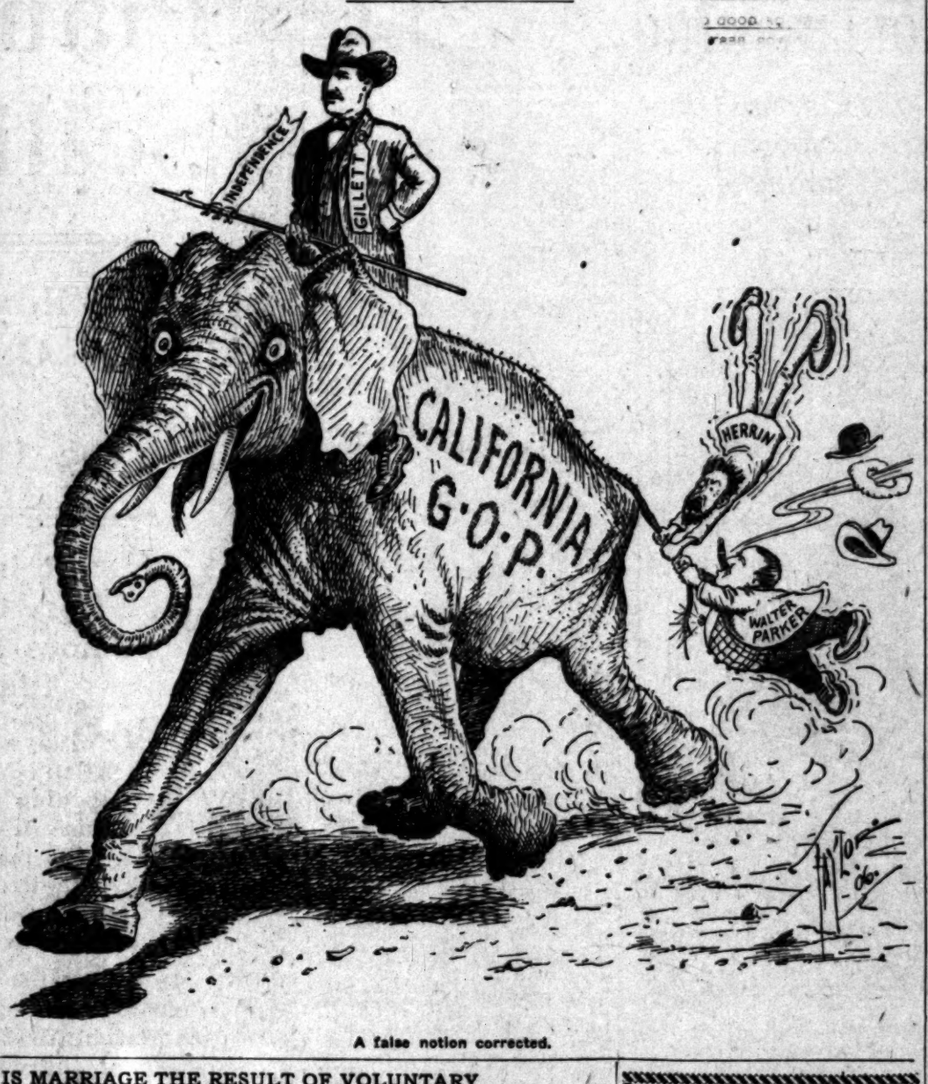
What is most needed, it would seem, is a system of bank inspection which will inspect. There is no doubt that it is possible to establish a system which will furnish far better protection than is now furnished to depositors, stockholders, and the public generally. Careless and perfunctory official examinations are answerable for a large proportion of bank failures and defalcations. It is time to take heroic measures for remedying the evil.

The present campaign is strikingly short of numerous old-time features, especially since it seems to have no candidate who can be affectionately referred to as "Honest John."

Among our troopers in Cuba, we are glad to notice the presence of Capt. Butt. If the rebels start another rough house, the captain might be a good man to butt in.

It is to be regretted, perhaps, that depositors usually wait to make a run on a bank until after the president and cashier have made a run for the grain.

ONLY A "TAIL-HOLT."



A false notion corrected.

IS MARRIAGE THE RESULT OF VOLUNTARY SELECTION OR OF A RAZZLE-DAZZLE?

BY JANIE B. JONES.

"Though fools spurn Hymen's gentle powers,
They who improve his golden hours
By sweet experience know
That marriage rightly understood
Gives to the gentle and the good
A paradise below."

Much as has been said and written on marriage, many and diverse as are its records in poetry and prose, it is yet to be explained why with the world to choose from the husband or wife so seldom possesses the peculiar trait of person or character declared beforehand to be most essential.

With such wealth of detail has every phase of the subject been discussed pro and con that one needs but half a memory to be able to cull from desultory readings any idea he might hold in reference to it.

The gamut runs from ecstatic bliss to blighting woe, and Hymen's torch and Cupid's quiver share almost equally in the attention bestowed, with the little blind god as the general favorite—due perhaps to the tendency in some quarters to regard his captivity as fatal;

"Love free as air—at sight of human ties
Spreads his light wings
And in a moment flies."

"The wedding, you know, is always before the sermon. One of the chief things wherein hanging and matrimony differ."

Such expressions as these may usually be accredited to rebellion against the necessity of paying rent, or grocery or butcher bills, and are due to an enlarged spleen, a bad liver or a flat pocketbook. They partake more of the nature of revolution against existing circumstances than rebellion against the yokefellow, which speaks in the following lines:

"In the daytime when she moved about me
In the night when she lay sleeping at my side;
Day by day and night by night I grew to hate her,
Would to God that one of us had died."

This is the cry that means rebellion against Hymen. It is the poetic expression of that fact.

It is wonderful how smoothly poetic phrases dress up a sentiment. The prose of the same sentiment may be seen in the story of the man who yoked himself with a yearling calf to break it, and found the calf possessed the greater strength and would not yield to his guidance.

As the pair cavorted wildly over the face of the earth at a reckless gait—the calf's gait—the unhappy man exclaimed in plain prose: "Darn us! Head us! Head us!"

Both poetry and prose register a robust rebellion against the yokefellow. Both show an imperative desire for divorce. In each also is revealed a condition of affairs that could not have come about except for the voluntary assumption of the yoke grown so galling—perhaps for the same reason in each case.

If Dan Cupid would quit his tricks and resign himself to seconding sober reason, would throw his glamour over the one selected, weighed and approved by common sense as the proper one to tie for life; over Griselda's brogan instead of Cinderella's slipper (for "beauty" they say "dwells in the eye of the beholder," and brogans and slippers are much the same shape after all) he and Hymen would not be so frequently at outs.

If matches, as they say, are made in Heaven, it is logical to assume that mismatches are made in the other place (the opposite place, you understand,) and that the relative number of each depends on which place wields the most potent influence over the matrimonially eligible.

With the steamship, the railway, telegraph, telephone and wireless connecting each of us with everybody else in the world, there seems no sufficient reason why the girl who says she will marry none but a tall and dark-eyed man with a black moustache and a military air, capers happily to the altar with a chunky little man with no moustache and no air at all.

Careful investigation shows that the girl who vows most positively that she will marry none but a lordly commander who treads the deck of his own warship nearly always marries a fat baker—and never after bewails the fact that she was persuaded to be false to her "ideal."

And the man who swears, swears out loud that he wouldn't marry a widow for anything in the world, announces his engagement to a quadruple plated edition of widowhood before she has time to do so, so eager is he for congratulations due.

While there may be some reason for woman's choice to be limited in the matrimonial market, why is it that man, to whom belongs the initiative in such matters, contents himself with whom he said he would not?

If one could but search the records of the court of love much light might be thrown on such momentous matters. But Cupid says "I hurl the spear—Jove directs the blow," and Jove is too arbitrary to brook human interference in his affairs.

The thing we call affinity, though mocked at by the ignorant, derided by the low, may yet be nature's own compelling force in the selection of friends and lovers.

A stranger enters a room full of people. By some illusive process he selects a friend or a foe long before he can have learned the characteristics of those about him. Yet so strong will be the attracting or the repelling force that neither time nor reason will prevail against it. "Planetary influences," said the wise men of old, and counseled implicit obedience to such impulses.

A wise young man having concluded it was time to take a wife and settle down in earnest, took counsel of experience to the end that he might make a very wise selection.

He gained knowledge from many sources. He made him a list so that no good thing might escape him or be overlooked in his search for a wife.

Industrious she must be, and learned in all domestic matters. Prudent, too, and of a decorous manner—a low voice, which was so excellent a thing in women, she must have. Beauty, which was but skin deep, need not be considered, said the wise young man, but a healthy, robust physique. Wise she must be and modest and gentle—very kindly in her ways, and deft of hand and foot—and economical surely. So the list was built up to the full count of the perfect woman nobly planned.

"I will take plenty of time, so as to be sure to find the one possessing all these good things," said the wise young man.

But one night in the early days of his quest, one night, Cupid, dancing impishly on the silvery moonbeams, flashed a ray full into a pair of soft dark eyes, a gleam of white teeth between parted red lips, a scented tress of loosened hair, breeze-blown across his cheek—and lo! he lost his list.

"She is so extravagant," said a mocking voice.

"What better use can my money be put to than to buy her pleasures?" answered the wise young man.

"But the soft voice?" as the unceasing chatter of small talk was wafted to them.

"Did ever you hear a sweeter laugh?" answered the young man fatuously.

"She knows nothing of domestic matters."

"I didn't marry for a servant!" exclaimed the forgetful young man, indignantly.

"My son," said a doting father, "If you marry a young girl she will always imagine she has done you a great favor and act accordingly. If you marry a widow she will think herself fully as good as you are. But if you will marry an old maid she will always be a little thankful like."

So the dutiful son set himself to find the old maid who would be becomingly thankful for the privilege of frying his flapjacks and darning his socks. But on the way he was snapped up by the widow, who was herself seeking a rich old bachelor, and neither the young man nor the widow, who was ten years the older, could have told what turned them from their deliberate course and added them to the overfull ranks of the mismated—made the young man, who for inclination would have wed the girl and for wisdom the old maid, take the widow who did not particularly want him, and so pave the way to darn his own socks and get up early and fry his own flapjacks ever after.

UTOPIA.

There is a garden where lilies
And roses are side by side;
And all day between them in silence
The silk butterflies glide.

I may not enter the garden,
Though I know the road thereto;
And mourn by morn to the gateway
I see the children go.

They bring back light on their faces;
But they cannot bring back to me
What the lilies say to the roses,
Or the songs of the butterflies be.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

The Anti-Football College.

The President sat in his chair—The Chair of Ancient Lit.—
The Faculty sat all about as they were wont to sit;
The Prof. of Mathematics counted sums upon his hands,
The Prof. of Deep Dynamics flipped a bunch of rubber bands,
The Prof. of Social Science rubbed a furrowed, frowning brow;
The Prof. of Mixed Psychology thought of the Then and Now.

The President began to speak, his voice was mostly groan;
"I cannot understand why we are sitting here alone;
The term began two weeks ago, and still within our halls
There are no strident whoopings and there are no raucous calls;
The bell is in the belfry and the desks are on the floor—
There's been no riot, such as in the palmy days of yore.

"No husky lads have swaggered as they loitered in to class,
No freshmen have been ordered to go out and eat the grass,
No new arrivals have been seized and chained against a tree
And forced to give their version of 'How Does the Busy Bee;'
Why should the place be vacant, and the campus silent thus?
Why is it there is no one in the whole big place but us?"

The man of mathematics tried to figure out the prob.;
The man of Social Science drew deductions on the mob
And sketched a future paper on "The Slump in Intellect;"
The one who taught psychology at once tried to collect
A lot of hazy statements on the Iffness of the That—
And lonesome waves of wonder rolled about them where they sat.

Then spoke the wise professor, he who taught dynamic force:
"Inertia may be traced, as well as motion, to its source.
I've given careful study to the absence of the yell
That used to make our campus sound like—please excuse me— Well,
I'll simply say that here's the only college in the land
At which the game of football is officially banned."

IN THE BIG INDUSTRIES

The Cotton Crop.

The cotton crop for the present [illegible] amounts to 11,330,497 bales, which the second largest on record, [illegible] exceeded only by that of the [illegible] ing year, when 13,585,000 bales [illegible] brought forward. The census [illegible] in its last report stated that 10,7[illegible] bales were ginned of the growth [illegible] 1905, leaving us to assume that [illegible] proximately 500,000 bales of the cro[illegible] the previous year came forward [illegible] make up the total for the one [illegible] passed. On September 1, [illegible] there was a surplus of co[illegible] of 1,643,351 bales. There [illegible] into sight during the year, as a[illegible] 11,330,947 bales, making a total s[illegible] of American of 12,974,298. The w[illegible] takings of American cotton have [illegible] 12,070,371, leaving a surplus on [illegible] tember 1, 1906, of 903,927, which is [illegible] 424 bales less than at the begin[illegible] of last season.

It is, therefore, a plain certainty [illegible] the crop year now begun has sta[illegible] with much less cotton to its credit [illegible] 1905-06. This decrease of 739,424 b[illegible] is about five weeks' consumption [illegible] our cotton during the months of J[illegible] and August, or the midsummer per[illegible]

Importance of the Chemist.

The world's electrical industry o[illegible] many steps in its evolution to [illegible] chemist, for without his work co[illegible] of the purity needed for the econo[illegible] cal transmission of the current co[illegible] not be had. Without him the mater[illegible] used to insulate the wires and prev[illegible] the current's escape, and the s[illegible] stances used in electric batter[illegible] would never have been found. To t[illegible] chemist are due the aniline colors a[illegible] many other coal-tar products, [illegible] abolition of which would comple[illegible] demoralize the arts and the indust[illegible] of the present. To the chemist are d[illegible] all the wonderful products of pe[illegible] leum and the gases which are bo[illegible] sooner or later to displace steam [illegible] the medium of obtaining po[illegible] through heat. Besides, he has revo[illegible] tionized medicine and thereby [illegible] longed the lives of millions. He [illegible] conquered pain with anesthetics [illegible] lessened the sum of human suffer[illegible] Great though his services have b[illegible] his work has only just begun, howev[illegible] and the marvels he will uncover in t[illegible] centuries yet to come will cast th[illegible] he has already revealed completely [illegible] the shade.

New Way to Make Steel.

According to a report which has b[illegible] reached this country from D. H. R[illegible] the Canadian commercial agent [illegible] Melbourne, Australia, the ordina[illegible] blast furnaces and converter is to [illegible] out of commission in the production [illegible] steel.

Two Australian inventors have d[illegible] covered a new process for the co[illegible] tinuous treatment of iron ore and d[illegible] clare that the results they ha[illegible] achieved are so successful that th[illegible] propose to apply for patents in th[illegible] country at once. It is called the Ba[illegible] kett-Moore process for directly co[illegible] verting iron ore into malleable iron [illegible] steel by a continuous system, claimi[illegible] a saving of 25 per cent. in the mas[illegible] facture.

The ore is simply concentrated by o[illegible] dinary methods, or, if it is magnet[illegible] it is separated electrically until th[illegible] pure oxide of iron is obtained. Th[illegible] oxide of iron is then passed throug[illegible] a revolving cylinder heated by wast[illegible] gases from subsequent operations, an[illegible] brought in the cylinder to a dull he[illegible]

It drops from the cylinder to a se[illegible] ond similar cylinder, and in the latte[illegible] it is brought into contact with th[illegible] deoxidizing gas, which is force[illegible] through and brought into contac[illegible] with the heated ore, which is the[illegible] converted into a pure iron. Accom[illegible] panied and protected by the deoxidizing gas, it is passed into a third cha[illegible] ber or melting hearth, where it fal[illegible] into a bath of molten iron and is co[illegible] verted directly into steel or balle[illegible] as malleable iron.

The inventors are claiming a [illegible] wonderful achievement, and prepa[illegible] to exploit their discovery through[illegible] the world. They claim a saving o[illegible] time and labor, the whole process b[illegible] ing automatic.

THE POLITICAL WATCH TOWER

The use of voting machines at the November election still hangs in the balance. The suspense of the situation is besprinkling with gray the head of County Clerk Keyes and is reducing his girth to an appreciable extent. The worst of it is that he will not know what course to pursue for two weeks; then he will have only about twenty days to make preparations for handling the ballots in the 264 election precincts of the county. The availability of the voting machines in the majority of the precincts of Los Angeles city depends upon the number of party and independent nominations that may be filed. If there are to be so many tickets as to exceed the capacity of the machines, the ballot of ordinary form must be used in all precincts.

Certificates of nomination by party convention are required to be filed with the County Clerk before the close of business next Saturday, and so far the Prohibition party is the only one that has come through with its certificate. The Democratic, Republican and Socialist parties are expected to file their certificates in a day or two, while the Non-partisan county organization, which nominates by petition, will have until the 17th inst., to file its application for a place on the official ballot. All other nominees by petition, whether individually or in groups, likewise have until this latter date to comply with the law, wherefore the County Clerk must wait until the 17th before he may know whether the machines are to be used or not.

Whether the county officials are preparing for the election without regard to the use of the machines. Election officers are being selected in the old way, under which more officials are required than would be the case were machines to be used. If it should turn out at the last minute that the voting machines are available some of these officers can be dropped.

Machines or no machines, the County Clerk will have a tremendous amount of work between the 17th inst. and November 6, the date of the election.

Only four weeks to the Republican City Convention and no slate in sight! Whither on the political sea may we be drifting? Less than three weeks between now and primary election day and no "dope" to guide the "boys" in the selection of delegates to the convention that is to name the Republican candidates for municipal office, and Walter Parker two thousand miles or so away! What sort of a game is this? Will the announcement of the candidates chosen by the Non-partisan City Central Committee galvanize the machine hosts into activity, or are they so certain of success that they are indifferent to the big independent movement that has been growing in these past few months? I must confess that it is all Esperanto to me.

I am informed by persons who know Walter Parker's attitude that he will not consider for a minute the indorsement of any non-partisan candidate for Mayor or for any other city office; that he prefers to face party defeat rather than to enter into an alliance that would crook party lines in the slightest degree.

There are signs, though, that members of the local Republican machine are waiting upon the city Democrats to find out that the latter insist upon putting a complete municipal ticket in the field and to have nothing to do with a non-partisan movement, thus making the opposition to the Republicans less and making it possible for the latter to win. Members of both parties have worked together before with somewhat similar aims, and it would not be unusual for them to do so again.

It is certain that an effort will be made in the Democratic City Convention to secure the indorsement of the non-partisan ticket. To forestall such action the machine workers of the Democracy are urged now to oppose the move and to stand firmly for the nomination of A. C. Harper for Mayor, together with a full Democratic ticket. "Tom" McCaffery and other Southern Pacific representatives in the Democratic ranks still smart from their defeat in the Democratic County Convention, which indorsed the non-partisan county ticket, and they are fixing up their forces to "get even" in the city convention by naming a complete party ticket, even if it should split the Republican organization—nay, for the very reason that it might.

Theodore Bell, Democratic nominee for Governor, has not given up the idea that he can make some votes in Southern California, despite the small gatherings that greeted him here last week. He is on his way south again, speaking at Santa Barbara tonight, at Ventura tomorrow evening, and he is billed to appear at the Soldiers' Home Saturday afternoon and at Venice or Ocean Park that evening. He will remain in this section of the State until the 19th inst., visiting Orange, San Diego, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, as well as Pasadena and other cities in this county.

Reports from the northern part of the State are that James N. Gillett, Republican nominee for Governor, is receiving wonderful support on his campaign tour. He has invaded Napa county, the home of his Democratic opponent, where, at a number of meetings, he was greeted with an acclaim that was surprising in view of the supposed popularity of Bell. Wherever he has gone, he has found that the mud-slinging of the opposition has served only to rally the Republicans more numerously. He makes a fine impression as a campaigner and his convincing arguments in support of his candidacy have been in strong contrast to the clap-trap indulged in by his adversary.

While Dr. W. A. Lamb's name may not appear on the Democratic ticket as candidate for Supervisor of the Third District, the name of no other candidate for the office will appear on that ticket. The Democratic faction that is controlled by the railroads and the race track insist upon indorsing Eldridge, the Republican nominee, but it is asserted by their party opponents that, if Eldridge be named to fill the vacancy, his name will not be certified to the County Clerk, wherefore there will be a blank on the ticket. There will leave the fight fairly between Dr. Lamb as an independent, and as the candidate of the non-partisan county organization, and the Republican aspirant.

BROAD-GAUGE BAPTIST TALK.

Dr. Cressey Advises Not to Waste Any Ink.

Los Angeles Association in Session at Gardena.

Nine Missionaries Go to China and Japan.

The Los Angeles Baptist Association opened its session yesterday in the beautiful little church at Gardena, with every pew filled and the interior radiant with smilax and ferns and flowers.

Speaking of the handsome church building recalls the fact that it was erected under the pastorate of Rev. C. J. Hall, who, for eighteen months, was in charge of the flock, and his determination to have a decent church divided the people, part of whom became back-biters at Hall. There was an echo of this feeling in "the church letter," read at the opening of the association yesterday. The rules of the Baptists require this letter from each entertaining church. Among other things embodied in their welcome, the officers of the Gardena church had this paragraph:

"The building of a new church has been at the sacrifice of the spiritual welfare of the church body, but notwithstanding this, the church and Sunday-school have increased in membership and in attendance."

The results of Mr. Hall's work, however, have been to put the Gardena Baptists abreast with other progressive church organizations, and far in advance in Gardena, and they probably all think so now. Rev. L. H. Sherrill, who has succeeded Hall as pastor, said in his public address yesterday:

"We welcome you to this beautiful and commodious church building, one of the best, most convenient, most comfortable that can be found anywhere for the cost."

The Los Angeles Association includes representatives from thirty-eight churches, one-third of them being in the city, and they form an aggressive Christian body. They have no legislative powers whatever, and all their public acts simply reach the congregations as recommendations.

It is, in fact, such a free-and-easy body that all the visitors were offered the courtesies of the floor. But due notice was given that there would be no chance for unwelcome sensations on the part of ambitious speech-makers. Moderator Roseberry made the following announcement:

"Nothing will be permitted to be discussed upon the floor except such things as are stated in the programme, unless first presented to the proper committee."

BIG WASTE OF INK.

The annual sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. J. F. Cressey of the East Los Angeles Baptist Church. It was a broad and strong deliverance, exciting much favorable comment in that direction, and was greatly enjoyed for some of its fearless and salient points.

His text was, "Thy Kingdom Come," and the discussion of it turned upon the necessary breadth of Christian effort.

"From shallowness and narrowness, Good Lord, deliver us," said Dr. Cressey. "They are a shame and disgrace to God and Christianity. I have known Baptists who object to being called Christians, but want to be known only as Baptists. He who uses up a great deal of ink to write the word 'Baptist' in big letters, has very little left to write the word 'Christian,' even in very small letters.

"How little, how petty, how homicidal, how suicidal, are strifes between denominations. 'Ye are the light of the world;' in it not for what you can get out of it, but for what you can give to it.

"The greatest success of the church is a thing that cannot be counted—growth of the spiritual life. This will do more to roll up the membership than all the extensive machinery or the best eloquent sermons.

"The kingdom is in Christ; it is here, you and I are part of it, and yet the kingdom is to come. It will come fully, upon the coming of the King. Jesus had very little to say about when that should be. Paul said the gospel had been preached to every nation, but Paul's world was limited to the Roman empire; it is very different now. There are hundreds of millions who have not yet heard it, and it is not for me to know, and it would be presumptious to predict when the kingdom may come.

"It is my chief business and yours to so live that the gospel shall be spread, and the kingdom will come in its time, and in great glory."

At the opening of the afternoon session, Rev. J. Lewis Smith of Long Beach, delivered a brief spiritual talk on "The Model Church," and practically the entire afternoon was devoted to the reading of the "church-letters," which a good Baptist yesterday declared was a "great waste of valuable time." The letters, he said, are all stereotyped in form, with a rare exception, and could be summarized in fifteen minutes.

One of the exceptions yesterday was the letter of Temple Church, of this city. It was a characteristic statement of the peripatetic experience of Brother Burdette's church during the year, and of their final anchorage in the new Temple Auditorium. The statistical report shows that notwithstanding this shifting of quarters several times in succession the Temple Church last year increased from 359 members to a net membership of 682.

MISSIONARIES GO OUT.

As an evidence of the work the Los Angeles Baptists are doing in missions, the following missionaries went out for the foreign field this week, the farewell service having been held in the First Baptist Church on last Sunday: Rev. W. J. Clark, Mrs. W. J. Clark, P. R. Bakeman, Mrs. P. R. Bakeman, Rev. A. H. Page, Mrs. A. H. Page, Rev. J. P. Davies, Dr. Anna Corlies and Miss Rawlings. The party is divided between the China and Japan fields.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS.

The rarity of that something known as grass, in and about Gardena, brought out a pleasantry from Moderator Roseberry. To illustrate the point, he told a story of the boy who was asked to repeat the commandment that is expressed in four words, to which the boy promptly replied:

"Keep off the grass."

Last night addresses were delivered as follows: "The Model Church—Its Finances," Rev. J. E. Coombs; "America, in the Twentieth Century," Rev. H. Russell Greaves. The principal address of the evening was that of Rev. Dr. E. S. Northrop, under the title: "A World's Savior."

The sessions will continue through today and the meeting will close tonight with addresses by Rev. A. H. Smith, Rev. A. S. Phelps and Rev. A. M. Petty.

SPILLED MILK—OR WATER?

Woman Shop-keeper in Scuffle With Health Officer Is Threatened With Arrest.

Spilled milk, alleged watered, is to be cried over at a meeting of the Board of Health today.

The milk was spilled in a scuffle for possession of a pail between Dr. L. W. Young, live stock inspector of the Health Department and veterinary surgeon, and Mrs. Benjamin Berres, who, with her husband, keeps a little butter and egg store at No. 1504 West Washington street.

Mrs. Berres has been threatened with arrest on the charge of interfering with an officer, and has been notified to appear before the Board of Health today to answer to the complaint. In a letter from the board, Mrs. Berres is informed that if said complaint is sustained, her permit to sell milk will be suspended.

About six weeks ago Benjamin Berres was charged with putting water in milk. A complaint was issued and a warrant made for his arrest. Prosecuting Attorney Beebe had the complaint dismissed because there was practically no evidence against the man.

"We buy all our milk from the Belle Vernon dairy, and it is delivered to us in sealed bottles," said Mrs. Berres.

NAZARENES IN CONVENTION.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL ASSEMBLY IN MOTHER CHURCH.

Missionairies Tell of Progress Made in Mexico, East India and Elsewhere—Prophesies of the Future Growth—How Church Has Enlarged Since First Established.

Ringing hallelujahs greeted the missionary speakers at the Eleventh Annual Assembly of the Church of the Nazarene, which convened at the home church yesterday.

Prophesies of great and early growth of the doctrine of holiness in the Orient and Mexico brought forth the enthusiastic approval of representatives from twenty-eight congregations, which have been formed since the church was founded in Los Angeles, while the countenance of Dr. Phineas F. Bresee, general superintendent and first pastor, shone with benediction.

There were present delegates from the Association of the Pentecostal Church of New England, Pennsylvania and New York, with the idea of forming a union of churches of a holiness sentiment. The Rev. and Mrs. C. V. La Fontaine reported the success that greeted a tour to raise funds for the East India mission work of the church, which has taken over a school for widows, and will provide for 180 of them in Calcutta.

Favorable reports were heard of the work among the Spanish people of Southern California. This work has grown out of the spirit of one hundred Holiness Methodists, who organized as a church in 1894 in this city.

The hymns by the choir seemed to arouse a deep emotion which made those present seem like evangelists. During an earnest prayer by Dr. H. D. Brown of Everett, Mass., the amens of the congregation were uttered frequently. The next hymn closed with laughter and tears.

The first speaker of the evening was the Rev. A. B. Riggs of Lowell, Mass., and his address was filled with incidents of home and foreign missionary work. He told that the Association of Pentecostal Churches of New England had six missionaries in India. Rev. J. W. Goodwin, appointed president of the Missionary Committee, followed in an appeal for the strong men of the church to line up for active work as missionaries in their every-day life.

Sukoda Banarjee was the subject of special prayer. The church has received word that the caste advocates of India are seeking her life. Recently this little East Indian woman came before the Church of the Nazarene and found that her ideas of religion and their own were so similar that she returned to India as the special missionary of the church. Formerly she had opened a school for widows there, and returned to Seattle to secure funds to carry it on. After meeting with some success she started for San Francisco, when interrupted by the earthquake.

The little woman returned to the scene of her first life in America, and she and the Church of the Nazarene soon joined hands. In Los Angeles lived Sukoda Benarjee's first benefactor—Miss Josephine Holmes, president of the Indo-American League for the saving of the womanhood of East India, who first found and educated this East India woman when she had been cast out by her husband and family. Later Sukoda went over to the missionary societies of a northern city, but has now become a Holiness advocate endangered by her Christian effort to bring down caste prejudice.

The work of the Spanish mission was reported by Mrs. M. McReynolds, superintendent, who claimed 180 converts to the faith. Among the services of this branch are street meetings at the Plaza, where Sonoratown is reached.

A minister who had recently returned from Mexico told of the degraded condition of the peons and declared that Americans going to that country seemed to regard this class as did their former masters—material merely to secure wealth for themselves. He advocated sending converted Mexicans from Los Angeles as missionaries to their own people.

The afternoon meeting today will be devoted to the Deets Pacific Bible College, an institution of the church. At a mass-meeting tonight the union of the Church of the Nazarene and the Pentecostal Churches of the East will be discussed.

There are forty-five churches in the eastern association and they are represented here by Dr. J. N. Short of Cambridge; H. N. Brown of Everett, Mass., and A. B. Riggs of Lowell. The Nazarenes have a church also in Chicago. In order to effect a union, minor differences of faith in the two organizations will have to be reconciled, but Dr. Bresee believes that this can be accomplished.

The home camp meeting will open Sunday at the Church of the Nazarenes, and will probably be largely attended. It will be under the leadership of the Rev. C. E. Cornell, a Chicago evangelist.

SPECIAL TRIP TO SAN DIEGO.

MISSION CITY WILL BE SHOWN WITH CIVIC PRIDE.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce Have a Chance to Inspect the Natural Beauties of Town on the Bay and the Rush for Tickets Is Lively.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce are flocking in to take advantage of the excursion to San Diego, and more enthusiasm is being displayed over it than over anything the body has taken up since the Atlantic City project was first unfurled.

Monday the excursion was broached officially by the sending out of notices. Tuesday the members thought the thing over, and yesterday the replies began to come in. Over one hundred tickets were sold up to last night's closing time, and nearly every one of them was passed out during Wednesday. Indications are that several cars will be filled with happy Angelenos going down to inspect the beauties of San Diego.

The excursion has been arranged in collaboration with the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, and they promise that the city which sits by the bay will entertain the visitors in royal style. The San Diego committee having in charge the reception sends word that elaborate preparations have been made to take care of the fellow-boosters of California's advantages.

All members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and their families have been invited to go, and a special train on the Santa Fé has been secured. This will leave here Saturday at 8:15 in the morning. The first stop will be at Los Nietos, where a crowd of Whittier people will be in waiting to climb aboard. Then at Santa Ana another stop will be made to accommodate Santa Ana people who wish to take in the excursion.

A stop of twenty minutes will be made at Oceanside, and then the train will go through to San Diego without further stop, arriving there at 12:30.

On the train there will be lemonade and other light refreshments, but not enough to stifle the appetite, for the first thing on the programme after arriving in San Diego, is lunch.

The San Diego Chamber of Commerce will assume command at this point, and show the beauties and advantages of San Diego to the visitors. A trip around the famous harbor in special launches will be the initial move, and then a trip around the city in automobiles will follow.

Various other entertainments will be included in the programme, but the two trips to show off San Diego are the main parts of the show.

The special train will leave San Diego on the return trip at 6:30, arriving in Los Angeles at 10:30, but no one who wishes to remain longer need take the special. Tickets can be extended to return Monday or even later.

A special side trip to Tia Juana has been planned, and those who remain over Sunday will probably make up a party to take in this feature.

As a special inducement, Secretary Gurley announces that arrangements have been made with the weather man for a specially fine brand of weather, which is recommended as the best that San Diego puts up.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome California blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

COW NOT TO BLAME.

Town Lots Crowd Her from City's Borders and Milk Prices Rise as a Forced Consequence.

Blame not the lowing kine for the rise in the price of milk. Neither cast the odium of the noisy peddler who clatters up the street at the most unearthly hour of early morning and slams a bottle of the lacteal fluid down on the back porch. Rather place the onus where it is said to belong, upon the real estate man who goeth forth far into the surrounding countryside and maketh town lots to grow where once flourished the alfalfa that was the fount of the city milk supply.

The perpendicular jump in the price of milk from 8 cents to 10 cents a quart, effective October 1, is due to the fact, according to a leading dairyman, that so many dairy ranches have been cut up into city lots and home acres, wherefore, the numerous large herds of cows that supply Los Angeles with milk have been crowded far away from the city, greatly increasing the expense of transporting the fluid to Los Angeles.

For the same reason, it is said, the price of feed has advanced materially, causing the dairymen to raise their prices to the wholesaler and retailer, who, in self-protection, have been obliged to ask more from the consumer. It is reported that milk is sold at the dairy farms at from 16 to 18 cents a gallon. Retailed at 40 cents a gallon, it is declared that the margin of profit is not excessive in view of the expenses attending the handling of the product.

Clearing-house Soon to Begin Third Decade.

The clearing-house of the Los Angeles associated banks has just reached the end of another annual career. This is the end of its nineteenth year of existence. The institution was organized toward the end of September in the year 1887. There were only six banks in the clearing-house organization at its inception. The first officers chosen were I. W. Hellman, president of the Farmers and Merchants' Bank, as president of the clearing-house association; George H. Bonebrake, president of the Los Angeles National Bank, vice-president of the association; J. M. Elliott, cashier of the First National Bank, secretary and manager.

The clearing-house committee in this first year of its existence was composed of I. W. Hellman, named above, John E. Plater, president of the Los Angeles County Bank; W. F. Bosbyshell, vice-president of the Southern California National Bank; and A. D. Childress, president of the Childress Safe Deposit Bank.

It is interesting to follow the career of these first officials of the Los Angeles Clearing-house Association. Mr. Hellman is still president of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, which has since been nationalized, but he is a resident of San Francisco, where he is also president of the Wells Fargo-Nevada National Bank. Maj. Bonebrake, the first vice-president of the association, died October 31, 1898, and about a year ago the Los Angeles National Bank, of which he was then president, was absorbed by the First National Bank.

J. M. Elliott, first secretary and manager of the clearing-house, at that time cashier of the First National Bank, became president of that institution soon after the death of the president, E. F. Spence, which occurred September 19, 1892. John E. Plater, who was of the clearing-house committee, is at present connected with the Security Savings Bank, the old Los Angeles County Bank having gone long ago into liquidation.

W. F. Bosbyshell, who was then vice-president of the Southern California National Bank, is now engaged in the wholesale grocery business and the bank of which he was vice-president in 1887 has been reorganized as the Merchants' National Bank. A. D. Childress, the remaining member of the clearing-house committee, wound up his career as a banker in Los Angeles in the great financial crisis of 1893, and soon after left the city, but has recently returned here. The bank is non-existing.

STRONG INSTITUTION.

At the end of nineteen years, the Los Angeles Clearing-house Association is an exceedingly strong institution. It embraces twelve banks with a capitalization of nearly $6,000,000, and with surplus aggregating nearly $2,500,000.

The following figures show the annual clearings by months for the clearing-house year 1904-5, compared with those of 1905-6, with the per cent. of increase for each month. As will be noted below, the total clearings for the year 1904-5 fall just short of $450,000,000, or a little less than $9,000,000 a week. For the year just closed, the clearings run to a trifle over $551,000,000, considerably over $10,000,000 a week. Indeed, in this last year there is no month in which the clearings do not overrun an average of $10,000,000 a week. The total increase of clearings for the year amounts to $101,491,214, or 22 per cent. over the preceding year.

There is one feature about these monthly clearances which will not be expected by the general readers of the newspapers. The clearing-house year began with very large increase over the corresponding month in the previous year, amounting in October to 40 per cent, and running for three months at 36 or 37 per cent., when in February of the current year the increase was 27 per cent. and the next month when high-water mark was touched it was 38 per cent. In April it fell to 25, and from that on to September the clearings have not increased in the same rapid rate as before. Observe, the falling off in the ratios of clearings for this year compared with the corresponding months last year since April is not because of lower clearings in the current year, but of unusually large clearings in the preceding year.

In other words, the period of great financial expansion began in May, 1905, and continued uninterruptedly or comparatively so up to the present time. There was a little falling off in September of this year, as there was in the issuing of building permits, to which attention was directed a week ago in the real estate department of The Times, and the causes therefor pointed out, namely, the impossibility of obtaining supplies of lumber of certain classes depleted because of the longshoremen's strike at San Pedro and the threatened tie-up of the building trades in this city scheduled to come but not materializing, in the month of September.

DON'T BE NERVOUS.

Reference was made in an article in The Times last week to the extremely active demand for money ruling in this city at the present time and the influence of that condition upon the real estate market. Really, the real estate men seem to have been unnecessarily nervous. Taking for the purpose of study the last three business days at the County Recorder's office, it appears that on Saturday 190 deeds were filed for record and thirteen trust deeds. On Tuesday the number of deeds filed ran to 227, and twelve trust deeds, and on Monday the number ran to 255 regular deeds and thirteen trust deeds.

It is impossible to guess just what the value of the real estate thus conveyed would come to. The considerations named in the deeds are in almost all instances nominal. But those who read the real estate pages of The Times on last Sunday morning will recall that the actual sales reported there by a small portion of the real estate agents run in numbers to hundreds upon hundreds of transfers and the aggregate sum of money involved would reach millions.

There are transactions reported there in detail where the considerations involved amount to $30,000, $200,000, $100,000, $27,000, $80,000, $100,000, $63,000, $45,000, many of $20,000, a larger number at $15,000, and some agents report lists of sales running to hundreds where the aggregate of the transactions, although each one amounted to perhaps but $500 to $1000, would amount to all the way from $25,000 to $100,000.

We are so accustomed to a tremendous rush of real estate activity at the present time that we have become a little bit intoxicated and impossible to satisfy. We want hundred-thousand dollar sales reported about every minute in the day and if our thirst for great activity is not satisfied we conceive the erroneous impression that things are dull. The fact is, the real estate market at the present moment is exceedingly active, quite as active as is consistent with lasting healthfulness in the business.

EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS.

Turning to the matter of mortgages, people with meritorious propositions to place before the financial world seem to get along pretty well with their operations. On Saturday last the mortgages to secure loans on real estate going on record numbered fifty-two and the aggregate amount involved was $151,637. On Monday of this week there went on record, besides thirteen trust deeds referred to before, sixty-three mortgages on real estate, and Tuesday's record showed seventy-five mortgages in addition to twelve trust deeds. In this last longest list of the three days taken, we find a mortgage for $10,500 given to the American Savings Bank where the rate of interest is 7 per cent. net.

The Young Men's Christian Association on that day put on a mortgage for $100,000 at a net rate of interest of 5 per cent. This mortgage was taken by the Pacific Mutual Insurance Company of California, which is partially a Los Angeles institution. The gross amount of mortgages put on record that day came to $238,580. Now if we analyze the list we shall find that sixteen of them went to savings banks, and some of this money, even in small sums, was loaned at as low as 7 per cent. net interest.

There is a great deal of private money in the city at the present time to be had on real estate security. There is perhaps more of this private money than is usually on the market, for the reason that interest rates are naturally high for the very good reason that supplies of money are not so overflowingly abundant here as they have been, any more than is the case in any other part of the United States, and naturally these high rates of interest for well-secured notes by mortgages on real estate attract a larger amount of money into that kind of investment. Much money that in easier financial conditions went into the savings banks is now loaned by the owners of it on note and mortgage secured by valuable realty property.

The releases of mortgages going on record day by day number quite as many as the new mortgages. The amounts involved are not published, but those who are familiar with the books say the averages are about the same.

BIG FINANCIER HERE.

I. W. Hellman, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, came into the city yesterday morning by the Owl. Mr. Hellman is president of the Wells-Fargo-Nevada National Bank in San Francisco. He speaks most hopefully about conditions in that city. The preliminary work has been pretty well done and now building will begin in good earnest. Many property holders of large means have their plans all made to put up fine modern structures.

There is an abundance of money in hand for all purposes and only one drawback. That is the great scarcity of skilled labor. Wages are the highest ever paid, but even this does not draw enough labor to do the work in hand. Skilled mechanics in the building trades are getting $4 to $5 a day. Bricklayers and plumbers are in greatest demand, but carpenters, plasterers, ironworkers and all classes of labor are very scarce.

VOLGA DISTRICT STARVES.

Millions Are Hungry and Disease Wreaks Havoc Among Homes of Peasants.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—The Kattowitz Zeitung says that as the result of an investigation made in the Volga district, the fact has been established that fearful misery and starvation exist there. Several millions of persons, the paper says, are in a state of semi-starvation and have no means of procuring food. Diseases such as typhus fever are widespread and peasant disorders have occurred in many districts.

RELIEF IS PLENTIFUL.

Gulf Storm Victims Receiving Ample Help from Outside Points—Work at Mobile.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MOBILE (Ala.) Oct. 3.—Heavy rains along the lower part of the bay caused some interference today with relief work, but, all things considered, the situation is well in hand and all of the destitute are being cared for.

Contributions are pouring in steadily from the citizens of Mobile and from outside points. Shelter for those whose homes were wrecked is the thing most needed, and it is becoming evident that many of those who lost everything must have aid soon.

Gov. Jelks today made a trip to Coden and vicinity to institute further measures of relief.

Several bodies have been found floating in the lower bay, but they are believed to be those whose deaths have been reported previously.

Excitement continues high over the attack on the jail last night and the death of Roy Hole at an early hour this morning.

Three companies of militia ordered here from Fort Deposit, Evergreen and Brewer, today, are stationed about the city. Gov. Jelks said today that while he did not apprehend any more trouble he considered it wise to hold the troops here to guard against contingencies.

GIRL IS MURDERED.

Scion of England's Monarchy Is Mutilated and Killed in Public Park at Essen, Germany.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ESSEN (Prussia) Oct. 3.—A great sensation has been caused here by the murder of Miss Madelaine Lake, daughter of an English army officer, whose body, horribly mutilated, was found Monday evening in the city park. The police have been unable to throw any light on the mystery. Both her temples were beaten in, her throat was lacerated by the hands of her murderers, who evidently strangled her in addition to beating her terribly about the head, and her arms and body were severely bruised.

The excitement caused by this horrible crime has been increased by the fact that the inquiries of the authorities have resulted in seemingly establishing the fact that Miss Lake was related distantly to the British royal family, the brother of her grandmother, it is stated, having married a daughter of Caroline Amelia Elizabeth of Brunswick, the divorced wife of George IV of England.

EMERALDS IN HIS POCKET.

Manuel Suarez Arrested on Arrival at New York for Smuggling Hundreds of Stones.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Twenty thousand dollars' worth of emeralds were found by United States customs officials today on Manuel Suarez, when he arrived on the steamship Oceanic of the White Star line. The jewels were seized, and Suarez, who says he is a Colombian, was arrested on the charge of smuggling. United States Commissioner Shields later admitted him to $600 cash bail.

On the pier Inspector McKeon had a thorough search made of Suarez's baggage, which failed to reveal anything dutiable. McKeon then ordered Suarez searched, and in an outside pocket of the overcoat was found a small packet containing about 300 emeralds of various sizes, some cut and others uncut.

W.C.T.U. CONSOLIDATION.

DES MOINES (Ia.) Oct. 3.—Two branches of the W.C.T.U., one known as the W.C.T.U. of Iowa and the other as the W.C.T.U. of the State of Iowa, were consolidated here today. They were divided sixteen years ago by a dispute over the question of affiliation or non-affiliation with the Presbyterian Party. An article of the constitution in which union is recommendation provides that the organization shall in the future give its endorsement only to men and measures, and not to parties.

South Dakota Man, Who Awoke to Find His Wife Dead Beside Him, Says Burglars Slew Her—Profound Mystery Yet Unsolved—A Case for Sherlock Holmes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARKER (S. D.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That for three successive nights he saw in a dream his wife murdered precisely as he says she was last Sunday night by burglars, is the remarkable story told by Harry M. Collins today to the authorities.

"The first night I awoke with a start," he says, "and found I had a revolver in my hand and was pointing it at the very window where the burglars came in to chloroform my wife."

Collins still insists that burglars killed his wife, but the authorities are investigating and theories are divided. Colins's younger brother, who rose to find the house ransacked, and Mrs. Collins dead without a mark on her body, lying beside her husband, says he noticed no peculiar odor.

It appears that the window through which the burglars are supposed to have entered, was open only four to six inches and the curtain was down, when Collins awoke.

Officers cannot understand how the screen could have been pried off, the window fastening broken, Mr. and Mrs. Collins chloroformed, the house looted, the telephone wires cut, and a horse taken from the barn without arousing some member of the family.

Some think that Collins accidentally smothered his wife to death while in a nightmare by pressing on her face the pillow found over her mouth, but this does not explain the robbery.

DEMAND NATIVE LANGUAGE.

POSEN (Prussian Poland) Oct. 3.—The police today seized 10,000 copies of an appeal, couched in fiery language to Polish parents, urging them to make a demonstration October 17 against religious instruction being given in the German language in the schools here and in this vicinity. Measures have been taken to prevent any disturbance on that date.

For eight days rain has been falling throughout the Mississippi Valley, and reports coming in from isolated districts confirm he earlier statements of heavy damage to the cotton and corn crops.

Sometimes It Does!

A Hearty Meal Should Never Annoy Or Distress.

A hearty meal should give a sense of gratification and comfort. It should never annoy or distress. If you have indigestion and discomfort after eating it shows that your digestive organs are weakened and they cannot properly care for the food which has been swallowed. If you cannot eat and digest with pleasure and comfort three good, square, hearty meals each day, you need to use Mi-o-na stomach tablets, and you should get a box at once.

Mi-o-na is as unlike the ordinary pepsin digestive tablet as the electric light is more valuable than a tallow dip. Mi-o-na cures indigestion or stomach trouble by strengthening and regulating the whole digestive system, thus enabling the organs to take care of the food you eat without any distress or discomfort.

Use Mi-o-na for a few days and the nervousness, sleeplessness, general debility, weakness, backache, loss of appetite, headache and other ills that are caused by indigestion will be banished and you will feel well all over.

Mi-o-na makes positive and lasting cures and is sold under an absolute guarantee that the money will be refunded unless the remedy cures.

Write us today for a sample package of Mi-o-na stomach tablets, which we send you free, together with the diet list and symptom blank. A stomach specialist of years experience will give you free advice as to how to get well.

ARMED RIOTS DUE TO UNION.

Late Border Sheriff Blames Western Federation.

Says Miners and Junta Are Cause of Trouble.

Scott White Will Make His Home Here.

Scott White, former Sheriff of Cochise county, Ariz., at Tombstone, who has the enviable record of having captured and convicted more train robbers during his tenure of office than any other similar official, and who is now a conservative and prosperous citizen of the Greene Gold and Silver Company of Chihuahua, Mex., has purchased a beautiful residence at No. 1427 Shatto street, and will hereafter make his home in Los Angeles.

During the stirring times intervening between 1896 and 1901, Mr. White was Sheriff of Cochise county and maintained peace and order only by strenuous means. These, however, have all passed into the pleasant retrospective of Mr. White's life. He has returned to this city from New York, where he was in consultation with Col. W. C. Greene, the millionaire mining man. He is now a man of affairs and he entertainingly of the days when he maintained order at any cost around Tombstone.

At the present time, and in fact for the last six years, White has been in the thick of the opening of the famous mining districts of the vicinity of Cananea and Chihuahua, and says that there are as stirring times experienced in those districts as have ever been known in Arizona, though there is a different class of men to be taken care of. Many of the old days were rough and ready fellows who exchanged shots in the open with other men and did not know of the wiles of the cutthroat or anarchist. The men who have been responsible for the recent rioting at Cananea, according to White, are for the most part hirelings of the Western Federation of Miners and have plain anarchistic tendencies.

"FIGHT THE OFFICIALS."

"La Junta," as a crowd of disgruntled men along the border of Mexico call it, is a body of fellows located in St. Louis, which has, in connection with the Western Federation of Miners, caused the recent trouble at Cananea," said White yesterday. "I was on the train about two weeks ago upon which a gang of these trouble breeders was arrested. The train was entering Douglas, Ariz., and the men were taken off and locked up. I afterward saw letters of instructions issued to them by this La Junta of St. Louis. They were told to use force and to employ weapons to fight the employers and the government officials of Mexico.

"The Mexican government has shown the most careful attention to the welfare of all foreigners within her borders, and every precaution against unpleasantness and danger has been taken by that government. Yet these paid hirelings of the Western Federation of Miners and the La Junta of St. Louis come among the men, and aided by a little party of disgruntled Mexicans who have failed to commence, they have set about destroying the holdings of foreign capitalists."

ARMED, INCITED TO RIOT.

White says that funds have been sent and arms purchased by these two organizations mentioned and the workmen of the great mining districts have been incited to riot against their employers. He deplores this and says if La Junta and the Western Federation of Miners would only let the men alone there would be no trouble, as the Mexican government is doing all in its power to make it more comfortable and better for the workingmen.

White states that the talk of a revolution in Mexico is the veriest rot—a thing already well established. "The people of Mexico love President Diaz," he declares, "They have been led into the greatest prosperity the country has ever known by this great man. They reverence him, and no more thing of revolting against his rule than of committing suicide. The only discontents are those who are incited into action by the Western Federation of Miners and La Junta of St. Louis. These two organizations, working hand in hand, are doing their best to stir up discontent. I do not think they will ever be successful, and the mining companies think that the flurry caused by the riots at Cananea and a few other places is the utmost extent to which they will ever attain."

Col. W. C. Greene is expected to make a trip to Cananea during the next two weeks. White will leave Los Angeles during the coming ten days and will meet Col. Greene at Cananea and make a tour of the mining country with him.

STILES'S DELIVERY.

He likes best, does White, to talk of the days when he hunted train robbers in Arizona and of the time when Billy Stiles, one of the most notorious train robbers, shot the turnkey and carried through a jail delivery at Tombstone single-handed.

Stiles, Matt Burts, and four other men held up a Southern Pacific train at Cochise Station and escaped with the cash and a quantity of jewelry. White and a posse started after the men, but failed to locate them. After a while Stiles was captured and turned State's evidence. He was promised his freedom if he told where the others could be caught, which he did. Burts was captured away up in Montana, and the others at various places. They were all locked in the Tombstone jail, and Stiles was allowed to go. To help matters, and in the belief that he had reformed, White had him appointed a deputy sheriff and used the man in his search for evidence against the train robbers.

One day without warning, Stiles, armed with a repeating Winchester rifle, strode into the Tombstone jail and shot George Bravin, the jailor, and set free all the train robbers and other men who were condemned to be hanged during the following week.

White, with a posse, started after the escaped prisoners, and rounded up a number of them within twenty-four hours. The train robbers, however, had made good their escape. A long search was made, and finally Burts and Stiles both arrested on the border as they were trying to leave the country. One of the train robbers has never been heard of since, but the two are doing time in Arizona. Only a few days ago, White received a letter from two of them asking him to sign an application for their parole.

White says he will probably sign the application, as the men have been exemplary prisoners, but meantime he thinks that the anarchistic teaching of the Western Federation of Miners is much more dangerous than a dozen of the worst train robbers.

Raviola Day at the Europa.
Have your dinner at The Europa tonight. It is raviola day. 313 W. 7th st.

Former Sheriff Scott White of Tombstone, Ariz., who has captured more train robbers than any other bailiff in the Territory. He says the Western Federation of Miners furnished new members in the vicinity of Cananea and Chihuahua, Mex., with arms to fight employers and stir up trouble.

GREWSOME FIND IN A YOUNG GIRL'S TRUNK.

Baby's Body, Horribly Mutilated, Discovered in Philadelphia—Girl Said to Be Entirely Guiltless—Deep Mystery Surrounds the Case. Detectives Are Baffled.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The body of a murdered and horribly mutilated infant was found on Saturday last in a trunk belonging to a young lady who lives at the Young Women's Christian Association. The latter fact was revealed only late this afternoon by Coroner Jermon.

With this announcement, the Coroner, on information furnished by his own deputy and city detectives, stated that the young lady, Miss Elizabeth Smart, in whose trunk the grewsome find was made, was absolutely guiltless of the crime, or any knowledge of it, and in view of the system under which the building is managed, the affair is one of the most mysterious that has ever engaged the attention of the police.

The trunk was one of 300 that are stored in a large room on the ninth floor of the building. This room is always kept locked, the key remaining in the custody of the house mother, Mrs. Josephine Gammon.

The discovery of the body was made when Miss Smart went to get some heavy clothing from the trunk. The Coroner's deputy made a thorough investigation, but without success.

It is Miss Gain's special duty to keep thoroughly posted on the health and physical condition of every girl that enters the building, and she is authority for the statement that the mother of the child could not have been one of them.

The detectives have traced every girl that has been an inmate of the building since September 1, and say that none of them could have been guilty. The home is the largest of its kind in the country.

BESOLD ON THE WAY.

Alleged Temescal Canyon Murderer in New Orleans—More Crimes Now Charged to the Butcher.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Deputy-Sheriff Gilbert of Los Angeles arrived in New Orleans last night from Washington with a prisoner named Besold, whom he is taking to Los Angeles to stand trial for the alleged murder of his wife in Los Angeles.

ALLEGED CROOK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BELLINGHAM (Wash.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Evidence of a nature that leaves little suspicion that Anton Besold, now under arrest for murdering his wife is a crook of the worst order, has been received by Sheriff Williams from a former partner of Besold's, and the evidence will be forwarded to the grand jury in Los Angeles. Aside from his alleged crime of murdering his wife and defrauding Mrs. W. L. McFadden of this city of $800 in Seattle, not long ago, Besold's partner, E. G. Wagner, complains that Besold also defrauded him. Besold was in the bakery business two years ago and lived under the assumed name of Arndt, says McFadden. Thinking that Besold did crooked work in Tonopah, McFadden is investigating his career there.

Robinson was placed in the Jefferson county jail for safe-keeping. He denies the guilt.

SHOT THREE TIMES.

FATAL FIGHT OVER SISTER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Herbert Partridge was shot three times early today at the apartments of his sister, with whom he made his home, and probably will die. The shooting was done by Charles Johns, a stenographer, whose attentions to Mrs. Jennie Smith, who was known as Partridges' widowed sister, were objected to by Partridge.

Coming home early today, Partridge found Johns in the apartments and in a rage seized a carving knife with which he attacked Johns. In the struggle the knife blade was broken, but Partridge continued the attack.

Then, according to Mrs. Smith's story, Johns drew a revolver and fired three times, each bullet striking Partridge in the body.

Johns disappeared after the shooting and Partridge was taken to a hospital where his condition is said to be critical.

DENY MURDER THEORY.

DISEASE LED TO SUICIDE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Members of the family and business representatives of Albert J. Adams, who was found dead Monday with a bullet wound in the head, declared yesterday that after a full and careful investigation they were of the belief that not a single factor in the circumstances warranted any suspicion or theory of murder.

Information coming to them showed that Mr. Adams had given way to depression within the last week, although he had concealed that fact from his family, and it was all due to the unfavorable turn taken by diabetes with which he had long been afflicted.

McWhirter forced one of the alleged officers to accompany him to the police station, where he was given back $1000, the amount being raised by the bogus officer and paid through the chief. Friends of Sheets claim that the prosecution is a political plot.

VITALITY

For Men Who Have Lost It

Strong Men Are Full of Electricity

Weak Men Are Lacking in Electricity

Do You Want to Be "A Man Among Men?" Write Today.

Everybody Admires and Honors a Strong Man. Are You One?

LET ANY MAN WHO IS WEAK, BROKEN DOWN, OLD AND DECREPIT IN physical weakness, full of pain and aches, gloomy, despondent and cheerless—any man who wants to be stronger and younger than he feels—let him come and tell us how he feels, and if we say that we can cure him we will forfeit $1000 if we fail.

We don't want money that we don't earn. We don't need it, and are not after it. But we are after the dollars that are now going wrong in the quest of health. Look at all these poor wrecks of humanity that are spending all they earn on drugs—dope that is paralyzing their vital organs—that have spent all they have earned for years without gaining a pound of strength for the hundreds of dollars wasted.

That is the money that we are after, because for every dollar we take we can give a thousand per cent interest. We have cured so many cases right here that we can prove our claims to you, but if that proof is not enough we will give you the names of men right near you—where you are. Is that fair?

Most of the Belts that we are selling now are to men who have been sent here by their friends whom we have cured. We think that is the best evidence that our business is a success from the standpoint of cures, as well as on the dollar side.

Just lately we have received letters of praise from these men:

W. G. Beers, Long Beach, Cal. He was cured of a back trouble of twelve years' standing.

Owen Orr, Chino, Cal., who says we cured him of Indigestion, Constipation, Nervousness and Lumbago, from which he had suffered fifteen years.

Wherever you are, we think we can give you the name of a man in your town that we have cured. Just send us your address and let us try. This is our twenty-fourth year in the business of pumping new vim into worn-out humanity, and we've got cures in nearly every town on the map.

Come and see us if you can and we will fix you up; or, if you can't call, write to us and we will do the same. We have got a nice book on men that we will send sealed, free, if you inclose this coupon.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

WAR ON RAAB MILK COMPANY.

CONCERN WITH SIX HUNDRED COWS MAY BE BARRED.

Pasadena Officials Warn Managers of Corporation That If City License Fee Is Not Paid, the Wagon Drivers Will Be Arrested—Statement Is Issued by Mr. Raab.

Office of The Times, No. 28 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Oct. 3.—Unless the officials of the Raab Creamery Company come to time at once they may be forbidden to sell any milk within the corporate limits of Pasadena. So far they have failed to pay their license fee and unless they reach some agreement with the city by tomorrow their drivers will be liable to arrest if they attempt to deliver milk.

The trouble has arisen out of the ordinance that provides that all cattle furnishing milk for sale in Pasadena must be put through the tuberculin test. The work of testing is done by the city veterinarian without expense to the owners. In return for this the dairymen are required to pay an annual tax of $2.50 for the first cow and $1.50 for each subsequent cow in their herds. This fee takes the form of a license, but is nothing more or less than a fee for the examination.

It is stated by the city authorities that the license fee no more than pays the cost of making the examinations and that there was no thought of revenue when the ordinance was passed. The city veterinarian has been busy making the tests ever since the ordinance was passed and now, as far as is known, every cow in any dairy selling milk in Pasadena has been inspected. There has been no complaint on the part of any of the dairymen with the exception of the Raab Creamery Company, and the allied corporation, the Sanitary Dairy Company. These concerns have refused to pay the fee and have put the city to considerable inconvenience.

SIX HUNDRED COWS.

The Raab Company delivers milk all over this part of the State, and for that reason it was a difficult matter to decide just what cows were used for supplying Pasadena. Finally the officers of the company stated that they thought that 612 cows would be about the number required for this city and the authorities acquiesced to the arrangement. The cows were inspected and an attempt made to collect the fees. The company objected to paying for the 612 cows when it came to a show-down, however, and asked that a blanket permit be issued them. They were willing to pay on the basis of 612 cows, namely $919, but they wanted permission to furnish milk from any of their cows. In this manner the spirit of the ordinance would not be complied with as there would be no certainty that the milk sold would be from the inspected cows and the ordinance would be vitiated.

The city authorities refused to countenance any such arrangement and the matter was turned over to the City Attorney. Mr. Wood attempted to get the Raab company to come to some arrangement, but so far nothing has been accomplished. If the company persists in its attitude the health authorities will have no alternative but to forbid the sale of milk by the Raab people and considerable inconvenience will result to all concerned.

RAAB MAKES STATEMENT.

P. R. Raab this afternoon issued the following statement:

"Tomorrow, October 4, the city of Pasadena is going to step in and absolutely put a stop to the Raab Creamery Company's lawful business, the business they have spent a lifetime in upbuilding. The city has framed an ordinance that never did and never could apply to a large creamery business and are trying to enforce it on them.

"This ordinance was made for dairies that own a few cows of their own, wherein the Raab Creamery Company, so as to get the best, has to select its supplies all over Orange and Los Angeles counties. To do this it has to handle large quantities of milk, besides that from its own herd. All that is not of the sweetest and cleanest is rejected from this milk supply.

"The Raab Creamery Company is doing a large business also in Los Angeles, paying its licenses and obeying the ordinance, but the Pasadena ordinance it is impossible to obey. The Pasadena ordinance could be enforced in a village but not in a large city like Pasadena.

"Furthermore, the ordinance is unjust as it imposes on the milk dealer a tax of $1.50 per cow on cows he does not own. The Raab Creamery Company sells about 800 gallons of milk inside and outside of Pasadena and has offered to pay a license tax of $919, if the city would agree that would be all that it would demand, but it demands more and will set no limit to its demands.

"The city claims it is a sanitary measure. As it is impossible of enforcement it stands as a farce which should be ended and not used to ruin an honest, lawful business. The offer of $919 represents the tax on 612 cows. Six hundred and twelve cows would give two or three times the milk sold by the company. If the company agrees to pay a license on every cow it gets supplies from the tax would run up to $2000 or $3000."

HAS CHANGED HIS MIND.

At the time that the milk ordinance was brought up before the Council the Raab company objected to the original draft. The ordinance was amended to comply with the ideas of Mr. Raab and after its passage he stated to a Times reporter that it was satisfactory to him. Since then he has apparently changed his mind.

The claim is made that the fee of $2.50 for the first cow and $1.50 for each subsequent one is excessive. In reply to this the City Attorney calls attention to the fact that the City Veterinarian was forced to go into Orange county to inspect a part of the cows of the Raab company and that the license fee no more than covers his expenses.

HOTELS EXPECT NEW ERA.

According to the present outlook the business this coming winter, so far as the hotels are concerned, will be the heaviest in the history of Pasadena. Prospective guests are already making inquiries concerning accommodations and apartments are being booked. Last winter it was thought that the high-water mark had about been reached but it now appears that all of the hotels, despite the extensive additions that have been made during the summer, will be taxed to their full capacity.

The San Francisco disaster has caused many people who have been in the habit of spending their winters in the northern city to turn their attention southward and it is known that a large number of tourists will come here from the Bay City. Hotel men feel that the city is rapidly approaching a new era and that it will not be long until Pasadena shall become the recognized winter resort of the civilized world. Last winter there were a number of visitors from European countries who had been attracted by the reports of California climate and without exception they expressed their intention of returning another year.

Already plans are being made for the opening of the hotels and by the time the winter season begins everything will be in shape to care for the visitors to the best advantage.

WILL OPEN NEXT MONTH.

J. H. Holmes, manager of Hotel Green, stated this afternoon that November 28 had been finally decided upon as the official opening date of the hotel. There are a number of guests who will arrive on November 15, however, and the dining-room in the west wing will be thrown open at that time. On November 17 a Raymond-Whitcomb party will arrive here and will stay at the Green.

The west dining-room will be run on both the American and European plan throughout the winter. On December 15, the east wing will be opened and will be run on the American plan only.

Men have been busy all through the summer renovating the big buildings and all of the carpets have been cleaned by compressed air, and everything put in shape for the winter's business. On October 15 a crew of forty men will be put to work doing the necessary refinishing, and when the hotel opens it will be thoroughly renovated throughout.

Hotel Maryland has been open all summer, but extensive improvements have been in progress and when the winter season opens the hotel will be larger by a good many rooms than it was last year. All ready requests for accommodations are being received and Manager Linnard expects that the hotel will be filled early in the season.

EIGHT HUNDRED AT WORK.

Work on the new Hotel Wentworth is being rushed as rapidly as 800 skilled mechanics will allow, and will be ready for opening on January 1. Gen. Wentworth has promised rooms for that date, and states that he will not disappoint his guests, if it takes an army of workmen to get things ready. As rapidly as one floor is completed, the decoration will be begun, and in that manner the entire lower part of the house will be ready to receive guests before the masonry in the top stories is dry.

As soon as the rough work on the hotel is completed the work of laying out the grounds will be commenced, and by New Years the gardens will begin to take tangible shape. Already a large part of the rooms have been engaged, and Gen. Wentworth expects that every room will be spoken for by the time the season opens.

Hotel Raymond will open December 13. The new manager will arrive here on November 19, and will at once commence the necessary work of renovation upon his arrival. The managemen of the Raymond expects a very busy season, and already many accommodations have been spoken for.

Y.M.C.A. MEETING TODAY.

State Secretary Burton B. Wilcox of the Young Men's Christian Association will meet the members of the board of directors and General Secretary Eaton T. Sams at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow around the lunch table at La Casa Grande to decide the very important question of evening classes.

The men pledged to be on hand to do justice to the lunch and to the subject under discussion are R. L. Metcalf, Dr. Salon Briggs, John B. Johnson, Kenyon Warren, M. A. Hall, Mac D. Snowball, J. Herbert Hall, Ira J. H. Sykes, F. M. Washburn, J. H. Young, Prof. J. D. Graham and Prof. E. A. Owen.

In the opinion of many it is high time that the local association should establish an educational branch Secretary Sams says that to wait longer would be shirking a duty that the Pasadena association owes to the young men of the community.

CROWN CITY ITEMS.

Through ambiguity in wording the report it was made to appear that the one diseased cow found at the Home dairy when the Sanitary Inspector paid the plant a visit was being used to furnish milk for the trade. Mr. Huddleston stated today that the cow described was not in the milk herd of the company and was therefore not being milked. By the misunderstanding an unintentional wrong was done to the proprietor of the Home Dairy Company.

George Haas was brought up before Justice Congdon today to explain the charge that he chased his wife out of the house last night and made threats to do her injury. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault and demanded a jury trial. The justice accommodated him and set his trial for October 15, fixing his bail at $100. Not having the money handy he was taken to the County Jail for safe keeping.

Stephen Horten appeared before Police Judge McDonald this morning to answer to the charge of violating the city ordinance by following a fire engine to a fire at a distance of less than 100 yards. Horten pleaded guilty to the offense but claimed that he did not know that there was any ordinance against following the apparatus. He was informed that that was no excuse and was fined $3.

PHILATHEAS MEET.

Last evening at the home of Mrs. J. H. Merriam of North Madison avenue the Philathea of the First Baptist Church held an important business meeting.

One of the first things on programme was the semi-annual election of officers and resulted in the choosing of the following: President, Mrs. J. H. Merriam; vice-president, Miss Edith Miller; secretary, Miss Susie Hunt; treasurer, Mrs. Rex McCoy; reporter, Miss Jeanette Hazel.

The new officers will be installed at the next regular meeting in two weeks. Plans for the coming year were discussed and it is the aim of the society to become even more of a social and educational factor than in the past.

Following the election of officers and the discussion of the future plans was a social hour of conversation. Later refreshments of ices and cakes were served.

SOCIETY NEWS NOTES.

At the home of Mrs. Frank Woodbury, No. 425 South Euclid avenue, fifty members of the Women's Relief Corps held an all-day meeting today. The entire day was spent in sewing for the needy members of the G.A.R. and their families. Later these women will make comforters and quilts to be sold for the benefit of any needy case which may come to their notice. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. S. M. Root at No. 510 South Marengo avenue, Wednesday, October 17.

AGED MAN FINDS HOME.

Marshal Frank Miller has been made guardian of J. W. Duffy, an aged man of this city, whom the courts have decided is incapable of looking after his own interests. Duffy came near being committed to a State asylum recently under a lunacy warrant drawn by his wife. The wife has agreed to accept $2200 in lieu of her rights in her husband's place on Lemon avenue, and he will be permitted to live there in peace with a family who will board him. The agreement has been reached between the elderly couple with the consent of Duff's daughter, his only child.

NEW LAUNDRY BUILDING.

The Monrovia laundry will erect a pressed-brick-front building on the corner of Myrtle and Walnut avenues, opposite Hotel Scotia, and will provide all modern improvements to take away sewage and consume smoke. Bids have been asked for, and building will commence at once. This is the first movement of business of the city to go south of Olive avenue. It will shortly be supplemented by the Pacific Electric depot, which will be erected on Myrtle avenue, on the south side of the track. This will be a business block of fine appearance.

WAR HERO BORNE TO REST.

Impressive Military Honors Mark the Funeral of Dr. W. T. Collins at the Soldiers' Home.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Oct. 3.—With impressive military honors, the remains of Dr. William T. Collins, late major of the Second Berdan Sharpshooters, were laid to rest this morning beside those of his departed comrades-in-arms on the hillside cemetery of the National Home.

Dr. Collins was a resident of Santa Monica, but was not a member of the home. At the request of his family, however, the president of the board of managers, N.H.D.V.S., was communicated with, and permission by telegraph was accorded the burial of Dr. Collins in this one of the sacred spots, where no future territorial acquisition by town or city will be permitted to disturb the repose of the soldier dead.

Funeral services were conducted in the home chapel by Chaplain G. W. Wilson, who spoke in feeling terms of the long-suffering, patient hero, who at the second battle of Bull Run lost a leg while fighting for the Union.

The remains were escorted to the cemetery by the home band, and by members of John A. Martin Post, No. 153, G.A.R.; Uncle Sam Post, No. 177, G.A.R., Union Veteran Legion, Encampment No. 138; Hopkins' Squadron, No. 11, Naval Veteran Association, and by a number of veterans of the home. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

ADMIRAL DEWEY TO CROWN CITY.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, October 3.—Admiral Dewey will arrive in Pasadena within the next month or six weeks, unless the Cuban troubles make his presence in Washington necessary. The admiral of the navy has expressed his intention of spending the winter in California and he will divide his time between Pasadena and Santa Barbara. The exact date of his arrival has not been set but it is known that he wants to get here as soon as is possible. While in Pasadena Admiral Dewey will be the guest of friends and a number of pleasant social functions are being planned in his honor. The idea of having the ranking officer of the navy here for the winter is welcomed by all. Admiral Dewey on several occasions has expressed himself as being desirous of visiting California but the press of official duties has heretofore made it impossible. He has definitely made up his mind to come now, however, and nothing but press of official duties will cause him to change his mind.

STEAMSHIP LINE TO LONG BEACH.

COMPANY WILL OPERATE BIG BOAT ON SAN DIEGO RUN.

Corporation Being Established to Make the Most of New Inner Harbor Facilities—Plans to Make Trips Daily and Carry Many Passengers. Freight May Pay Expenses.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 3.—As a result of the inner harbor project on the salt flats and the assurance of a sea entrance by way of the San Gabriel River, a company is organizing with a capital stock of $500,000 to establish a line of steamers for freight and passenger service between Long Beach and San Diego.

The company has an option on a sidewheel ocean going steamer now in New York waters, to be used for excursion purposes. The steamer has a carrying capacity of 2500 passengers and will make the round trip to San Diego daily. She is too large to be safely landed at the pier and slip No. 1 of the Dock and Terminal Company's harbor will be used as her berth.

It is the hope of the company that this steamer will be the first to enter the new harbor and if the plans mature as rapidly as now progressing their hope will be realized. The freight carried will meet the expense of operating the steamer.

CLUBHOUSE PLANNED.

It has developed that instead of being controlled as an annex of Hotel Green, Pasadena, the Bixby ranch house of the Los Cerritos rancho will be turned into a country club house for Hotel Bixby of this city, and Hotel Maryland of Pasadena. The matter was suggested by D. M. Linnard to the hotel directorate who have the project under consideration. It is the intention to lay out the grounds in golf links and other amusement features and establish a country club which will be a feature of Southern California. Several of the hotel directors in company with George H. Bixby, the owner, paid a visit to the ranch house today to examine the property.

MEN FALL MANY FEET.

W. A. Carter, a section foreman on the Salt Lake with two workmen, Marcial and Diburico Medina, left Burnett on a hand car this morning to catch the passenger train for San Pedro at First street, the train not stopping at Burnett. At Hill street the car jumped the track and stopping at the edge of a twenty-five-foot embankment, the three men tumbled pell-mell to the bottom with an accompaniment of picks and shovels. The men came into town after righting the car. Their injuries, mostly cuts and bruises, were looked after by the company surgeon.

MEET FOR GOOD ROADS.

At a meeting of the Good Roads' Association of Long Beach, last night, by-laws were adopted and an Executive Committee appointed, A. M. Goodhue, A. C. Helps, F. W. Stearns, M. B. Irvine and W. M. Varney, who will handle the funds to be used in street improvements and direct the work. Ten vice-presidents were also selected, one from each precinct in the city, who will look after the civic improvements of his district. They are: D. Densmore, Signal Hill; T. P. Pingree, Alamitos; W. S. Taggart, precinct No. 1; W. C. Smith, No. 2; Roy Carr, No. 3; W. B. Redburn, No. 5; F. E. Strong, No. 6; J. W. Young, No. 7; W. J. German, No. 8. About $700 has been subscribed, besides the membership fee and the first street work will begin next week, in conjunction with the street superintendent.

DAMAGE SUITS COMING.

City Clerk Steiglitz, who is acting as attorney for the West Long Beach residents, arrested for declining to comply with city ordinances, appeared before Recorder Hart this morning and on his demurrer being overruled, served notice that he will sue for writs of habeas corpus in the Appellate Court. Awaiting this action, his clients were returned to jail. This afternoon D. T. Schoblar and Joseph McNeale joined the delegation in jail, their offense being a neglect to take out a building permit. Bail was furnished later on and the men released. Steiglitz says he is preparing ten damage suits against Marshal Young for false imprisonment of his clients. Steiglitz not being eligible to practice in the Los Angeles courts, has retained Attorney George Hupp to look after matters in the Superior Court.

CITY MAY USE TUNNEL.

After hanging fire for several weeks, the bond of the Westminster Company to construct a tunnel in Pine avenue from the beach to the First National Bank to furnish water power and heat for the bank and Westminster buildings, came before the City Trustees last night and was referred to the Public Works Committee for a conference. It is reported that the Westminster Company has agreed to allow the city control of that part of the tunnel they don't use, for public wires and also the right to extend the tunnel.

LONG BEACH BREVITIES.

Mrs. Jane Sjoble, living near Signal Hill, was arrested today, charged with stealing chickens. A neighbor who was missing his pullets investigated. He says he located some of the birds in the Sjoble basement. Despite this, the woman pleaded not guilty and will be tried October 9 before Justice Brayton.

Miss Bessie Watkins, attending State Normal, left her purse in the street car at Los Angeles Monday morning. Yesterday it was found on the sand in front of the bath-house, the contents intact, except one ride used out of her commutation book. It is supposed the finder came to the beach and lost it on the sands.

The semi-annual convention of the Eclectic Medical Association of Southern California was held in this city last night. A number of valuable papers were read. A committee of twelve was appointed to have charge of the arrangements for the National Eclectic Convention in Long Beach next year.

The City Trustees have requested the Pacific Electric to furnish thirty-one passes for the members of the fire department over the local lines.

At a meeting of the Long Beach Medical Society today it was decided to establish a training school for nurses October 15 at the new hospital and the curriculum of studies partially arranged. About 180 lectures will be delivered to the nurses during the year.

G. N. Parker, the real estate operator arrested yesterday for embezzlement, has agreed to repay Miss O'Grady, the prosecuting witness. The case against him will be dismissed.

LA HABRA NEWS BRIEFS.

LA HABRA, Oct. 3.—Members of the La Habra Farmers' Club held a meeting recently at the home of C. H. Parker. A feature of the programme was a question box on timely subjects, and pertinent discussions concerning the coming of the Huntington trolley line.

A corn husking was held at the ranch of Walter F. Morse last evening, the guests being members of the Whittier Congregational Church and congregation. Red ears of corn were in evidence and added to the jollity of the evening, as did the serving of the refreshment refreshments for such an occasion.

SOCIETY LEADER BADLY HURT.

Mrs. C. J. George of Hollywood May Die as Result of Fall in Skating Rink.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 3.—Mrs. C. J. George, one of the most prominent society women in Hollywood, is in a dangerous condition, at her home on Vine street, as the result of a severe fall at the skating rink. Her spine was injured, how seriously is not yet known. It is feared she will not recover.

MRS. C. J. GEORGE.

Mrs. George is president of St. Catherine's Guild, of St. Stephens' Church, and has been active in both church and social work. She has a wide circle of friends in both Hollywood and Los Angeles.

The George home is surrounded by beautiful grounds and has been the scene of many brilliant out-of-door fetes and teas.

SANTA MONICA LINE ENDS.

Old Horse Car Railway Is Being Torn Away to Make Room for Boulevard.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 3.—It will be but a few days until all that remains of the old horse car line leading from Santa Monica to the Soldiers' Home will be but a memory. The Los Angeles-Pacific electric line, which has been operating the road during recent years, has abandoned its franchise and the parallel streaks of rust that were once glistening rails of steel are being torn away to make way for a boulevard that is to occupy Nevada avenue for its entire length.

This street railway line, one of the few remaining horse car roads in Los Angeles county, was built nineteen years ago. The franchise for the Santa Monica and Soldiers' Home Railroad was granted on August 3, 1887, and upon the completion of the road there was a great banquet at the Arcadia. The franchise was issued to W. D. Vawter. Local people financed the road and operated the picturesque line between the eucalyptus lined avenue until it fell into the hands of the Los Angeles-Pacific. Since the construction of the trolley road to the Home by way of Brentwood and Westgate the necessity for the Nevada avenue route has passed.

The Brentwood line will soon be double tracked for the entire distance. The materials are being assembled and the work is to be commenced soon. The double track will extend along Ocean avenue for its entire distance and along San Vicente boulevard to the Soldiers' Home.

SEWER PROBLEM HANGS.

The sewer question is still far from settlement. When the City Trustees met Monday night they adopted a report recommending the immediate construction of a septic tank at the foot of Pier avenue. This was the recomendation of the Committee of the Whole. Mayor Dudley voted against its adoption and brought in a minority report favoring the building of the tank on the ocean front between Front and Pacific streets. A tie vote was the fate on the adoption of this report. The joint stock company proposition for a trunk line to Hyperion was discussed, but no proposal came officially before the board.

WOMAN TIRES OF LIFE.

Mrs. L. Powell, whose home is on Thirtieth street, made an unsuccessful effort to commit suicide at an early hour yesterday by jumping off the steep bluff fronting the seashore. Her act followed a quarrel with her husband, who had just returned from Pasadena. Neighbors heard her screams on the street and stopped the quarrel. A chance passer-by grabbed her just as she had climbed the rustic fence at the edge of the bluff and was preparing to leap to her death. She was taken to the Emergency Hospital. A physician was called, and after several hours she had recovered sufficiently to return home with her husband.

A. Vannerman of Pasadena, chairman, and the Committee of Location for the German Baptist Brethren convention to be held somewhere in Southern California in May, were here recently and had a conference with a committee from the local Board of Trade, regarding holding the convention here.

A reception was tendered Rev. T. T. Creswell and wife by the members of the Presbyterian church at the home of J. H. McKim on North Ellen street last evening. About 300 guests were present. Brig.-Gen. J. M. Thompson, U.S.A., and wife, are the guests of Gen. Thompson's sister, Mrs. F. Davis. Mrs. Thompson will leave soon for San Antonio, Tex., to visit her son.

The City Clerk today prepared the advertisement for proposals for a franchise to operate an electric road through this city as requested by the Pacific Electric Railroad Company yesterday, and voted by the Board of City Trustees at a meeting last night.

Charles E. Walker, president of the First National Bank, left for Grinnell, Iowa, last night, being called there by the sudden serious illness of his father.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

SAN BERNARDINO JURIST IS DEAD.

HORACE C. ROLFE, PIONEER OF COUNTY, JOINS MAJORITY.

Had Resided in City Since Eighteen Hundred and Fifty and Was First Judge Appointed When Eighteenth Judicial District Was Formed. Funeral Under Masonic Auspices.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge Horace C. Rolfe, a resident of this city since 1853, and one of its most prominent citizens, died today after a long illness. He was aged 72 years.

Judge Rolfe was District Attorney from 1861 to 1865, and in 1872, when the Eighteenth Judicial District was formed, consisting of San Bernardino and San Diego counties, he was appointed first judge of the new district by Gov. Booth. In 1878 he was elected as delegate to the Constitutional Convention from both counties, and afterward became judge of the Superior Court here.

Judge Rolfe had been associated in many of the most important civil suits in the county, his latest labors being in the Kate-Walkinshaw water litigation, and the important water suits growing out of that action. His last appearance in court was in the case of H. H. Barton and others against the Riverside Water Company. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Miss Bertha Rolfe and Mrs. C. H. Lippincott. He was a Mason of high degree, and the funeral will be under Masonic auspices, from Masonic Temple, Sunday afternoon. Rev. Mark B. Shaw will officiate.

BOY BADLY INJURED.

Charles Grimes, a boy working for the Baverkrup lumber mill on the mountains near here, was terribly injured this afternoon by being caught between a log chain and a reel used for hauling logs for loading. The boy was watching the reel revolve when he became dizzy and, leaning forward, was caught in the revolving chain. His body was badly crushed. Reports from the mountains tonight indicate that he will probably recover.

WILSON IS NOMINATED.

R. Wilson, for many years assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Redlands, and until recently secretary of the Redlands Home Gas and Fuel Company, this morning was nominated by the Republican County Central Committee to the vacancy on the Republican ticket made by the resignation of Jeff McElvaine, who was on a place on the State ticket for the Board of Equalization.

This ends one of the hottest fights in Republican camps this county has known. This fight was stirred to the heat by the intrigues of Hearst-men, who, seeking to embitter Republican party leaders, hoped to make capital out of the sores thus created. But when the vote was taken by the Republican County Central Committee it nominated Wilson, all differences were buried, the most factional enthusiast joining in the jollification, and greeting Wilson with as much warmth as his own backers. That the fight is ended and will leave no differences to be healed, and the Republicans will now come upon the campaign, united as they have not been before. This fact is plainly emphasized by the conduct of party leaders toward each other, all of whom admit that the Republican ticket is one of the strongest ever put before the public and should be invincible.

MAY BE MADE A RESORT.

Active work was commenced today on the construction of the $10,000 residence to be built for Dr. F. M. Baumer of Portland, Or., near the Arrowhead Hotel property. Dr. Blauer purchased the site recently, taking over all the Loedom ranch interests, and announcing his intention to make this valley his residence. Over $10,000 will be expended in improving the ranch this year. The property commands a wonderful view of the entire valley, and has independent water rights. The report is abroad that the doctor contemplate transforming the place into a resort for wealthy patrons.

REV. SPEER HONORED.

The Presbytery of Riverside met in the First Presbyterian Church here today, a large number of delegates being present from this county and Riverside. The gathering was opened with a sermon by the retiring moderator, Rev. Walter Mitchell, following which the Presbytery elected Rev. J. H. Speer of the local church to the position of moderator. The next meeting will occur at San Rafael, during the synod meeting, which is to be held there November 17 to 22, inclusive.

Gain in Taxes Exceeds Anticipations of Officials—Opening of Campaign Near.

REDLANDS, Oct. 3.—The taxes of the city of Redlands will this year amount to $73,761.82, a gain of $6065.07 over last year. This is even in excess of anticipations of the officials and is due to the quarter of a million dollars' increase in valuations. On account of the hitherto absence of the railroad figures, this is the first full and correct statement to be made. The tax rate is $1.10, and the increase over last year in taxes, as given above, amounting to over $6000, will be welcome to those engaged in handling the city's business for the funds have been at a low ebb for a long time.

The total oil tax this year is only $1490.45 as against $3767.15 collected last year for the same service. The permanent road work that has been going on did away with much oiling that is usually done. There are many streets, however, which would have been oiled had it been realized how slowly the macadam work would progress.

CAMPAIGN OPENING NEAR.

Elaborate preparations are in progress for the opening of the Republican campaign here Saturday evening, when the mass meeting and rally will be addressed by Congressman S. C. Smith of this district. The meeting will be held in the Contemporary Clubhouse. There will be music and brief addresses by local and county politicians. On account of other matters Henry M. Willis, Republican nominee for State Senator will not be present as previously announced.

Frequent political rallies will be held throughout the campaign and at one of these it is expected that the speaker will be J. N. Gillette, the Republican nominee for Governor.

FRAT WAR IN SAN BERDOO.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 3.—Delegates from the five Frat societies presented a resolution before the Board of Education tonight, requesting the board to rescind some parts of the resolution recently adopted, and permit the Frat members to wear their pins in school and to initiate a number of pledges made last year. Two of the delegates pledged their societies to stand by the board, no matter what action was taken on the request, while the others assumed a defiant attitude, and until late hour presented their opinions. The young women were the most defiant, refusing to venture even an opinion whether they would abide by the rules of the board. The meeting demonstrates that the board has a fight on its hands if it expects to eradicate the frat element. It developed that one new frat has been initiated since school in open defiance of the board's resolutions. One of the delegates expressed the opinion that his frat might seriously question which to abide by, the boards rules, or the frat pledges.

SANTA BARBARA BULLETINS.

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 3.—A number of residents became excited yesterday over rumors that the Island of Santa Cruz, about thirty miles off the coast of Santa Barbara, was experiencing a volcanic eruption. Some persons claimed that they could see smoke arising from the island, and that the depression of the island was assuming a change. On investigation it was found that the spectacle that alarmed the people was nothing more than the results of a well-defined mirage, which has been observed near the island for several days past.

Profs. Campbell and Arnold of the government Geological Survey are in this county, engaged in general geological work, and will be here for a month. They have found much data on which to base their reports from the records of the oil wells in the various parts of the district.

The drill team of Santa Barbara Canton, No. 26, I.O.O.F., is in Watsonville at the annual convocation of that branch of Odd Fellowship, and will enter the competitive drill.

The city authorities failed to prosecute the case against L. Chrones & Co., the restaurant men who sold beer after midnight, although an ordinance had been passed prohibiting the sale of intoxicants in restaurants after midnight. It is now stated that the police will arrest and prosecute all offenders after October 1, the time the increased license becomes operative.

ELSINORE NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

ELSINORE, Oct. 3.—A marriage license has been issued in Riverside to Carver C. Peck, son of Capt. L. B. Peck of Elsinore, and Miss Alice S. Meek also of Elsinore.

Rev. G. E. Twomley has been appointed by the M. E. conference to occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church for the coming year. Rev. and Mrs. Twomley and family have spent the past year in Murrieta.

Mrs. Wm. P. Haworth and Mrs. Imogene Brown, left yesterday for Orange. Mrs. Brown has been Mrs. Haworth's guest for the past week.

Mrs. Amy Burleigh of San Diego, sister of Mrs. L. Yates, and Mrs. Fayatte Yates of Los Angeles, are guests at the Yates's home on Riverside street.

Mrs. C. M Gilman has returned from a visit in Pasadena with her daughter, Mrs. Henry Cowgill.

Mrs. H. K. Perry has returned from Los Angeles, where she was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. [illegible] Penny.

FAMOUS REALTY LAWSUIT ENDED.

SAN DIEGO LITIGATION LASTS FOR SEVENTEEN YEARS.

Carlson-Higgins Controversy Is Settled by Compromise—Originally Involved Property Valued at One Million Dollars—Wife of Jude Torrance Dies After Long Illness.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 3.—A compromise has been effected in the famous Carlson-Higgins controversy, the cause of more or less continuous litigation for seventeen years, and originally involving the title to property at Ocean Beach, valued at about $1,000,000.

The property was originally acquired by ex-Mayor Carlson, now a banker in Los Angeles, and Frank J. Higgins, his partner, who formed a half-dozen corporations, capitalized for large amounts, the stock of which they controlled.

In 1889 Higgins died intestate, his only heirs being his father and mother, both about 80 years old. Carlson then claimed all the property except one share, stating that Higgins's debts had swallowed up all his holdings. Thus the action began, and until today was continually on the court calendar in some form or another. By the compromise just brought about, Miss Margaret MacGregor received forty-eight lots at Oceanside, instead of the 450 sued for. Titles to the immense tract are now cleared for the first time since 1887.

MRS. TORRANCE IS DEAD.

Mrs. Virginia Torrance, wife of Superior Judge E. S. Torrance, died at an early hour this morning, after a long illness, at her home, corner of Second and Juniper streets.

Mrs. Torrance was 60 years of age, a native of Pittsburgh, and a resident of San Diego for the past twenty years. She leaves, besides her husband, two daughters, Misses Virgie and Dessah Torrance, and one son, E. Swift Torrance, all residents of this city.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. H. S. Jordan officiating, followed by interment in the Masonic Cemetery at Mount Hope. Court has adjourned until Friday out of respect for Judge Torrance's bereavement.

RICH COUPLE IN SUIT.

Gertrude E. Stewart, wife of Elmer Stewart, a wealthy local property owner, has filed a cross complaint in a divorce suit brought by the latter, charging extreme cruelty. Her statement is that Stewart struck her violently on the head for attempting to correct her child, and, at another time, threw her into the bath tub, injuring her severely. It is also alleged that Mrs. Stewart has been driven to earning her own living as a waitress, factory girl and servant, that she many times returned to him, hoping for better treatment, but never received it. She asks for $250 per month, $2500 attorney's fees, $500 for expenses and the custody of her child. A restraining order was issued tonight, prohibiting the sale of community property alleged to be worth $50,000.

ALL LAUGH BUT THIS.

A comedy of errors involving Chief of Police Thomas, Garbage Contractor Skinner and M. M. Moulton, Republican candidate for County Assessor, has just been enacted here and forms the amusing explanation of what seemed a daring crime.

H. C. Brawner missed 1000 feet of lumber and 500 brick yesterday from a building on Fourth street. He immediately notified the police. The wheel tracks of a wagon were traced for some distance, and then all clews were lost.

Finally, the police found out that in the course of an anti-rubbish crusade, Chief Thomas had instructed Moulton, whose lot adjoins Brawner's building site, to clear up his (Moulton's) lots, a task which Moulton immediately employed Contractor Skinner to perform. The latter worked not wisely but too well, for he removed Brawner's building material, part of which was on Moulton's property.

Brawner demands that his bricks and lumber be returned, transportation free. Skinner demands fare for the round trip. Talk of warrants for grand larceny are in the air, and everybody but the three principals are amused over the tangle.

MAY GET INTO LEAGUE.

Plans for the construction of a handsome baseball park, which will rank with the best on the Pacific Coast, are under way, and a location 700x700 feet at the corner of Twenty-sixth and Main streets has practically been decided upon as the site. William Palmer is manager of the new enterprise, in which his three brothers are associated. Their idea is to make San Diego a member of the Coast League and get the best players obtainable, placing the local nine on a par with the best western organizations. The new park will probably be opened on Thanksgiving Day, if not before, by a game between Santa Barbara and San Diego Elks, and it is hoped by Christmas time to have a regular league schedule in operation.

FAMOUS BOAT IN PORT.

Disguised as the Jennie Thelin, the schooner made famous by Jack London's "Sea Wolf" and notorious by Capt. McLean, the original of "Wolf Larsen," has arrived in port. The former "Carmencita," "Acapulco" and seal poacher under various other aliases is now engaged in the peaceful pursuit of guano carrying for George C. Beermaker of this city. Her piratical crew is replaced by stolid Swedish tars and only the rakish cut of her jib suggests that she kept the revenue cutters of two nations unsuccessfully busy for years while gathering contraband cargoes of seal skins from the islands of Behring Sea.

SAN DIEGO NOTES.

Joe E. Markham, 11 years old, was run over and injured by an automobile driven by Mrs. Walbrecht of National City last evening. The front wheel passed over the lad's stomach and his legs and arms were badly bruised. It is feared that he is injured internally.

The work of planting 700,000 eucalyptus trees is to be rushed at the San Dieguito ranch, which was recently purchased by the Santa Fé for purposes of raising this kind of tree for ties. These trees will be planted 1000 to the acre.

ELECTION STILL IN DOUBT.

New Board of Directors of Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company Not Yet Known.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 3.—The result of yesterday's election for a board of directors of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company is still in doubt. The canvassing board is at work in counting the votes and does not expect to be able to report who is elected before Thursday evening. It is the opinion, however, that Messrs. M. Nisson of the Santa Ana district, John Dunston of Tustin, A. N. Baxton of Orange, and George Dietrich of Olive are elected [illegible] and the ballots only will tell whether Samuel Armor of the Orange district or Acy Cox of McPherson will be the fifth member of the board. Those in a position to know best state that the chances are most in favor of the election of Mr. Cox. Mr. Armor, too, has told friends that he thinks he has been defeated.

The canvassing board has a pretty large task on its hands. Much of the stock has been voted twice, for different candidates. In a number of cases proxies were given by different owners, and then another person, the friend of some other candidate would come along and persuade the stockholder to give him a proxy to vote the stock for some other party. The proxy of the most recent date will be counted, and it is up to the members of the canvassing board to examine each one of the little slips of paper very carefully. They may register the vote of some block of stock and later on in their count find that it has been voted for some other candidate and will have to transfer it to his column. Of the little less than 17,000 shares of the company's stock it is thought that about 13,000 of it was represented at yesterday's election. Each share of stock is entitled to five votes, which may be cast for five different men or all for one man, and the shares voted means 85,000 votes for the canvassing board to count.

PLANT WORKS O. K.

The big new pumping plant of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company near the head of the main canal in the Santa Ana Cañon, was given a trial run yesterday, and the result was satisfactory to the directors and stockholders of the company. Over two hundred and fifty inches of water was brought to the surface from only a part of the plant. When the suction pipe is put in operation in all five of the big wells it is the expectation of those in charge of the work that four heads will be pumped, which will mean a big thing for the stockholders of the company. The installing of the plant has been looked forward to with a great deal of interest by the irrigaters of the company and many will likely visit it as soon as it is got in thorough running order to see it in operation. The five wells are pumped from one big engine, suction pipes leading to each well from the pump which is placed twenty-nine feet under ground.

LARGE ORCHARD PROJECT.

Incorporation articles of the San Joaquin Fruit Company have been filed with the County Clerk. This is the company organized a few days ago by prominent residents of Tustin, who have purchased a thousand acres of land in the middle of the San Joaquin ranch and are going to develop water for the tract by putting in pumping plants and set it out to walnuts, oranges, lemons and apricots. They will grow vegetables between the rows while the trees are coming into bearing.

The purposes for which the incorporation is formed as stated in the articles are to buy, sell, improve, mortgage, lease, and dispose of land, water and water rights and the buying and selling of farming and horticultural products, to loan and borrow money on real estate and to acquire and dispose of packing-houses and to conduct all business which may be necessary in the carrying on of the business.

The principal place of business of the corporation is the village of Tustin and the life of it is for twenty-five years.

It is capitalized for $100,000, divided into 1000 shares, the par value of each to be $100. The amount actually subscribed is $50,000, which is divided equally between the three stockholders, Messrs. C. E. Utt, James Irvine and Sherman Stevens, all of Tustin, who take 166 2-3 shares each, or $16,666.66 worth.

REMAINS OF PIONEERS MOVED.

Caskets of Four Members of Ventura Family Are Disinterred and Put in Vault.

VENTURA, Oct. 3.—An unusual proceeding took place yesterday at the Catholic Cemetery in the presence of City Clerk Isensee, Mayor Lewis and members of the old-time De la Guerra family. Mrs. Judge Sepulveda of the City of Mexico, who was Miss Erlinda de la Guerra, and her brother, Juan de la Guerra have been here for several days arranging for the removal of the bodies of four members of the family who died and were buried here. The remains were disinterred and taken to Santa Barbara, to be placed in the family vault there. These remains were those of the mother of the Ventura branch of the family, Mrs. Concepcion de la Guerra, who was aged 64 at the time of her death, in August, 1896; her son, Osbaldo de la Guerra, aged 44 years, who died April, 1899; a son, Pablo de la Guerra, aged 14 years, who died November, 1884; a son, José de la Guerra, aged 18 years, who died June, 1877. The family is one of the best known in California among the old Californians and in the old days owned vast tracts of land in this county, which was then Santa Barbara county. Among the family holdings were the Simi and Tapo ranches, containing over 150,000 acres.

VENTURA PENCILINGS.

The owners of the Thompson rancho, a large part of which has recently been voted into the town limits, appeared before the Board of Town Trustees last evening asking the town to open several streets through some 200 acres of the rancho, or that part lying north of the Telegraph road. The owners desire, in their offer, the town to grant them the exclusive privilege of furnishing light, water and gas in the new addition. The board took the proposition under advisement for two weeks.

The second trial of Dolores Quintana is now on before the Superior Court. Quintana is being tried for the murder of Night Watchman McNaughton in Oxnard last March. It is well known that a man named Favella killed McNaughton and fled to Mexico. It is claimed that Quintana as an accomplice was equally guilty. The former trial resulted in a disagreement of the jury.

The will of the late Sherlock Bristol has been filed for probate. The estate is valued at $3000, consisting of fifty acres of land and personal property worth $900. One dollar each is bequeathed to the children of deceased, who are Charles E., residence unknown; Emma of Providence, R. I., Shirley of Montalvo, this county, Alice Bristol Chick of Los Angeles, Clare of St. Louis, Mo., Irving of Montalvo and Blanche Bristol Stubbiefield of Pittsburgh. All the balance and residue of the estate is given to the widow.

The Board of Town Trustees has fixed the tax rate of the town very nearly the limit at $1.80. Last year the rate was 95 cents on the $100.

G. W. Chrisman has purchased the fine Orena ranch at the mouth of the Casitas pass. The rancho controls a splendid water right and includes some 600 acres, of which 200 is tillable. The balance is grazing and timber land with enough oak upon it to almost pay the amount Mr. Chrisman gave for the property, which was $18,000.

Animals Surpass Human Mothers.

Dr. Norton Hock, physician and veterinarian, formerly a member of the Columbus board of health, says: "One reason for the low death rate among baby animals, as compared to human babies, is the fact that the animal mother has nothing else to do than be a mother. She has no social engagements, no tea fights on hand, and she does not have to go out working by the day to support a drunken husband.

"No animal could stand the treatment some human babies and mothers are subjected to. On the other hand, I have never seen an animal mother as ignorant of how to raise her young as some humans. There is one other point—dogs and horses do not spread disease by kissing every puppy or colt they come across."—[Cincinnati Post.

The Body's Recuperative Power.

The recuperative powers of the human body are shown strikingly in the case of William J. Clothier of Philadelphia and Beals C. Wright of Boston, who battled a few days ago for the national tennis championship. Clothier was lying strapped to his bed with a broken hip six months ago, while Wright, the defeated but plucky ex-title holder, was ten weeks ago struggling with virulent blood poisoning that threatened the loss of an arm.

HERE IS LATEST STYLE IN BOATS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 3.—A. C. Riordan is the proud possessor of a distinct novelty in pleasure craft, a new pressed-steel yacht, the first ever seen on the Pacific Coast. The craft has just been received from Salem, O., where it was built to order. The weight of the boat is 1700 pounds, has a speed of 11½ knots and seats a dozen people. It is 32 feet long, 5 feet broad and equipped with a ten-horse-power engine. On each end is an air-tight compartment, rendering it impossible to sink the craft.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Shipments of butter and eggs yesterday were a trifle heavier than usual. Receipts of eggs were 220 cases, and 21,474 lbs. of butter arrived. One carload of eastern eggs came in. Arrivals of eastern offerings will be light from now on. Little comment was heard yesterday about the egg situation. Local ranch were firm at 37 cents. Egg jobbers are paying 35¼ cents for ranch stocks, and the losses are heavy when the fresh loads after the candling is done. Retail dealers in eggs are complaining of the high prices they have to pay for eggs. Butter offered nothing new to report.

Potatoes and onions were featureless.

Bellefleur apples are weak, as are the other grades of Watsonville apples. Grapes are in moderate supply with prices fairly steady. Melons sold yesterday at 75; Tokays, 1.50@2.00; Cornichon 1.50@1.75; Isabella, 1.50; Concord, 1.50; Black Hamburgs, 1.50; Black Morocco, per pound. Supplies of watermelons were light and the demand was unlimited at 50@2.00 per dozen. Cantaloupes were scarce and found improved sale at 2.00 flat per crate. Canada melons also advanced to 2.00 per crate. Peaches had a firmer tone at 75 per box. Strawberries were in better feeling at 6 per basket.

The market for tomatoes was better regulated, and prices were 1.50@2 per box. Lima beans are weak at 1½@2. Rhubarb brings 50 per box. Lettuce dropped to 50@75.

Fresh and lobsters are scarce.

Eastern wheat has shown some activity the last few days, but no influence has been felt on the local market as yet.

The receipts of produce as reported for yesterday's exchange were as follows: Eggs, 229 cases; butter, 21,474 lbs.; cheese, local, 2464 lbs.; potatoes, 397 sacks; onions, none; beans, 4 sacks; sweet potatoes, 125 sacks.

NEW YORK MARKET.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—There was a large speculation in stocks again today but the movement was constantly shifting. There was a palpable effort to divert the speculation into some of the low priced railroad stocks, and some of them responded with a show of strength. The movement, however, lacked spontaneity, and was clearly due to professional initiative, based on technical considerations, rather than on any actual development regarding these properties. It was plausibly argued, however, that this class of securities has never advanced in proportion to the wide advances in the high-priced stocks, in spite of the share of these companies in increased earnings common to the railroad system of the whole country. Market operators are attracted by the argument also that carrying charges on the low priced stocks are less owing to the smaller sums to be borrowed in taking on these stocks. This argument has special force during a period of tightness of money and particularly at a period when customers of brokerage houses are receiving statements of accounts for September with charges to interest account, owing to the high money rates, which make a notable impairment of profits on a movement of prices. This factor is believed to prompt some of the recent pressure upon the market in spite of the improvement in the immediate money outlook. A glance at the sales list reveals, however, the continued preponderance of speculative favor towards high priced railroad stocks and even ended in a disproportionate congestion in a small number of them. Atchison was the conspicuous figure in the day's dealings and suffered severely from the reason of the doubts over the dividend question by the declaration of a 2½ per cent. semi-annual dividend. The weakness of the stock in face of an increase from 4 to 6 per cent. dividend basis was accepted as striking illustration of the speculative disposition to excessive assurances about the stock exchange for many days that a 6 per cent. rate had been definitely determined upon. Wholesale speculative liquidation was the consequence when the dividend action became known. The still undisclosed details of the core deal, of the Southern Pacific's alleged control of St. Paul and of a new holding company for the coal properties proved their superior efficiency today again in the strength of the stocks concerned. Canadian Pacific's jump on the extra dividend out of proceedings of the land sales was not maintained, speculative profit-taking also making its effect felt. Sentiment over the money market was distinctly brighter. The subsidence of the import movement of gold is felt to be due to the present satisfaction of requirements. It was reported from London that the latest engagement of gold bars at the Bank of England for New York account had been cancelled. This caused a revision of yesterday's views of the certainty of an advance in the Bank of England rate tomorrow and discounts were easier in London today though still ruling well above the banks official rate. San Francisco made large remittances here through the subtreasury but $400,000 was transferred through that medium to New Orleans. The market did not recover at any time from the break in Atchison, which dropped from 108 3-8 in the morning to 103½, closing at a net loss of 3 5-8. When Reading ran off to 154 in the late dealings after having sold at 154 1-8 in the morning, the closing of the market became weak all around. Bonds were irregular. Total sales par value $2,674,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

New York Money Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Money on call firm, 4½@6 per cent. Ruling rate, 5½ per cent., closing bid, 5 per cent.; offered at 5½ per cent. Time loans, easy; 60 days, 6 per cent.; 90 days, 6½ per cent.; six months, 6 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 6½@7 per cent. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.83 13-20@4.70 for demand and at 4.79 7-16@4.75 for 60-day bills. Posted rates, 4.80½@4.81 and 4.84½. Commercial bills, 4.79¼. Bar silver, 68¾. Mexican dollars, 53, bonds, governments, steady; railroads, irregular.

Treasury Statement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Today's statement of the treasury shows—Available cash balances $230,155,681; gold coin and bullion $122,660,698; gold certificates $45,809,300.

New York Cotton Market.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO FRED DORR.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The cotton excitement largely subsided today and with the disappearance of the hysteria came a fall in prices. Liverpool was affected by heavy selling against actual cotton, and rallied on enormous covering by the continent. While there was some effort to sustain the market here, prices slumped and there was a maximum loss of forty points from last night's close before midafternoon. The general opinion is that the storm damage has been exaggerated, and that with the rise in prices, the South will sell cotton very freely. The movement has been affected by the recent bad weather.

Commercial—The ginners' report was so sensational yesterday that the bulls themselves were suprised and for ten minutes they could do nothing. The report showed only 2,044,000 bales ginned up to September 25th, of which the government acreage is correct, and would indicate a crop of about 3,000,000 bales less than the popular estimate. The market is now higher than it was last year at this time when an estimate of 10,000,000 bales was the most popular one.

SAYS HE WILL STIR SCANDALS.

CONSUL-GENERAL MUTE: HIS ATTORNEY TALKATIVE.

When Arraigned in New York Court, Declares Lawyer Amador Will Involve Prominent Persons. Connects Mrs. Gresham With Anonymous Letters.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Raoul A. Amador, Consul General from Panama, in New York, and a son of President Amador of Panama, is arraigned in the Court of Special Sessions on October 17, on charges preferred by Mrs. Bertha K. Gresham, his counsel declares he will reveal scandals involving many persons of prominence.

Amador's testimony in the criminal case will be his first step toward breaking down the grounds of a suit for $100,000 for breach of promise, which Mrs. Gresham has begun. The suit was filed, according to Edward Carpet, Amador's attorney, of No. 350 Broadway, after an offer by Mrs. Gresham to accept $8000 as a balm to her feelings was refused by Amador.

Mr. Carpet denounced Mrs. Gresham's suit as blackmail. He said today that his client would fight both the civil suit and the criminal charge. The attorney said he was in communication with several young men of Washington, who, he believes, will give interesting testimony.

Mrs. Gresham charges that Amador promised to marry her on October 25, 1905, but delayed the date on various pretenses.

A demurrer to her bill has been filed and the case is expected to come up for argument within a few weeks. Amador would not discuss the charges made against him, but his attorney talked freely.

"Dr. Amador," he said, "was very much surprised at the suit, as Mrs. Gresham knew he was married and had met his wife, from whom he has been separated for four years. He feels that his arrest was simply another step toward forcing him to pay her the money she has asked.

"Dr. Amador knows a whole lot about the anonymous letters which broke up the proposed marriage of Señor Corea and Mrs. Ilah Jordan of Atlanta, Ga., and he may tell all this, too, before he gets through with Mrs. Gresham."

Mrs. Gresham, who gave her address as No. 604 West One Hundred and Twelfth street, could not be found there yesterday.

TELLS DRAMATIC STORY.

SAYS HE HORSEWHIPPED HER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. "Billie" Gresham, widow of Lieut. William Gresham, U. S. N., tonight told a dramatic story of how she had been horsewhipped in public last July by Dr. Raoul Amador, son of the President of the Republic of Panama, and Consul General from that country to the United States.

"We met in Riverside Drive," she said. "He remarked that I looked ill. I was ill, I told him, and said he should at least help me. At that he became angry, and then I woke up to what a fool I was. I spoke freely and I called him a cad and worse, till his blood boiled and raced to his head. He raised his driving whip, bringing it across my face first, then laying it over my back when I dropped my head from the sting. It cut through my summer shirt waist and the blood came. That frightened him, and whipping up his horse, he drove away."

"VIVA L'AMERICA!"

Ruggiero Leoncavallo Arrives in New York for a Tour of the United States.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—With a new march called "Viva L'America" in his portmanteau, composed in commemoration of his visit to this country, Ruggiero Leoncavallo, the composer of "I Pagliacci" and other operas, who is considered one of the greatest living writers of musical scores, arrived yesterday noon on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. A man of universal artistic renown and of an attractive personality, his coming is an event of great importance to the music-loving public.

The "Maestro," as he is known wherever Italian opera is heard, is to make a tour of the United States and Canada at the head of the Scala Orchestra of Milan.

Leoncavallo is a democratic man, brimming over with good humor, and was lionized all the way over by the passengers. Speaking of his visit he said:

"My visit to America has more significance to me than a mere tour. It is my purpose while here to get the material for at least one opera based on American life. I want to go to the theaters to see the people and meet and talk with them, to learn their ideas and ideals, and see if I can write them into words and music. I have not studied so much of the American literature as I could wish, but I believe, after all, it was better for me to learn at first hand by meeting the people."

CROWDS AT HARRISBURG.

President, and Many Others to Witness Dedication of New Pennsylvania Capitol.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HARRISBURG (Pa.) Oct. 3.—Thousands of visitors have already come to Harrisburg for the dedication of the new State capitol tomorrow. The President and his party will arrive from Washington on a special train at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. He will be met at the railroad station by the capitol dedication committee and Mayor Gross of Harrisburg.

The party will be escorted by the Governor's troop to the capitol, where Gov. Pennypacker and distinguished Pennsylvanians will receive the President. The proceedings will begin informally tonight with an illumination of the city and with a public band concert.

PERSONAL.

Fred W. Thompson, Coast agent of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, is in the city from headquarters in San Francisco. Mr. Thompson is an old-time railroader in Los Angeles, where he lived for about twenty years.

H. Poffenberger, editor and publisher of the Freeport (Ill.) Bulletin, is in Los Angeles. Mr. Poffenberger is making a quick trip and seeing the sights of Southern California.

ALL-RAIL TO SAN FRANCISCO.

RAILROADS WANT TO TRESTLE BAY FOR TRACKAGE.

Southern and Western Pacific Roads Seek Point of Crossing, but Must Make Terms With Mrs. Herman Oelrichs—Operations Have Already Begun.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Not only the Southern Pacific, but the Western Pacific as well, it is said, plans to effect an entrance into San Francisco from the Alameda county shore by establishing an all-rail route via Dumbarton Point. If present plans prevail, both the Harriman and Gould lines will cross the narrow neck of the bay at that point by means of a trestle, but neither road will be able to accomplish its purpose until it has made terms with Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, who inherited this land from her father, Senator Fair.

Both the Southern Pacific and Western Pacific, it is learned, have been striving to secure control of that strategic point and it is understood that Mrs. Oelrichs during her recent visit, devoted quite a little attention to the matter of the opposing plans of the rival trans-continental lines. The Southern Pacific has already begun operations on its proposed trestle across the bay in advance of the granting of permission by the War Department. The Western Pacific plans to build over substantially the same route from a point on its main line near Niles.

INCREASES DIVIDEND.

LAND SALES HELP OUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—The Canadian Pacific Railroad at its annual meeting, held today, decided to distribute this year an additional 1 per cent. dividend to the stockholders. This means that they will receive 7 per cent. in all. The additional 1 per cent. comes from the sale of western lands.

ATCHISON PAYS DIVIDEND.

INCREASE IS HALF PER CENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The directors of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railway Company today declared a semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent. on the company's common stock. This is an increase of half of 1 per cent. over the last semi-annual dividend.

OFFICIALS RESIGN.

WISCONSIN CENTRAL CHANGES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Announcement was made today that W. L. Bull, chairman of the board of directors of the Wisconsin Central Railroad Company, has resigned and has been succeeded as chairman by George Macoming of this city, president of the U. S. Mortgage and Trust Company. George Crosby Brown, Joseph Colgate and John Holt resigned as directors, but no successors to them were chosen.

ASKS PIER PRIVILEGE.

WILL DUPLICATE OAKLAND MOLE

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Chief Engineer Howard Holmes of the San Francisco, Oakland and San José Railroad, better known as the "Key Route," has forwarded to the War Department the application of that system for permission to fill in a mole simflar to the Southern Pacific's on the eastern shore of San Francisco Bay and the same distance from shore.

The application is the first move toward installing on the Oakland side a series of docks which are designed to afford 186 ship berths or more than the present total of the entire San Francisco water front.

The scheme contemplates deepening the space between the "Key Route" pier and the Southern Pacific long wharf to a depth of thirty feet, so as to afford anchorage for vessels of the largest size.

MOVES LINE NORTH.

GETS CLOSER TO ORIENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Charles M. Hays of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway announced here that Prince Rupert, on Kaien Island, British Columbia, will be the Pacific Coast terminus of his new transcontinental road, which will be about two hundred miles longer than the Canadian Pacific. President Hays thinks this is compensated for by the fact that the terminus will be several hundred miles nearer the Orient and Alaska. Grading is finished to Edmonton, Alberta.

No work can be done west of there until selection is made of one of four passes through the Rocky Mountains. For two years sixteen parties of surveyors have been at work in these passes. All four routes lead to a point on the Skeena River one hundred and twenty-five miles east of Prince Rupert.

The townsite of Prince Rupert is being surveyed. The Grand Trunk Pacific will have connections with Puget Sound cities by its own steamship line.

CANADIANS SHORTEN LINES.

HOPE TO SAVE MANY HOURS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 3.—Canadian Pacific officials have projected railroad extensions in British Columbia and on Vancouver Island to connect at a new Vancouver Island port with the company's Oriental fleet.

The building of a new port on Barkclay Sound and the extension of the Esquimault and Nanaimo Railroad is expected to shorten the Oriental run twenty-four hours, but when the larger scheme of a railroad built northward from Vancouver in British Columbia, crossing to Vancouver Island at Seymour Narrows and running out to the northwesterly point of Vancouver Island, is completed, mail and passengers can be landed in Vancouver thirty-six hours earlier than is now possible.

Details of the plan have not yet been fully worked out, but Canadian Pacific engineers say that it is feasible. The railroad project along the shore line of British Columbia and Vancouver Island is no more serious than other lines the Canadian Pacific has built.

President Charles Hays of the Grand Trunk Pacific, who arrived in Seattle today, has just returned from a visit to Prince Rupert on Kaien Island, B. C., 400 miles north of Vancouver, where the Grand Trunk Pacific has engineers laying out a townsite. Mr. Hays made the announcement that Prince Rupert would be the Pacific Coast terminus of his road. He also said that the choice of a pass through the Rocky Mountains will be made.

AFTER NORTHERN PACIFIC.

CHARGES DISCRIMINATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturers' Association is collecting $8000 to defray expenses of a fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission against the Northern Pacific. Discrimination in the distribution of cars will be the principal basis of attack.

The lumber combine claims the railroad is favoring wheat shippers and lumbermen of Coeur d'Alene and Pend d'Oreille districts. It is asserted though that the Northern Pacific cannot supply more than 45 per cent. of the cars needed.

The Great Northern and Harriman systems have plenty of equipment. The Great Northern will not give Northern Pacific much assistance and Washington mill men declare their railroad business is going to Oregon.

NEGOTIATE FOR ROAD.

MAY GET COLORADO SOUTHERN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is stated that negotiations have been carried on for some time, which may develop into a joint ownership of the Colorado and Southern by the Union Pacific and the Rock Island. These reports have not been confirmed, however, by either the Union Pacific or the Rock Island interests.

FAVORS MILITARY.

ROAD GRANTS HALF FARE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Great Northern announced today it would restore until December 31, half fare rates heretofore granted army, navy and marine corps officers traveling on their personal account; and also to families of clergymen and officers of the Federal Reclamation Bureau. These rates were canceled six weeks ago when new railroad rate bill became effective.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Grading has begun on the Smeltzer cut-off of the Southern Pacific and it is believed that the line will be completed in time to be used for the hauling of this year's celery and vegetable crops.

Delay of material, and scarcity of men is holding up the double-tracking of the main line to Burbank, of which the operating department has the most urgent need.

R. H. Ingram, general superintendent of the Southern Pacific, will return tomorrow from San Francisco.

CLARK NOT INJURED.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Reports of Senator Clark's automobile accident are not credited here, the Herald correspondent at Salsomaggiore reports the Senator and Mrs. Clark as being at a ball there in the Hotel Des Thermes on Saturday evening.

Senator Clark was injured in an automobile accident in France, on September 29, according to private information received in New York.

At the carnival horse show yesterday at Grand Rapids, Mich., Jake Fisher, one of the judges, dropped dead of apoplexy. He lived in West Liberty and was one of the best known horsemen in the West.
